LEGISLATION FOR COUNTY

Douglas Lawmakers and Officers Confer on What Measures to Enact.

MARRIAGE CEREM. FEE COMES IN

Repeal of Law Prohibiting Convicts Fourth of July and Amending Exemption from Taxation Statute Proposed.

Legislation affecting the various county offices was suggested yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the county officials with the members of the legislative delegation from this county's room at the court house and brought in a large attendance and enough suggestions to keep an industrious legislator busy for several months. The meeting did not pass on all of the suggestions, but those that were left over at adjournment will be taken up and discussed at another meeting to be held two weeks from yesterday.

Legislation covering a wide range of subjects is asked for, but among the important provisions is one to amend the tax law for exemptions so as not to exempt from taxation commercial colleges and private schools conducted for gain and to give the county attorney power to commission witnesses and compel their attendance at inquiries held by the county attorney. This would give the county attorney practically the same powers as a grand jury.

These changes in present laws were endorsed and the county attorney directed to "draw up bills to be presented at the next meeting."

Providing for a coroner's physician at a salary of $50 a year to hold certificates. Defining the respective duties of city and county health authorities in emergency cases and contagious diseases. Amending the law providing for exemption from taxation as an act to apply it to commercial colleges and private schools.

Providing for a marriage ceremony fee to be levied by the county judge and turned into the county treasury. Amending the law giving the county attorney power to commission witnesses and examine them under oath.

Amending the inheritance tax law to permit roads of sixteen instead of twelve feet in width under the law and allowing the money to be collected through village and cities of the second class.

Providing that judges and clerks of election in the larger counties be paid $5 for each election and for the printing of their pay among the county, city and school district when all three participate in the election.

To repeal the law providing for the liberation on July 4 of two convicts who have served ten years or more.

Presented by Slabaugh. These suggestions were all presented by County Attorney Slabaugh. The rest of the suggestions were read by the clerk of the county board, but no action was taken on them owing to lack of time. One of them is from County Clerk Slabaugh providing for the addition of the duties of county auditor to his office and for a change in the method of paying his assistants. Another Commissioner Brunning presented suggestions providing that the county retain 25 cents of the $1-fee for hunting licenses; for changes in the law relating to the selection of jury panels; for an assessment of real estate once every two years instead of once every four years.

Another list of suggestions by Commissioner Uro, which has been previously published, was also presented and read. W. I. Kierstead, who was present, suggested the county might save about $3,000 a year by abolishing the insurance company and requiring that the insurance be taken by the county clerk, the county attorney and the county physician.

Benefit Nets a Neat Sum. Two Hundred Dollars for "Billy" Williams, the Old-Time Minstrel.

The second performance of the testimonial benefit program for the old-time minstrel, "Billy" Williams, was given at the Lyric theater Thursday evening, closing the series with a comfortable sum raised for the old and needy actor. The little playhouse was well filled during both performances and all the nets were shown through appreciation.

Baby Derwin, 7, the youngest child artist before the public, in her own original "traveling act," who was unable to appear on the first night because her nurse said she hadn't slept any during the afternoon and must be put to bed, was one of the biggest features of the evening.

The act, consisting of a recitation of a tract, a funny, the chubby little one made three trips across the front of the stage as fast as her little legs would carry her, the last time with hop, skip and a jump and a laugh at the audience. This completed the "original traveling act" of the youngest artist.

Nearly $200 will be realized from the two performances for the benefit of Mr. Williams. The first night netted $108.75 and the second, while not bringing in so much cash, was almost as profitable.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHAIRTY

The new executive board of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs broke all previous records by full attendance at the meeting held at Lincoln Tuesday.

The entire board was present, including: Mrs. H. L. Keefe, president, Waltham; Mrs. A. O. Thomas, vice president, Kearney; Mrs. C. B. Letton, recording secretary, Lincoln; Mrs. W. J. May, corresponding secretary, Pender; Mrs. C. W. Steele, treasurer, Fairbury; Mrs. F. W. Miller, auditor, Omaha; Mrs. W. E. Page, G. F. secretary, Syracuse.

District vice presidents: Mrs. I. N. Woodford, first district, Weeping Water; Lincoln; Mrs. J. H. Reed, third district, Madison; Mrs. C. M. Peterson, fourth district, Aurora; Mrs. Della Hartogson, fifth district, Minden; Mrs. M. Hostetter, sixth district, Shelton.

Besides the board members a number of prominent Lincoln and Omaha women were in attendance, including Mrs. H. M. Bushnell, the retiring president of the federation. The appointment of committee members received first attention, the board endeavoring to scatter the membership over the state as generally as possible. All the committees were not filled and the remaining appointments will be left to the president. An effort will be made to honor as many of the clubs as possible, but it is impossible to recognize all the good material in the state, owing to the necessarily limited acquaintance of new officers.

The creation of a legislative committee was one of the most important matters discussed. The function of the committee as outlined will be to watch such legislative measures as are of interest to the club women and keep the women advised. The duties of the members would necessitate their being Lincoln women, and Mrs. H. H. Wheeler of Lincoln was suggested as chairman, with Mrs. T. C. Munroe and Mrs. H. M. Bushnell the other members. It was also suggested that the committee be enlarged by a corresponding member from each of the districts.

The appointment of Mrs. Edward Johnson of Omaha to succeed Mrs. D. L. Johnson of Dunfer, resigned, as vice president of the second district will meet the approval of local club women and all of the second district. Having served as both recording and corresponding secretary of the Omaha Women's club, Mrs. Johnson is widely acquainted and well equipped for the office.

One of the most embarrassing experiences that Omaha club women have had since they were organized was at Lincoln last Tuesday at the meeting of the executive board of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs when the expected endorsement by the Omaha Commercial club of their invitation to the federation to hold its annual meeting in Omaha next October failed to materialize. Considering how frequently the Omaha Women's club has been and is still called upon by the various men's organizations of the city to lend its support financially, morally and otherwise to the many public enterprises, it is not surprising that the Commercial club should be so far from endorsing the invitation of the Omaha Women's club and a promise received that the desired endorsement would be telegraphed Tuesday afternoon. The telegram did not come, and the invitations of the Hastings Women's club, the mayor and Co. local club women may find a grain of comfort, however, in the assurance that the failure of the Omaha Commercial club to second their invitation to the federation was not due to a lack of good intention. Their request was considered at a meeting of the club Tuesday afternoon and endorsed the invitation of the Women's club was mailed Tuesday afternoon.

The nursery committee of the Child Saving institute will hold its annual ball at the Grand Hotel on December 7 and 8. The place of the sale has not yet been announced.

Five new and one reorganized unions have been organized in the Omaha Women's Christian Temperance union during the last two months. Cedar Rapids, Union, Lawrence, Inavale and Webster county have effected new organizations and Superior union has reorganized with a promising membership.

After nearly seventeen years the disrupted Iowa Women's Christian Temperance union has united again. The union was celebrated at the recent annual convention of the Iowa organizations. The Iowa women have been united and the work has stiffened in strength as well as numbers.
