

BUILDING WILL GO AHEAD

Contractors Anticipate Little Interruption in Their Work by Cold Weather. LAST WINTER RESULTS WERE GOOD. Six Structures Now Under Way Will Be Brought to Completion Early if Material Can Be Secured.

When the contractor remembers that only six days last winter were too cold to lay brick he is not likely to figure that old Boreas will be responsible for serious delay in his operations this winter.

The big warehouses now under construction will "grow steadily" and will be completed in due season, provided materials can be secured as needed.

HOW TO SEE VICTORY IN DEFEAT

Two Stages of the West Disease: Bryanite Philosophy and Election Returns. "Villains makes strange bed-fellows and politicians make strange statements," observed the oldest inhabitant of the Careful Observer.

"Yes, I venture to assert you are correct, my dear friend," replied the Careful Observer, "but in this particular instance to what, pray, do you refer?"

"I refer," rejoined the old one, "to the sort of philosophy with which democrats are treating the result of the election in New York. Here is Mr. Bryan declaring that the defeat of Hearst is a victory.

"Well," continued the O. I., "those are defective paradoxes; that is false reason, logic that cannot be sustained. If Mr. Hearst's defeat is a victory, Bryan would have been president of the United States twice and Parker once, and if Hughes' election is a defeat, the solid south would be republican."
