POSTMASTER ETTER DEAD

Officer and Pioneer of South Omaha Expires from Violent Attack.

LIVES BUT AN HOUR AFTER STROKE

Family Had Taken Warning from His Condition, Impaired by Complication of Serious Diseases.

F. J. Etter, veteran postmaster, soldier and pioneer of South Omaha, died at his home at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday. He has long been subject to violent attacks of illness due to a complication of troubles, Bright's and heart disease, and spasmodic asthma being chief. It was the onslaught of such an attack which began only an hour before his death that proved fatal. He resisted death to the last with the courage of a long and energetic life. Death appeared to have no tears for him; he had long been resigned and had expected to pass away in the manner in which he did.

At Mr. Etter's side were his wife and two younger sons, L. F. and F. G. Etter. Rev. Dr. R. L. Wheeler was also called. There is an older son, O. M. Etter of Carbridge, Ill., who was expected last evening. The arrangements for the funeral will be delayed until his arrival. It will be under the auspices of the Odd Fellows and the Grand Army of the Republic and will probably be Sunday afternoon.

Native of Switzerland.

F. J. Etter was born at St. Gaul, Switzerland, September 17, 1837. He came to America when he was 17 years of age in 1854. He lived in New York for some time and at the breaking out of the civil war enlisted first under the Fifteenth regiment of New York cavalry, hailing from Ithaca and surrounding points.

He came to South Omaha in its infancy, in April, 1889. He was engaged in a grocery business here on North Twenty-fourth street until he was appointed postmaster, in 1898. His son, F. G. Etter, still handles the grocery business.

PATHETIC SCENE IN COURT

Mrs. Coulson Weeps Bitterly When Jury Finds Husband Guilty of Robbery.

A scene that moved a court room full of spectators almost to tears followed the return Tuesday afternoon of a verdict of guilty against Oliver Coulson, charged with robbery. Mrs. Coulson and their infant child were in the court room, Mrs. Coulson wept bitterly as her husband was led out of the court room to the jail.

Coulson was charged with assaulting William Smith of Buck Grove, Ia., Sunday, July 8, and robbing him of $2.90. Smith was visiting in Council Bluffs. Sunday he wanted a drink, and the lid being down in the Iowa city, he came over to Omaha to locate some leaks. He met Coulson and they visited some saloons, among them one run by Mrs. Burke, on Tenth street. Later Coulson took Smith to the smelter works to help him get a job. After leaving the works Smith says Coulson assaulted him and took the money. The defense asserted Smith told some friends he was robbed in Council Bluffs.

The trial of Charles Lightner, charged with the murder of John Hanson in a grading camp two miles west of Elkhorn July 19, was begun Tuesday afternoon. The work of securing a jury required all of the afternoon session.

DOG CAUSED BROKEN WRIST

Tripped Woman and Jury Refuses to Award Her Damages Against City.

Theresa Stephens lost her $2,000 damage suit against the city of South Omaha which has been on trial in Judge Sears' court because the evidence disclosed the fall in which she was injured was caused by her tripping over a dog instead of by the breaking of a board in a defective sidewalk. The jury returned a verdict for the city late Tuesday afternoon.

The plaintiff testified she was walking on the sidewalk between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets on I, when a board broke, throwing her down and breaking her wrist. Two witnesses for the defendant said they saw two belligerent dogs run in front of her and she tripped over one of them. The city claimed it was not responsible for the acts of the dog and secured the verdict.

Teachers to Meet in Norfolk.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The North Nebraska Teachers' association will hold its next annual meeting in Norfolk April 3, 4 and 5. This was decided here today at a meeting of the executive committee. Several other cities were mentioned, but the superior railroad facilities of Norfolk threw the convention here. The teachers last spring voted a preference for Norfolk. Senator Beveridge and others of equal note will speak.

Found Dead in the Road.

M'COOK, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—George Beason of Culbertson was found dead late last night near Perry Siding, between McCook and Culbertson. He left here during the night intoxicated, and doubtless fell a victim to alcoholism. His wife is now at Cheyenne, Wyo. They formerly resided at Plattsmouth, this state. The body was brought here and will be buried by the authorities tomorrow.

TALK OF BOLT NOT POPULAR

Lancaster Members Stir Up a Hornets' Nest While in Omaha.

FAKE REFORM ORGANS MAKE DENIALS

Treasurer-Elect Brian Hands a Pre-Convention Knocker Some Cold Consolation While in Lincoln.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The attempt of Joe Burns and John McKesson of the Lancaster delegation to get Douglas county to join Lancaster in a bolt of Norris Brown, republican convention nominee for United States senator, has stirred up considerable discussion down here, and, as usual, the fake reform Journal and News have rushed to the support of their pre-convention allies and place the blame upun Douglas county. After publishing the story sent out from Omaha regarding the visit of Burns and McKesson, the News adds this paragraph on its own account:

Mr. Burns is still in Omaha. It was suggested here this afternoon that possibly the story was started in Omaha for the purpose of shouldering off the blame onto some other county in case the Douglas county delegation carries out the threat it made some time before election.

In the meantime, W. H. Thompson, the democratic nominee for United States senator, defeated, has come to the rescue of Norris Brown, and has pledged friends of the attorney general to give him two votes for every republican who goes astray. Mr. Thompson is quoted as saying publicly:

"I know a fight is going to be made on Norris Brown. I have been told so. I want to say right now, if any republican members of the legislature vote against Brown for senator I will have two of my fellows vote for him. I have told some of Mr. Brown's friends this and I sent word to him not to make any promises to any fellows who are trying to defeat him. If there is any deflection from the republican party I will have my friends fill the places so Mr. Brown will get sufficient votes to elect him."

Regarding the object of their visit to Omaha both McKesson and Burns have published denials in the Lincoln papers. Both claim they did not broach the matter of bolting Brown to any member of the Douglas delegation. The News this afternoon contained the following:

If anyone other than members of the Omaha legislative delegation stood sponsor for the tale about Lancaster county statesmen hatching up a plan to beat Norris Brown out of the senatorship, people would be likely to give it more credence; but as the Omaha men have several axes to grind, any story originating with them should be taken with several grains of saline matter. Nothing would suit Omaha better than to stir up a row and divide the republican majority in the legislature so that Brown could not be elected senator. It doesn't want to appear in the light of starting any trouble, but if such a division should arise Omaha would soon come forward with two or three candidates for senatorship. The state will do well to pay little attention to reports on this subject emanating from Omaha.

Brian Knocks a Knocker.

L. G. Brian, state treasurer-elect, accompanied by Mrs. Brian, is in Lincoln looking up a house. With their children they will remove to Lincoln at once and the children will enter school. This visit of Mr. Brian recalls an incident that happened recently by which it was demonstrated that the new treasurer is amply able to take care of himself.

Joe Johnson who, previous to the republican state convention, had assisted in filling the columns of the fake reform sheets here with knocks on Brian and his "pass holding delegation," met Mr. Brian in the Lindell lobby just previous to the election. This was the conversation:

"You seem to be getting along all right," said Johnson.

"Yes, I am well satisfied with the way things look now," replied Mr. Brian.

"Yes," said Johnson, "it looks like that pass business about you is about dying out and I hardly think it will cut down your vote much."

"If the votes are to be cast according to the pass records of the candidates," said Mr. Brian, very quietly, "I will run ahead of the ticket. I guess I am the only man on the ticket who never rode on an annual pass."

Johnson, who went to Albion to get interviews for the Lincoln Journal knocking Brian, had nothing more to say.

D. G. Courtney Dead.

D. G. Courtney died at noon today after a short illness of heart failure. His death occurred at his home in this city. Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced. For some months Mr. Courtney had not been in good health, and he just recently returned from Sycamore Springs, where he had been in the vain hope of recuperating his fast failing strength. For a time he was better after his return home, but a few days ago he had to go to bed. Up until last night, however, his condition was not alarming to his family or friends. Early this morning it was though: he would recover, but at noon the end came. A widow and a daughter are left of the immediate family.

Since 1872, when he came to Lincoln, Mr. Courtney has been an active, energetic citizen of this town, taking an interest in its development and the development of the state, an active politician and a friend to thousands, especially the man who needed friends and the young man just starting out in the world. His acquaintance was statewide and he was recognized as a lawyer of much ability, a politician of shrewdness and the enemy of sham. He came to Lincoln and entered the law office of T. M. Marquette as office boy and from this small beginning he builded, until the day of his death he was a man of wealth and influence.

Mr. Courtney studied law in Belvidere, Ill., in the office of Charles Fuller, now congressman from the Boone county, Illinois district, and it was at that place he was admitted to the bar. While always prominent in politics, state and local, Mr. Courtney never aspired to office but once. He ran for county attorney and was defeated. In helping others politically, however, he was a success, and up to the time of his death was active in behalf of his friends. Mr. Courtney was the owner of a splendid library and was considered one of the best read men in the west.

Campaign Bills Filed.

Two of the successful republican candidates today filed their statements of campaign expenses in the secretary of state's office. Auditor Searle makes affidavit to spending $44.95 in railroad fare, $10 for printed cards and $20 for postage, besides donating $125 to the state campaign fund, making a total of $229.95. Attorney General-elect Thompson says he gave the state committee $100 and went to the further expense of $18.74 for miscellaneous items, including railroad fare, stamps and telephone tolls.

Dodson Looks for No Bolt.

Dr. Dodson, senator elect from Saline county, was in Lincoln with former Banking Clerk Dodson looking over the state house and getting acquainted with the ins and outs before coming here the first of the year. Mr. Dodson said he expected a very busy session, though he himself had no special bills to introduce. He believes nothing will come of the attempt of the Lancaster delegation to bolt Norris Brown, but he believes Brown will get the republican vote in both the senate and the house.

State Buys Mississippi Bonds.

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds bought $200,000 4 per cent Mississippi state bonds this afternoon to net the state 3.75 per cent. The bonds were bought through brokers, and unless they are delivered before January 1 the bargain is off, as Pete, Mortensen and Secretary of State Galusha go out of office about that time.

BOY PLEADS GUILTY TO MURDER

Changes His Mind After Work of Securing Jury Had Commenced.

TEKAMAH, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Jesse Headley this morning pleaded guilty to the charge of manslaughter in the second degree and was sentenced to twenty-three years in the penitentiary by Judge Kennedy. The prisoner is only 19 years of age. He killed his father, Jacob Headley, on the morning of May 15 last.

At the time the plea of guilty was entered, on the advice of the defendant's attorney, the regular jury panel had been exhausted and only six jurymen secured.

When asked if he had anything to say before the sentence was pronounced, Headley simply shook his head, no. After giving him a good talk Judge Kennedy sentenced him to twenty-three years in the state penitentiary at hard labor, with one day (the anniversary of the killing of his father) out of each year for the first ten years to be spent in solitary confinement that he might meditate and ponder over the great atrocity of the crime he had committed.

Jesse Headley, aged 19 years, killed his father, Jacob Headley, on their farm about two miles north of Craig, May 15, 1906, while his mother and sister were away visiting. On his mother's return she asked him where his fathre was and he told her he had gone to Tekamah. This explanation seemed very plausible, and as he did not come home Saturday night, and she knew that court was in session here at that time, she thought perhaps he had been subpoenaed on the jury and was unable to come home until court was adjourned.

After killing his father Jesse loaded the body in a swill cart and hauled it over the hill about a quarter of a mile, where he dumped it in the creek. The high water a short time after washed the body down stream nearly a mile, where it caught in a wire fence, and when the water went down the body was exposed to view and was found by one of the neighbors June 9, but in such a condition that it could only be identified by the clothing.

After the inquest Jesse and his brother Noah, aged 17 years, were arrested for the crime, but at the preliminary hearing Noah was discharged, as there seemed to be no evidence to connect him in any way with the crime.

While receiving the sentence Headley did not seem the least bit concerned and did not wink an eye or shed a tear.

Owing to the sudden disposition of the trial, which was expected to take three or four days, the attorneys were not ready for the rest of the criminal docket and Judge Kennedy adjourned court until Monday morning, November 18.

NEBRASKA GETS BLANKET OF SNOW

Starts with a Sleet Storm in North Part of State.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Northern Nebraska is in the grip of a sleet storm which had started at Valentine Monday. The cornfields are covered with a coating of ice. Sidewalks are dangerous and there were many severe falls during the day. Among the most serious was the fall of Attorney H. F. Barnhart, late democratic candidate for county attorney, who slipped on a depot platform and broke his ankle.

WEST POINT, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The first snow of the season is now falling generally throughout this section. It was preceded by a sleet storm. The prevailing wind is from the south, and about three inches of snow has fallen. Corn husking throughout Cuming county is well advanced. In spite of the scarcity of available labor farmers have taken advantage in every way of the fine weather of the past three weeks, with the result that about two-thirds of the crop is in the cribs.

SCHUYLER, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—After three days of cloudy and threatening weather a light snow set in this morning and kept falling throughout the day. This is the first snow of the season. The mercury ranges from 20 to 25 degrees above zero.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—Snow has been falling in this vicinity nearly all day, but melted nearly as fast as it fell.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Nov. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The first snow storm of the season struck Sioux City today and covered the ground with several inches of snow.

TEKAMAH, Neb., Nov. 13.—(Special.)—The first snow of the season arrived here today, and up to 7 o'clock nearly eight inches had fallen.

ATLANTIC, Ia., Nov. 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The first snow of the season appeared here this evening, almost accompanied with a blizzard. At 9 o'clock the snow was over two inches deep and it was still snowing. It catches farmers much unprepared for it, corn husking not being over half done, and live stock will suffer considerably from its effects.

Four Horses Stolen.

NORFOLK, Neb., Nov. 13.(Special.)—Four horses were stolen from the stable of John Dorsey during the night, near Creighton. There is no trace of the robbers. A reward of $100 has been offered. Farmers all over northern Nebraska are organizing into the North Nebraska Live Stock Owners' Protective association, which is formed for the purpose of tracing horse thieves and bringing them to punishment. Many animals have been stolen from this section within the past year.

LAUGHED AT FIRST

But Changed His Mind on Investigation.

It often seems ridiculous what a simple thing can do in shaping our lives.

We do certain things because our fathers before us did, and don't stop to think that we might be better for a change.

A man tells how he changed from coffee to Postum Food Coffee and the remarkable difference it made in him.

"I have been a heavy coffee-drinker for years, got very nervous and my mind seemed dazed. I would go to work every morning with an unsteady hand, and actually endanger my life, as I am a building mechanic.

"I had read of the results that occurred by changing from coffee to Postum, but I was in such a condition mentally and physically that I never thought of it for myself. But I kept growing worse every day until I was advised to try Postum.

"I laughed at first, but finally tried it, and to my great surprise, I was dead sure I had at last found the real trouble and how to get rid of it.

"While using coffee, among all the other ails I was also troubled with sour stomach and gas, but thanks to Postum and the friends who advised me to use it, my stomach can now stand almost any kind of food. The whole change is a wonder to me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL

REASONS

Why a man attired in our correct clothes usually presents such a "dressed-up" appearance, is that our salesmen are students of "Intelligent Dressing," and will not sell you an ill-fitting, unbecoming garment—unless you should positively insist on having it.

AND YOU'RE SAFE

In their hands for another reason, having double the variety of any other store, they do not have to force upon you a substitute for the garment you had in mind.

EUSTIS—It is estimated that over $50,000 is being spent in improvements in and around Eustis.

EUSTIS—Construction work on the new Odd Fellows' hall is under way. Ground was broken last Saturday.

KENNARD—A number of schools have been closed in the adjoining country districts on account of scarlet fever.

LYONS—The Lyons Woman's club will entertain the Pender Woman's club this week at the home of Mrs. Olive Lyon of this city.

TECUMSEH—Walter Thompson, the young man who was injured by an unruly horse on Thursday of last week, died today.

BEATRICE—The teachers from Wymore visited the Beatrice schools today. They were chaperoned by Superintendent Graham.

EUSTIS—An effort is being made by some of the progressive business men of this place to organize a commercial club.

SEWARD—The contract for the new building, to cost $20,000, for the Lutheran seminary has been let and the work is commenced.

EUSTIS—The village board has decreed that Eustis should have a curfew bell and has instructed the marshal to get busy and put one up.

PAPILLION—Judge Redick came here yesterday morning and held court, Judge Day being unable to attend on account of the death of his mother.

EUSTIS—M. O. Joder, who has been a conductor on the Highline for several years, has been promoted to trainmaster, with headquarters at Sterling, Colo.

WAHOO—The 7-year-old daughter of Trenmore Cone died Monday morning and was buried in the afternoon. She died of diphtheria and had been sick but two days.

BEATRICE—Frank Engle had his hand nearly taken off yesterday at the Dempster mill. He sustained an ugly gash in the wrist and the member was terribly lacerated.

SEWARD—John Silvers, a well known farmer living between Tamora and Staplehurst, was caught in a threshing machine and had one arm broken in two places and dislocated.

SEWARD—Mrs. O. D. Thygeson, wife of a merchant of Utica, died at her home very suddenly Sunday afternoon. Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church today.

BEATRICE—Frank Davis, Jesse Johnson and Robert Austin returned home from a week's hunting trip. They bagged several coons, two possums and a considerable amount of other game.

WAHOO—Sheriff Daily lost one of his horses Monday. The horse was hitched to a baggage wagon and began raring up until he fell back upon his head, which caused his death immediately.

KENNARD—The vote on township organization was twenty-eight against the present system. That means that Washington county will be governed next year by three commissioners instead of seven.

EUSTIS—Mrs. Fred Smalley endeavored to start a fire with kerosene. Mrs. Smalley is under the doctor's care and little hopes are entertained for her recovery. She was badly burned about the face and shoulders.

COLUMBUS—Thieves stole a gold watch from Mrs. Gertrude Waters. She reported the loss to Chief of Police Schaek, and the eye of the chief rests upon several persons who were near and about the place when Mrs. Waters stays.

BEATRICE—C. B. Rodgers, superintendent of the southern division of the Burlington, in company with several other officials of the road, visited Beatrice yesterday on an inspection trip. The party traveled in Mr. Rodgers' special car.

BEATRICE—Frank Kelley, who stole a hat and pair of trousers Saturday night while under the influence of liquor, was fined $10 and costs yesterday on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. He will work his fine out on the streets.

COLUMBUS—Orient chapter, Royal Arch Masons, has just held its annual meeting and elected the following officers: Henry Ragatz, sr., high priest; C. D. Stires, king; George A. Scott, scribe; O. T. Roen, treasurer; James R. Meagher, secretary.

LYONS—The Logan hotel at this place will probably be closed some time this month and Lyons will again be without a hotel during the winter, as the present proprietor, R. F. Wilson, has taken charge of the Clifton house at Blair.

KENNARD—The Kennard High school has arranged to give a very fine series of entertainments this winter. The following four lecturers and entertainers have been secured: Dr. Culp, Chicago Ladies' Trio, Dr. Clark and the dramatic reader, Denton C. Crowl.

BEATRICE—Vern Thornburg, who has been ticket agent at the Rock Island station here for many years, has resigned his position and will leave in a few days for Lincoln, where he has accepted a position in the office of the Beatrice Creamery company.

COLUMBUS—Gobal council, Royal and Select Masters No. 12, have elected these officers: James E. North, thrice illustrious master; J. D. Stires, deputy illustrious master; C. J. Garlow, principal conductor of the work; A. Anderson, treasurer; James R. Meagher, secretary.

SEWARD—Mrs. Harget, an aged woman, while going to her home Friday night became entangled in some wire just after crossing a steep railroad crossing, falling heavily and breaking her hip and arm in two places. She was taken on a streicher to Dr. Morrow's hospital. Owing to her extreme age the injury is a serious one.

COLUMBUS—The Nebraska Telephone company has a force of twenty-five to thirty men at work. Old wires are to be taken down and cables strung, under the management of Superintendent Denney. The company is to have headquarters in the new German National bank building and the improvements will cost over $25,000.

COLUMBUS—Platte county farmers are very busy these days during the fine weather in getting out their corn. They are getting as much as seventy-five bushels to the acre and only occasionally a field doesn't amount to fifty bushels an acre. They are bringing little of it to market, but building cribs large enough to store the immense crop.

BEATRICE—The Beatrice High school foot ball team, since defeating Omaha, has a pretty good claim on the championship of the state. Fairbury has conceded this in refusing to play a return game, and the only disputant to the claim is York. Beatrice is trying to arrange a game with the team from that place to be played in this city on November 22.

SEWARD—The city electric light plant has installed a Kenney water-tube boiler weighing 8,000 pounds. The smokestack is ninety feet high, and half of the business men here went down to assist in putting it up. This gives a capacity of over 3,000 lights. Municipal ownership pays here, as last year the plant cleared $3,100, and this year, with increased capital, will do more business.

TECUMSEH—C. W. Marlin, who has been editor and proprietor of the Johnson County Tribune at this point for the past fifteen months, today turned the business and plant over to his predecessor, C. W. Pool, on indebtedness. It is understood Mr. Pool held a mortgage against the outfit for $900. The paper has been a losing proposition in Mr. Marlin's hands.

SEWARD—Surveyors for the Union Pacific railroad who have been encamped near Seward moved the camp toward Milford. Members of the party say that the survey makes the line two miles from town, but on account of the heavy business that will be thrown to the Union Pacific by the Burlington main road leaving here they think it possible the road will run through Seward.

BEATRICE—The damage suit of Gordon against the Burlington Railway company was settled yesterday just before the case was called in the district court. Plaintiff sued the company in 1905 for $1,000 damages for the loss of a hay press, which was struck by a train two miles northwest of Beatrice and completely wrecked. As no cases were ready for trial the jury was excused till next Monday.

TECUMSEH—Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Hopkins celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last evening. They were married in Illinois, but have resided in Johnson county for a great many years. Mr. Hopkins has been mayor of this city and is a leading business man. A large company assembled at their home to celebrate the occasion, and presented Mr. Hopkins with a handsome gold-headed cane, and his wife, with a very pretty gold pin.

Heyward Heads Southern Society.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—The Southern Immigration and Educational conference today effected a permanent organization and elected Governor Heyward of South Carolina president and J. R. McMullen, Gadsden, Ala., secretary-treasurer.
