Social Tragedy

Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was troubled for eight years with irregularities which broke down my system and brought on extreme nervousness and hysteria. I could neither enjoy my meals nor sleep nights, became easily irritated and nervous and very despondent. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved to be the only medicine which helped me. After taking the third bottle, my general health began to improve. At the end of the fifth month I was well and could attend to my household and social duties and enjoy life.

Mrs. Curry, whose portrait appears on the right, is the leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra. The following letter is from Miss Goode, President of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club of Chicago:

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I tried many different remedies to try to build up my system, which had become run down from loss of proper rest and unseasonable hours, but nothing seemed to help me. Mother is a great advocate of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles, having used it herself some years ago with great success. So I began to take it, and in less than a month I was able to be out of bed and out of doors, and in three months I was entirely well. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

NEBRASKA LAND IN DEMAND

Western Homesteads Rapidly Being Taken Up and Prices Are Rising.

SUCCESSION OF GOOD SEASONS ATTRACTS

D. Clem Deaver of Burlington Bureau Thinks Value of Deeded Land Will Continue to Go Up.

"The demand for western land still keeps up and is now stronger than ever," said D. Clem Deaver of the Burlington bureau of the land office. "The establishing of this bureau was certainly opportune during this particular year for the reason that thousands of acres of land heretofore entered have been cancelled by the government and this bureau has been able to give intelligent direction to landseekers as to the proper method of procedure to locate themselves upon the best lands.

"The growing seasons have been remarkably good for several years and bid fair to continue so, though no one can tell what the future will be, but it is not to be believed that western Nebraska is likely to be more subject to drought than is the majority of the farming country of the United States. They have dry years in Iowa, Missouri and parts of Virginia this year have been exceptionally good. "In the past in western Nebraska the farmers would depend almost wholly upon producing grain for the market and the hand cream separator was not in existence, while today the diversified farming going on in western Nebraska is less liable to injury from effects of a dry year. The farmers in western Nebraska today are milking cows and selling cream along with their other industries. There never has been a year in this state when there was not plenty of grass for cattle to feed upon, and besides, it has been demonstrated that under the Campbell soil culture system twelve inches of rain per annum is sufficient to produce a good average crop of small grain, which can be gotten out of the way before hot winds come in the summer.

What Kinkaid Act Has Done.

"The Kinkaid 640-acre free homestead law has been the means of many people securing good homes during the present summer, as much of the land opened to homestead entry through cancellation and otherwise is as good as tracts that purchased under the act of a dry year. There is a large acreage of land yet to be cancelled, and the process of cancellation by the government is a slow one and every month the special agents of the land department are reporting more land opened to cancellation. The western part of Nebraska, where the homestead lands are located, is a big territory to cover and it requires considerable time for the government agents to examine the various homestead entries. Several persons who have been purchasing land during the early part of this year have raised questions on the sod plowing, have plenty of feed for their stock and are now well prepared for the winter."

SIX NEW STEEL POSTAL CARS

Harriman is Beginning to Yield to Demands of Railway Mail Clerks.

The 15,000 railway postal clerks of the country generally believe that congress ought to pass a law requiring the railroads to be lighted by electricity. The reason they point out is that the government pays a higher rate for the transportation of mails by far than do the express companies for the transportation of express, and that it ought, therefore, to require the railroads to be lighted by electricity. The clerks and the mail were possible safeguards, both for the safety of property and the lives of the employees.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The funeral of George Hart, the barber found dead in his hotel room, will be held at 2 p. m. Friday, and the body will be buried at Forest Lawn cemetery.

BARNES' ZOO IN OPERATION

Wild Animals in Winter Quarters. Will Perform as They Did on King's Highway.

LIFE INSURANCE AGENTS.

Contracts for the new year will soon be in process of readjustment. After January 1 all companies operating in New York will be required to conform to the recently amended laws of that state. Reform legislation in New York is not so framed as to prevent official extravagance in the management of life insurance companies; but does in specific terms limit the compensation of agents.

SYLVA CASE IS DISMISSED

Crawford Cannot Determine Who is Owner of Saloon and Discharges Defendants.

Saloon keepers can violate the law with impunity if they are allowed to remain in the city of a decision rendered in police court Thursday morning in the case of John Buck, who was discharged on the complaint of keeping a saloon, at 1307 North Twenty-fourth street, open after hours.

About two weeks ago Clarence Sylva, who then claimed to be the proprietor of the saloon, was arrested by Officer Waters at 1:55 a. m. when the saloon was doing a rushing business. After some delay the case against Sylva was dismissed on the ground that he was not the real owner of the saloon. City Prosecutor Daniel then filed a complaint against John Buck, an employe of the Storz brewery, in whose name the license was issued last January. Evidence was taken in court Wednesday morning and Judge Crawford took the case under advisement until Thursday.

In dismissing the case against the defendant Judge Crawford said: "The issue in question is, whether Buck is the owner or not. The only proof offered is that Buck is the licensee under the license issued last January and he may have sold or leased the saloon since then, and there is no presumption that Buck is the owner at present or at the time of the commission of the alleged offense. The case is therefore dismissed."

ORDER TO BE MANDATORY

Court Will Issue Written Decree Against Little Messengers Going to Burnt District.

As a result of recent investigations of the probation officer Judge Sutton of the juvenile court has decided to issue a formal order to prevent the sending of messenger boys under 16 years of age to immoral resorts to deliver messages. Some time ago, through the probation officers, he requested employes of messenger boys not to send boys under 16 into what is known as the red light district, but evidence has been found that the request is not being complied with.

Now he proposes to issue a written order directing the companies not to use boys under 16 for this class work and written notices of the order will be sent to the various telegraph and messenger companies that they will be expected to obey the order and if they do not prosecutions for aiding delinquency are likely to follow.

BANKERS UNION MUST PAY

Spinney and His Order Placed Under a Judgment for Ten Thousand Dollars.

Judgment for $10,000 was rendered against the Bankers Union of the World and Dr. E. C. Spinney by Judge Estelle in the suit brought by Elmer S. Starr to recover money due to the Bankers Union by the order of the Iron Chain in Minnesota at the time the two orders consolidated.

SIN OF GETTING IN A RUT

One of the Cardinal Failures of Life, Says the Careful Observer.

Oldest Inhabitant Agrees with Him

Ancient One Adds that This Common Fault of Mankind is Only Mild Form of Atrophy.

"I wish I could get my congregation educated up to the idea of getting out of the ruts of every day affairs," remarked the Careful Observer yesterday afternoon when he and the Oldest Inhabitant watched an ex-horse cart driver direct a laundry wagon at a fire department gate.

"Getting into a rut is one of the cardinal sins of this world. It has blasted many promising careers and caused many breakdowns on the highway of life. The two classes of persons needing the prayers of the community are those that get into a rut and miss all the good and beautiful things of the world, and those that carry loose change in their overcoat pockets," continued the one of frequent mental impressions.

"You mean that variety is the spice of life," rejoined the Oldest Inhabitant, who generally knows what the Careful Observer is talking about.

The Careful Observer replied that he meant that very thing.

"In this age of commercialism, rapid transit, pure food laws, and simplified spelling, many are wont to get into ruts and do things against a sort of subconsciousness, moving about like a lot of automations, instead of creatures of flesh and blood, and false teeth and corsets. Some get up in the morning, make their little bow in a perfunctory manner, speak their pieces, all with little regard for those pleasures that serve as sauce in life's great bill of fare." The Careful Observer said that.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Senator Millard will leave for Washington Thanksgiving afternoon to be present at the opening session of the senate Monday, December 2.

E. L. West of Chicago, superintendent of the Sixth division of the railway mail service, was in Omaha Thursday visiting railway mail headquarters at the federal building.

R. Harvey, secretary of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, and one of the Douglas county legislative delegation, has gone to Lincoln to arrange for quarters for the Douglas county legislators during the next session.

Meyer Dahlman will leave next Monday for Kansas City to attend the Mississippi congress. This mayor will occupy a special car with Archie Love, James L. Patton, F. B. Johnson, Scott King, Dick Stewart and others. There will be two cars from Omaha and South Omaha over the Burlington road.

H. E. Newbrach, editorial writer of the World-Herald, is still unable to be at his desk. Mr. Newbrach has not been well for some time and is expected to be absent for several weeks. He was confined to his room. His ten weeks' absence was confined to the fall and winter months. Since Monday day he has not been at his work, though an improvement is now noted in his condition.

GREELY CALLS ON THE UTES

Northern Military Commander Goes to Confer with Dissatisfied Indians

STILL WARM FRIEND OF OMAHA

Relations Toward Interests of This City Not Changed by Removal of His Official Headquarters.

Major General Greely stopped in Omaha Thursday morning for a little while on his way west to confer with the Ute Indians and the army officers in personal charge of the situation and see what further steps the government should take toward disposing of the problem.

While here General Greely took occasion to assure Omaha that despite the fact of the removal of headquarters of the northern military division from St. Louis to Chicago his relations toward Omaha and his interest in Omaha would be unaltered; he would continue to do for Omaha what ever he could.

TONS OF ROCK STOP TRAIN

Mass Loosened by Blast Covers Track and Causes Delay of Flight Hours.

The Union Pacific train was blocked for over eight hours last week near Hawling. A blast was set off which brought down many more tons of rock than was expected, the mass falling onto the main line and delaying traffic from noon until 4 o'clock in the evening. No personal injury was done.

WOMAN DOES NOT LIKE HAZARD.

Lillian Vallon wants the district court to grant her a divorce from Edward Vallon because the day November 1 he caused her to be arrested for a reason for refusing to give him money to buy drink. He insisted only when he found the money, according to the story. They were married August 12, 1904, and the following month she was assaulted by him and called by vile names. A year later she was grabbed her and choked her. She

SERIOUS SCARCITY OF CARS

Congestion of Freight in Yards and No Prospect of Relief.

The freight yards of Omaha are congested, with no immediate prospect of relief. This is not due to an over supply of grain or any other commodity, but to a general increase of business of every kind. The heavy grain business has not started and corn will not begin to flood this market before the first of the month, but other commodities are coming in at a faster rate than the railroads can handle them.

BANKS MAKE HEAVY GAINS

Five National Institutions in Omaha Show Substantial Increases in Year.

DEPOSITS GO UP MILLION AND A HALF

Total Resources November 12 Exceeded Those for Similar Date Last Year by Two Million Dollars.

Omaha banks keep steadily growing and the statements just issued in response to the call of the comptroller of the currency show it at a glance. Total deposits in the five national banks at the close of business November 15 were $1,465,523.43 greater than on November 9 of last year; loans and discounts were $1,968,600.38 greater than a year ago; total resources were nearly $2,000,000 larger than a year ago.

On account of the call for money to move the great crops of the country the deposits in Omaha banks at present are about $2,000,000 less than at the last call, September 4, and total resources are naturally decreased by that amount. The country banks have taken that much out of Omaha to do their fall business. In the late winter that money will begin to come to the city again.

The condition of the five national banks of Omaha at the close of business November 15, 1906, compared with that on the date of the corresponding call last year, November 9, is shown to be as follows:

No Effort at Settlement.

The statement that efforts are being made to settle the asset divorce suit is entirely without foundation, said Judge Sawyer, attorney for Mrs. Bassett. She and her attorney have been taking every step to get the suit dismissed.
