Declaring that he was speaking seriously, Secretary Bonaparte continued: 'It is hard indeed, often impossible, to get the men who are fit for public office to become candidates. Unfit candidates can be secured by the bushel.

"Now, by a 'legalized boss," I mean an individual authorized on behalf of one of our parties to choose all candidates of that party for elective offices within a designated

"Of course, every facility should be afforded for making 'independent' nominations, whether within the organized parties er without, so that all citizens who may be dissatisfied for whatever reason with the 'regular' nominations may be able to vote effectively according to their convictions. The reporter asked how Mr. Bonaparte would choose his proposed "legalized boss," "He ought to be elected annually," said the secretary, "by the legal voters of his party, at a primary held under all the sanctions of law, and at which only this one office, or rather position, should be filled. I likewise think it probable that no one of the persons who have been taken as 'bosses' since I have known something about politics would have been elected at such a primary.

"Perhaps it might be wise to provide that the 'nominator,' or 'legalized boss,' I have suggested should be himself disqualified to hold public office, but of this I am no 600 sure. There are certainly two sides to the question."
