Most Have Left the City and Some Say the Society Will Some Day Come for Another Reunlen.

"It was the best rounion the society has held in thirty years, and we will always remember the people of Council Bluffs as oyal and whole-souled entertainers," said Colonel Cornelius Cadle of Cincinnati, recording secretary of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee, while busily engaged yesterday morning closing up the records of the meeting and getting ready to leave for his home. Colonel Cadle, like the other officers and niembers of the society, could not say too much in praisefor the manner in which they had been entertained during their short stay in Council Bluffs.
