

SUNDAY DINNER PROSPECTS

What the Market Offers in Way of Staples and Reasonable Delicacies.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES ON BUYING

Some Recipes that Will Be Useful and Some Tips as to What to Do with Left Overs and the Like.

A Sunday Dinner Menu. Cream of Onion Soup. Roast Turkey. Giblet Gravy. Cranberry Sauce. Browned Sweet Potatoes. Celery and Olive Salad. Orange Pudding. Coffee.

Another surprise in the way of Concord grapes was offered Friday morning by a few of the grocers, although a shipment last week was called the very last of the season.

There are still a few table pears in market, but not many, and these are controlled by about three merchants. The supply is sufficient to last another week.

The hot house and the refrigerator car have made fresh garden vegetables almost staples. String and wax beans are carried by all the better grocers and cost from 10 to 15 cents a quart, according to quality.

Sweet potatoes of size and quality that can be cooked any way are 10 and 10 cents a peck and Irish potatoes 20 cents a peck.

Eggs are selling at all sorts of prices considering all the talk one hears of the egg market. Every grocer has his own price and his own reason for it and there are almost as many varieties of eggs.

Most of the meat and fish markets have a special week's end scale of prices for the benefit of the Saturday trade, and it is worth while for the housekeeper to watch for this. Chickens will sell for 14 cents a pound Saturday, turkey will cost 20 cents a pound and duck 15 cents a pound.

Timely Recipes. For golden mousses beat well the yolks of three eggs, add a tablespoonful of pure maple syrup, and cook, stirring constantly until the mixture makes a thick coating on the spoon.

Cherry cakes make a dainty confection. After January 1 do not be surprised if your granulated sugar has a yellowish tint, says one of the produce journals.

LOWEY'S BREAKFAST COCOA

Cocoa beans grow in pods on the trunk and limbs of a delicate tropical tree. They contain six times more food value than beef. We use the highest cost beans that are grown and there is nothing in our cocoa but cocoa.

That is why it is the most delicious of cocoas. How to keep things warm is one of the vexing problems that confronts every cook who uses a gas stove unless the stove has
