CURRENT LITERATURE.

The December Centinel is a typical Christmas number. It is sufficiently premature to assist Christmas makers with its hints for Christmas gifts and holiday entertainments, besides containing an abundance of seasonable literature calculated to aid in from now until New Year's day. Maud Ballington Booth contributes a most interesting description of the work of the volunteers, "Christmas Sunshine in the Shadows." Christmas stories for adults are "The Evergreen Tree," by Marion Ames Taggart, and "The Shoplifter at Satterthwaite's," by William Hamilton Osborne, and those for children "The Blue Kimono," by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and "Betty Evelyn's Christmas Idea," by Elizabeth Preston Badger. Agnes and Egeron Castle's romance, "A Young Conspiracy," and Anthony Hope's short story, "The Duke's Alibi," seem especially suitable for reading on winter evenings. But the crown of the Christmas literature is Edwin Markham's splendid poem, entitled "The Great Guest Comes." It is illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker. The serial stories, "Frau Schmidt and Mr. Anstetter," by the Countess von Arnim, and "The Chauffeur and the Chaplain," by the Williams, are continued, while Barry Pain's "The Diary of a Baby" is concluded. Essays for every day are, "The Slavery of Superstition," by Lillian Bell; "Eliminating Non-sensibilities," by Lida Churchill, and "Pulling Together Through a Crisis," by William George Jordan. David Belasco contributes a most interesting description of "Making the Play Seen Real."

The usual amount of space is devoted to up-to-date fashions in garments and millinery, and practical papers and departments for housekeepers.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, believes that model farms should be established in every agricultural county of the United States, under control of the several state governments, or of the national government, or of the two counties. Such farms, he argues, would radiate intelligence, activity and reform in villages, with the possibility of doubling the farm product of the country. The December Century will publish Mr. Hill's discussion of these "Government Model Farms" and his plea for their establishment. "Might it not be worth while," he argues, "to expend the sum that

10c CIGARS FOR 5c

Our plan of selling domestic cigars for 5c has become known all over the country. 10c cigars have been sold before, for three for a quarter, and as low as 6c and 7c, but no dealer in the country has ever sold 10c cigars for 5c until we set the pace.

We again wish to call the attention of the smoking public to the fact that we have recently built a Humidor that will hold at least a half million cigars. We are therefore in a better position to care for our cigars than any dealer in Omaha. The steam heat has been turned on, but it will not affect the condition of our cigars this year.

FAILURE TO REPORT CASE

Charge to Be Filed Against Mrs. De Long, Christian Scientist.

TITLE CHILD DIES FROM DIPHTHERIA

Dr. Bridges Says It Was Due to Lack of Medical Aid and Health Department Decides on Prosecution.

Dr. Robert P. Jensen, assistant city physician, said Wednesday morning he would file in the police court a complaint against Mrs. Al-Fridie De Long, Christian Scientist, charging her with failure to report a case of diphtheria at 593 South Twenty-fifth street, at which address Frances Chissell, 4 years old, died Tuesday evening.

Dr. W. O. Bridges, who was called to attend the child one hour before death, notified on his card to the health department: "Cause of death, no medical aid; and on his card giving the Health department advice of a contagious disease at 302 South Twenty-fifth street, the doctor noted: "Christian Science treatment until one hour before death."

Dr. Jensen declared that many of the diphtheria cases reported in Omaha during the last two months had been caused by carelessness in the matter of preventing exposure and taking cases in hand during the early stages.

In the Chissell case the child was suffering with a cold for nearly two weeks before death, although the little one was able to be out and around until within a few days ago. The father, E. J. Chissell, manager of the National Oil and Paint company, requested Mrs. De Long to attend the child for the first time Monday evening, so Mrs. De Long said.

Mrs. De Long's Version.

Mrs. De Long's version of the case was stated by her Wednesday morning: "I was called to attend the child Monday evening. From appearances and from what Mr. and Mrs. Chissell informed me, I believed the case had been one of a cold and cough, the parents saying they had not noticed sore throat or fever. Tuesday evening I advised that a physician be called in, acting on the advice of another Christian Scientist. I did not report the case, because I had nothing to report in the way of contagious disease. It is our custom not to treat contagious diseases when we know they exist."

This is the first failure to report a contagious disease that has come to the notice of the health commissioner this season. The city ordinances provide for a fine of $10, thirty days imprisonment, or both, for conviction in the police court.

The Chissell home was fumigated Wednesday morning. The funeral will be private.

NO EMOTION FOR TORREY

Excitement is Not What the Evangelist Wants in His Revival Meetings.

"A great religious awakening in Omaha cannot be looked for before the third week of our meetings," said Dr. Torrey, the evangelist, when seen Wednesday at his hotel. "We are laying a firm foundation. My plan in religious work is to explain the fundamental principles of salvation and then let these facts 'soak in.' I do not believe in working upon the people's emotions. That method of revival makes a great showing at first, but the good is not lasting. I am, if anything, even, careful. When I pass out the pledge cards, I warn the people to think deeply before they sign them because I expect them to live up to the pledge."

"What is the foundation of a successful revival? God is the foundation. But from the human side, I think that prayer, the preaching of the straight gospel and personal work are the strongest factors in producing a great religious revivifying."

Dr. Torrey is greatly pleased and encouraged with the progress of the work during the few days he has been in Omaha. The second Sunday, he says, is always greater than the first and by the beginning of the third week the meetings are crowded every evening.

"I have been in very few cities where the local organization has been so strong," said Dr. Torrey. "The people of Omaha have taken hold of the work in a way that is very encouraging. The ministers, also, are taking a stand with us which I want to commend most strongly."

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION HERE

Third Annual Conference of Missionaries and Friends Will Last Three Days.

The third annual conference of missionaries and friends of the American Sunday School union of Nebraska will open Thursday evening at the Deltone hotel, continuing until Sunday.

The conference will attend the Torrey meeting Thursday evening and the general program will begin Friday morning. Friday afternoon and evening the conference will spend at the Torrey meetings. On Saturday the entire day will be spent in hearing reports and addresses from members of the Sunday school union.

The missionaries in attendance at the conference will attend the churches of the city Sunday and address the congregations on the work of the organization.

A memorial service will be held Sunday afternoon for the late superintendent, F. G. Emsig. E. B. Young of Wayne will have charge of this service and Superintendent E. B. Stevenson of Kansas City will give personal reminiscences of Mr. Emsig.

CONFESSOR GOES TO THE PEN

William Smith, Who Admits Wallpapering Frank Smith with Lamp, Gets Eighteen Months.

William Smith, a South Omaha negro, who used a flaming lamp at a club with which to beat up Frank Smith, was sentenced to eighteen months in the penitentiary by Judge Sutton Wednesday morning.

He entered a plea of guilty to assault with intent to wound. It is charged he broke into Frank Smith's room, grabbed the lamp and gave Frank a beating. The trouble happened September 19 on Q street.

Henry May entered a plea of guilty of attempted criminal assault upon Hazel Grazer, a young girl, and was given a three-year sentence by Judge Sutton. May is a youth apparently of a degenerate type. William Larkin and Alvin Huff both entered pleas of guilty.

INJURIES TO BERNEY FATAL

Man Found with Fractured Skull Dies Without Ever Gaining Consciousness.

After lying at St. Joseph's hospital in a semi-conscious condition from injuries received early last Friday morning, Terence S. Berney, aged 50, died about 12:30 p. m. Wednesday. Berney was found lying on the ground unconscious in the Union Pacific yards at Fourteenth streets and the tracks. He was employed as a helper by the railroad company and the circumstances surrounding his death are rather hairy.

Berney was employed on the night shift in the coal yards, and the first intimation of an accident was when he was found by fellow employees. His skull was fractured and he sustained severe injuries to his back. When taken to the hospital, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Uppgraft, the patient recovered his consciousness, but never sufficiently to tell how he had been injured. It is believed that he fell from a ladder which he had been using, at least this was the story told to his family by a person who claimed to be well informed.

The police were never notified of the accident and consequently no official investigation was ever made, but the case will probably go to the coroner for an inquest as to the probable cause of death.

Berney lived at 326 North Seventeenth street and is survived by a wife and several children. The funeral will be held at the home of the deceased, 1216 Farnam street, at 10 o'clock tomorrow. The interment will be in the cemetery at 11 o'clock.

ECHOES OF RAILROAD DEAL

Several Small Purchases of Real Estate in Vicinity of Union Pacific Transaction.

Echoes of the recent Union Pacific purchase are heard in the announcement of real estate transactions in the immediate vicinity of the headquarters' site. F. H. Parson has bought from L. V. Morse a piece of ground 29x50 feet at the southwest corner of Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue, paying $9,500. He has also bought from H. A. Torrey the strip immediately south, 21x50 feet, paying $6,980. On these two pieces of ground stands a three-story saloon and hotel building, known as the Cumberland hotel. A few days ago it was erroneously reported as having been sold to the Albia Bros. Brewing company.

The Albia Bros. apartment house at Tenth and Pacific streets has been sold by J. F. Lazo to H. G. Brunner for $18,000.

H. A. Fleher has sold to F. W. Armbrust lots 7 and 8, in block 90, South Omaha, for $11,000.

BARTLETT IS GETTING WELL

Man Who Fell Five Stories Considered Out of the Path of Death.

Matthew Bartlett, the laborer on the new Spieberger building, who fell five stories through an arwayway Monday afternoon, is improving rapidly and his recovery is believed to be practically assured by the authorities at the Methodist hospital, where he was taken after the accident. Bartlett sustained a fracture at the base of the skull, as well as several broken bones, and his recovery will be deemed little short of marvelous, Wednesday morning he was very cheerful and was able to talk to the nurses and his physician.

TEN DOLLARS FOR MILKMAN

Fine Imposed on Dealer Who Dilutes His Product from the Pump.

A. P. Grobeck, a milk dealer who resides at Seventeenth street and Van Camp avenue, was fined $10 and costs in police court Wednesday morning on the charge of selling adulterated milk. A sample of milk was taken from Grobeck's milk wagon on November 15 by Joe Scully, an inspector of the health department, and it was found that the percentage of "pump juice" was in excess of that dispensed by the normal bovine.

CALL FOR THE BLOODHOUNDS

Demand Comes from Elkhorn, but Omaha Police Can Supply If Not.

A telephone message was received by the police department Wednesday morning from Elkhorn, Neb., requesting that the Omaha bloodhounds be sent to him at once for the purpose of trailing some thieves who had made off during the night with several of his finest hogs. Hensel was advised that the bloodhounds of Omaha were still in the city, instead of a painful reality, and that nothing could be done to assist him.

Letters to Unsuccessful Men

By the Author of Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to his Son

JONAS SPURLOCK who can raise a million dollars at an hour's notice, but couldn't raise a boy.
HIS SON, JACK who went through five thousand a year, but couldn't get through Harvard.
JONAS' BROTHER, WILLIAM who owns a bunch of cows on a mountain range, where they can't graze an hour in any direction without stepping on the mortgage.

Jonas writes to Brother William that in spite of the fact that Jack has been given everything that money can buy he has made a mess of his life.

Here follow some extracts from Brother Bill's letter in reply:

- "Jack is your problem and you're welcome to it. You could solve it, but you won't, because Jack isn't wheat, or steel, or stocks, but just flesh and blood."
- "If he were a million-dollar deal gone wrong, no subordinate could touch him. But when your son starts for hell in a canter, you send a hired man after him to beat him back with a club."
- "Have you looked up the men who have taught Jack as carefully as those that you have hired to run your plants?"
- "You expected him to associate with idlers and not be idle; to make friends among the foolish and not be a fool. That is a pretty big contract for one boy to fill, even with a father working overtime to help him."
- "You and your special breed of business men are all alike. You begin in your corner groceries sanding the sugar for pennies; and you finish in Wall Street sanding the sugar for millions."
