GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Liverpool's Failure to Respond to Saturday's Weakness Encourages Locals.

PRICES RULE STRONG IN WHEAT PIT

Liquidation in December Option Early Has Depressing Effect, Which Soon Disappears—Corn Trade Light and Prices Lower.

OMAHA, Nov. 19, 1906.

Small world's shipments and the refusal of the foreign market to respond to the American decline of Saturday, made wheat strong this morning. At the close it was ¾c above Saturday. Argentina news was favorable. There was a little liquidation early in December, but strength came as the session advanced. Receipts in the northwest were very small and there was a good cash demand.

Trade in corn was light and prices ran up and down with light fluctuations. The close was fractionally under Saturday. Receipts were larger than estimated. Cash demand was slow and prices were weak.

Primary wheat receipts were 1,264,000 bushels and shipments 383,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 1,574,000 bushels and shipments of 868,000 bushels. Corn receipts were 730,000 bushels and shipments 309,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 923,000 bushels and shipments of 444,000 bushels. Clearances were 68,000 bushels wheat, 40,000 bushels corn, 27,000 bushels oats and flour and wheat equal to 170,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed unchanged to ¼d lower on wheat and ¼@½d lower on corn.

The following from New York: "Berbohm's Argentina agent estimates the wheat crop at 120,000,000 bushels and says conditions are far from being brilliant. He puts yield per acre at ten bushels and estimates 13,000,000 acres."

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Covering by shorts who were discouraged by the comparative smallness in the visible supply, caused strength in the local wheat market today during the last hour of trading. At the close wheat for December delivery was up ⅞@1c. Corn was off ¼c. Oats were ⅛@⅜c lower. Provisions were 2½c to 17½c higher.

During the early part of the day the wheat market was weak because of realizing sales in December and a decline of over 2c in the price of December at Minneapolis. News of the day was bullish. Liverpool cables were steady, despite the weakness of the local market Saturday, and the amount of breadstuff on ocean passage decreased 1,960,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 120,000 bushels for the corresponding time last year. When the visible supply figures, which showed an increase of 825,000 bushels, were given out, sentiment in the wheat pit quickly changed. Active bidding by shorts forced prices up nearly 1c from the low point. At the corresponding time last year the available stocks showed an increase of more than 2,000,000, and the smallness of today's increase was a surprise to the majority of traders. The situation in the northwest was still favorable to the bulls, receipts being less than for the corresponding time a year ago and the weather unfavorable for the movement. The market closed strong, with prices near the highest point of the day. December opened unchanged at 73¾c, sold off to 73¼c, and then advanced to 74c. The close was at 73⅞@74c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 160,300 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,264,000 bushels, against 1,574,000 bushels for the corresponding time one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 946 cars, against 835 cars last week and 1,327 cars a year ago.

The corn market was quiet and a trifle easier. Cash houses were sellers of December and elevator interests disposed of the May option in fair quantities. Buying was scattered and came chiefly from commission houses. The approach of cold weather was movement of new corn to market. The regarded as the forerunner of an increased late advance in wheat had no effect on the corn market, the close being easy. December opened unchanged, at 41¼c, sold off to 41c, and closed at 41¼c. Local receipts were 303 cars, with 34 cars of contract grade.

The feature of trading in oats was selling of the December delivery by cash houses, who were influenced by a 1c decline in the price of cash oats. Local receipts were almost 100 in excess of the estimated number, and this caused additional weakness in the December delivery. December opened ¼@⅜c lower, at 34@34¼c, sold between 33¾c and 34¼c, and closed at 33¾@33¾c. Local receipts were 324 cars.

A 10c decline in the price of live hogs caused moderate weakness in provisions early in the day, but later the market became firm on active bidding for lard by local traders. At the close January pork was up 17½c, at $14.50. Lard was 2½c higher, at $8.50. Ribs were 2½@5c higher, at $7.70.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 51 cars; corn, 340 cars; oats, 225 cars; hogs, 28,000 head.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Market Opens Steady Under Influence of Improved Tone Developed Last Week.

ST. PAUL IS FEATURE OF THE DAY

Rumor of Heavy Buying for Hill Interests Sends Price Upward—Other Favorites Under Pressure and Close is Easy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The market was steady under the influence of the improved tone which developed last week. The first hour's business was the largest for that interval of time of any that has been done for many months past. Prices were affected by the invariable custom of professional operators to distribute stocks to meet a new outside demand and profit-taking made its usual impression, but the breadth and strength of the new outside demand and the effective absorption which resulted had a very encouraging effect on sentiment. The speculative forces behind the market therefore came in with renewed accumulation and resumed operations for the advance with more appearance of substantial strength than at any time last week. As the day progressed, however, there appeared to be some distaste for the feverish sentiment in St. Paul and the excessive buoyancy displayed by the stock. Other stocks which shared with St. Paul's strength last week were notably backward in the movement and seemed to be freely supplied on all advances.

The new candidates for speculative favor were not as influential in their sympathetic effect on other stocks as the prime favorites. Union Pacific and Reading were only occasionally strong and were continually carried back by selling to realize, while Southern Pacific and Hill stocks, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting were under pressure that was almost uninterrupted. While not sufficient to cause weakness in the stocks until the general decline, when money went to 9 per cent, this pressure was sufficient to prevent them from sharing in the strength prevailing elsewhere in the market. Many low priced non-dividend paying stocks also were made active at advancing prices and this suggested an effort to bring about a process of rotation in demand which affords better facilities for digestion of profits. Perhaps as a result of the increase in the speculative demands, rates for call loans rose higher than on Friday last and thus caused some misgivings over the adequacy of the augmented supplies in the money market to carry on a successful speculation. Nothing authentic was obtainable to account for the heavy accumulation of St. Paul. Variety was given to last week's rumors on the subject by assigning a possible part to buying in the Hill interests' while last week's rumors were attributed to a destination for the property in the Harriman combination. The suggestion of possible competition to secure the property thus conveyed, served to jar upon speculative susceptibilities to some extent. Other upward movements were without specific explanation. Reports from abroad pointed to some clearing up of doubtful feeling over the money outlook there as well as here. London discount rates were allowed to sag to below the bank's official rate and sterling exchange on the continent declined. Sub-treasury operations were in favor of the money market, the banks having gained $1,185,000 from the government institution since the bank statement was compiled. Further release of gold by the Bank of France for London was a factor in favor of the money market. But the rise in call loans to 9 per cent offset other considerations and was responsible for the free selling, which, in the final hour, carried many stocks to a level below Saturday. The market closed easy.

Bonds were easy. Total sales par value, $1,980,000. United States 2s declined ¾ per cent on call.

Foreign Financial.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—In the market today the supplies of money were large and the demand good. Discounts were easier on the influx of gold into the Bank of England. Trading on the Stock exchange was moderately active and firm. The undertone was firm on the easier money outlook, which caused a further improvement in consols, while home rails benefited by continued investment purchases. Profit taking, however, caused a slight reaction from the best quotations of the day. Foreigners were cheerful on Paris buying. Americans opened firm, with an upward tendency. The favorable New York bank statement and good American buying encouraged brisker local operations and prices advanced to considerable above parity in the forenoon. Later New York further supported the market, especially Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific, and prices hardened and closed firm. Copper shares reflected the strength of the metal. Japanese imperial 4s of 1904 closed at 100¾.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Prices on the Bourse today were weaker. Russian imperial 4s closed at 75 and Russian bonds of 1906, excoupon, at 494. The private rate of discount was 2 per cent.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Prices on the Bourse today generally were firm. Russian securities were quiet.
