PROBLEMS OF CHILD LABOR Owen E. Lovejoy Delivers Address at Creighton Law College. COMMENDS THE JUVENILE COURT LAW In Afternoon His Conference With Members of the Legislature on New Laws Which Are Needed in Nebraska.

The assembly room of Creighton Law college, on Eighteenth street, was fairly well filled Thursday evening with representative men and women, including many ministers and members of the legal profession, to hear Owen E. Lovejoy, field secretary of the national child saving committee, on the subject of "Child Labor and Its Evils." The meeting was presided over by Judge Howard Kennedy. Those occupying seats on the platform were Judge Kennedy, Judge Sutton of the juvenile court, Mayor James C. Dahlman and Father McGovern of St. Philomena's school and Mr. Lovejoy. Judge Kennedy welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Social Service club of Omaha, which is the legal profession, to hear Owen E. Lovejoy, field secretary of the national child saving committee, on the subject of "Child Labor and Its Evils."

Comments Nebraska Laws. Mr. Lovejoy began his address with a high commendation of the work of the juvenile laws and courts of Nebraska, which he closely connected with the special work of child labor laws, in which he was so vitally interested. He said, in part: "The census of 1900 awakened the American people to the realization of the fact that the child labor problem was a national one. It was true that the larger part of them were employed in agriculture, but it was too great a part employed in the mining, mechanical and manufacturing industries. The increase of boys in the child labor force had increased to 100 per cent, and this during the periods of our greatest national prosperity."

Legislation Hard to Get. Mr. Lovejoy told of the inability to secure needed legislation from congress because of the lack of interest in the question among senators and representatives who attributed the agitation to sentiment and wanting of sincerity. "There are more forces at work for the moral advancement of children in New York City, with all its accredited wickedness, than any other place in the world," said the speaker. He told of the physical deterioration of children and adults in the mining regions of Pennsylvania and said that no legislative authority than General A. W. Greely, who was present at the luncheon given at the Commercial club Thursday evening, "so great has become the physical deterioration of children and adults in the mining regions of Pennsylvania that the government has abandoned the marine recruiting station there because of the inferiority of the eyes of the recruits who had worked in glass factories."

Leave School at Eleven. The average American child leaves school at the age of 11 years because of the laxity of the law. The child labor law, which toward the enforcement of those that do exist. While machinery has lifted the burden of the child labor law, it has not divided the labor of the family unit to that extent that neither the child nor the father is enabled to make a comfortable living. The child is taken from the home and educated there, when it belongs, and instead of bringing forth a race of physical degenerates bring forth a race of mental degenerates. The question of race suicide so ably discussed by President Roosevelt, is a question of question of the child and why not in our own species. There is a great waste of our educated wealth by very many of our parents and the question of economics of the American people is in the great question of intellectual, educational and industrial efficiency.

MAIL MUST GO TO FRONT DOOR Uncle Sam Issues Order Prohibiting Letters Delivered at Rear or Side. Postmaster Palmer has just received instructions from the Postoffice department that letter carriers must not deliver letters at back or side doors of residences, but only at front doors.

WOMEN IN CLUB AND CHARITY The suggestion has been made, and very pertinently, too, that a legislative committee be appointed in the Omaha Woman's club, with a view of furthering the interests of several measures that will come before the state legislature this winter through the agency of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, as authorized by the annual convention of that organization, held at Kearney in October.

No city or community in the state is more interested in or will profit more directly by the proposed legislation than Omaha, and it behooves the club women and other women of this city to lend themselves intelligently to securing this legislation. The several bills now being drawn up have to do with compulsory education, child labor, pure food, civics, library work and women's property rights. Every one of these interests are represented by department or committee in the Omaha Woman's club, and a committee might be made up of representatives of the several sections that would enlist the interest of the entire club.

At its business meeting Wednesday afternoon the local Women's Christian Temperance union decided to continue its support of $15 a month to industrial classes at the City mission at Tenth and Capitol avenues, conducted by Miss Magee. In view of the effort of the juvenile court authorities to remove the children from that part of the city, the union will vote the money from month to month, instead of for the year, as formerly, and on the condition that any child that has removed from the district will not be allowed to return to the classes. The union is entirely in sympathy with the work of the juvenile court, and while co-operating in the work of removing the children will maintain as long as necessary the industrial classes for children that are compelled to remain in that part of the city. Twenty-five dollars was voted to the state organization toward the support of the state work.

Dr. Felix Adler does not think that so much time need be spent in investigating conditions in factories and mills and places where a little reasonable reformation will tell anyone children have no right to work. He says: "Ask yourself what would be your attitude toward any person who should suggest that a child be taken from his home and sent to the mills. The facts are crying for help. Don't be like the English commission which spent two years laboriously ascertaining whether it was injurious to a child of 14 years to work fourteen hours. Such facts do not call for investigation, but action."

The social science department of the Woman's club will hold its meeting Monday afternoon at 2:45, when the project for erecting and maintaining an industrial settlement on the north bottoms will be considered. The report of the committee that visited that locality last week will be made and discussed. Chancellor Andrews of the University of Nebraska will speak at 3:30 o'clock on "Modified Spelling." Superintendent Davidson will make it possible for the teachers to attend the meeting and the address of the afternoon will be followed by a general discussion.

One More Story on Bullfinch. P. E. O. was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. B. Updike to meet the home of Mrs. N. B. Updike to meet Mrs. Grimes of Blue Hill, state inspector of the society. The business hour was followed by a social, thirty guests being present.

"Umph!" This sentimentous expression came from one of the many hundred people who have viewed the genuine and original Hallway pass, which was issued by the Burlington to a democratic voter just before election day. The pass still hangs in the window of The Bee business office at Seventeenth and Farman.

Churches Foot the Bill Will Not Ask Business Men for Contributions Toward Torrey Mission at Auditorium. The committee in charge of the Torrey evangelistic meetings has announced its intention not to call on the business men for contributions for the expense of the campaign. The estimated cost of $7,000 has been divided by assessment among sixty or so churches in the metropolitan area, the smallest assessment being $25 and the largest $250. Fifty per cent of the assessment of each church has been called in and it has practically all been paid in or provided for.

FRATS NOT ACTING AS BOSS High School Society Boys Deny Trying to Dominate Class Elections. Fraternity men at the high school make an emphatic denial that they are trying to control class elections. The spokesman of a party that called at The Bee office said: "It is absurd, as a paper has said, that ten fraternity men can run a class of 150. It is claimed the frat men helped elect Miss Eleanor Jaguth president of the senior class to prevent the election of a 'barb.' There are ten men in the senior class. Seven of them voted for Miss Jaguth and three voted against her. It is also said the members of fraternities are trying to elect a girl president of the junior class. As a matter of fact there are eight fraternity men in the junior class and they are divided in their support. There are as many girls on one ticket as on the other."

VAIN SEARCH FOR HORWICH Federal Authorities Are Having Difficult Time Trying to Find Tekamah Merchant. The federal authorities are anxious to know the whereabouts of Sam Horwich, a bankrupt merchant of Tekamah, in order to lock him up for contempt of court in failing to turn over certain funds in his possession amounting to $7,000, as applied upon the liquidation of his indebtedness. Horwich was adjudged bankrupt May 24, 1906, and was ordered to turn over $7,000 in assets to P. Emerson Taylor, the referee in bankruptcy. The execution of the order was suspended in order that Horwich might realize upon the accounts through his familiarity with them. Up to this time he has failed to turn over the amount of accounts and upon the application of P. E. Taylor the order was made absolute and Tekamah that he had come to Omaha. His attorney refused to divulge his whereabouts and the federal officers are still looking for him. The order has now been so amended as to place him in the Douglas county jail until he turns over the $7,000 or until the further order of the court, if he can be found.

SUIT OVER ICE THAT MELTED Shackelford & Dickey Say Bailout Caused Loss of Fifteen Hundred Tons. Where some of the ice went last summer when dealers were complaining of a shortage is disclosed in a suit filed in district court Friday morning in which Shackelford & Dickey demand judgment for $2,925 against William S. Balduff for alleged failure to carry out a contract. The ice company says it borrowed $1,000 from Mr. Balduff early in the season, and as security gave him a bill of sale on its ice house at 1302 Nicholas street. He was to take 607 tons of ice in return for the money. It is asserted there were 1,500 tons of ice in the building. Mr. Balduff instead of buying all of his ice of the company began making it himself and buying it elsewhere, so it was September 13 before he had taken his 607 tons and had released the bill of sale. The bill acted as a lien on the property and until it was released, it is asserted, the ice company could do nothing but let the ice melt, which it did very rapidly after May 1. It is claimed the entire 1,500 tons with the exception of the 607 taken by Mr. Balduff melted. The plaintiff computes its damage at $5 a ton for the difference and asks judgment for that amount.
