

ONLY ONE REFUGE FOR MAN

Evangelist Torrey tells His Auditors that Haven is in God.

DEVIL IS SMART AND HIS WAYS DEVIOUS

Points Out Many Ways in Which He Lures the Lascivious Into Sin—Assures His Hearers There is No Hell.

There is one safe hiding place from commerce, from sin, from the devil, and from the wrath to come, and that hiding place is one man—the God-man.

So spoke Evangelist R. A. Torrey in his sermon at the Auditorium Thursday night. After first declaring the inability of man to get away from the pangs of an awakened conscience, and his powerlessness to break away from sin, he turned to the Divine Being, Dr. Torrey turned to consider the devil and his work.

"There are not only devils all around of a Divine Creator," he said, "but every where there are footprints of the enemy of God and man. He entices man with filthy wiles, or he catches him with subtle and alluring deception.

"In an eastern city not long ago, I saw a man come meekly down an alley toward a pile of empty beer kegs—a broad-shouldered man, who might once have been erect and handsome, and a phylloxera was bent and haggard. He stopped at the kegs, and, looking about, to see that no one was watching him, drew from beneath his ragged coat a tomato can, into which he strained the dregs of stale beer from the kegs. Then he laid the can of beer under his coat and ambled toward the street, with that man was the devil had him by the throat.

"My friends, the devil has many men by the throat with a bold not of the tomato can sort. It is not filthy, but attractive. The devil is cunning. He draws men to a host of philosophical fabrications, theories called religions; there are theosophy, esoteric Buddhism, spiritualism, Christian Science, Dowdism and the rest of them. Their existence surely means there is a devil.

Devil is smart. "Ah, the devil has no lack of brains; he is a man of intellect and philosophy. If you think that a man is a fool because he is a Christian Scientist, you are the biggest fool of all; some of the brightest men in the country are Christian Scientists.

Of course, when you take up Mary Baker Eddy's book, which makes as much sense backwards as forwards, it is hard to believe that brainy men follow her; but they do. Take theosophy, or spiritualism, and it is the same thing; eminent jurists, the scientist, the statesman, are their adherents. When you think of all the people who are misled by these things, you realize that it is not so much by vice as by subtle deception that the devil catches people.

"You ask how I know there is a devil. The man who banks on the Bible comes out ahead in the long run, and the man who will not believe the Bible comes out in the rear. The Bible says there is a devil; I believe there is a devil because the book says so. But I have a better reason for believing there is a devil—it is because my personal experience tells me there is one.

"But, thank God, there is a hiding place for the devil, and that is God. I know there is a God. The untutored savage knows that. A European traveling in the desert one evening saw his Arab guide bow down in worship, and he asked the guide to whom he was praying. 'To God,' was the answer. 'But, how do you know there is a God?' asked the atheist. 'Can you see that? Can you hear that? Can you put out your hand and feel Him?' In the morning he remarked to the guide, 'A camel was prowling about the tent last night. 'How do you know?' asked the Arab. 'Did you see him? Did you hear him? Did you put out your hand and feel him?' 'No,' was the response, 'but there are his footprints.' The Arab waved his hand toward a sky studded with the glories of the dawn. 'Behold, there the footprints of the Creator,' he said.

Believes There is a Hell. "You need also a hiding place from the wrath to come. I believe there is a wrath to come because the Bible teaches it, and because my reason tells me so. There is also a hell.

"A young man, handsome and winsome, falls into what he calls love with an innocent girl; leads her on to ruin. While the girl goes the inevitable way, dies a horrible death and is buried in the father's fold, the young man is forgiven by society, is courted by designing mothers who get him, because they see a high position all his life. Don't think that in another life judgment will not fall on the man who ruined that girl. Of course, there's a hell.

"A so-called successful man keeps a high priced lawyer to tell him how far to go in commercial transactions without being arrested. He rides in a carriage and rolls up millions. When he dies there are whole columns of eulogy in the newspapers and a beautiful mausoleum is erected for him. All about are the cries of the widows and orphans of the men he has robbed. Do you think that man will not have to go up before a just God, who is not blinded by a few millions, and that he will not have to answer for his infamy here on earth?

"But you don't need to wrong another person to invite the wrath to come. The Lord will say, 'What did you do with my holy day? What did you do with my holy day? What did you do with my holy day?' Can you answer without fear? Of course there's a hell."

The result of last night's meeting was eight conversions. Scores Church Members. Thursday afternoon Dr. Torrey scored church members who came, play cards and go to theaters. He told them God would be more likely to answer their prayers if they would desert from these things, displeasing to God. After the meeting some of the ministers and deacons who have been in the habit of playing pool and billiards at the Commercial club got together and had a serious talk.

Tonight Mr. Jacoby, the reformed "rowder," will tell the story of his life.

SENSATION IN Y-STERDAY'S HEARING

Another Woman Whom Defendant is Alleged to Have Annoyed Confronts Him While He is on Stand.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Hannah Graham, the woman who claims the fastest of Enrico Caruso on a charge of annoying and mistreating her in the monkey house in Central park last Friday may appear in police court tomorrow to press the charge against him. Just before court adjourned tonight at the end of the second day's hearing of the charge against the singer, Deputy Police Commissioner Mathew, who is conducting the prosecution, said that he had little more evidence to offer. There was only one witness for the prosecution yet to be heard, he said, and when that witness appeared he would require less than ten minutes to complete his case. Should she appear she would have a sensation far greater than any which has marked the two days' hearing in the Yorkville police court.

Woman Confronts Defendant. "Today was not without sensations. When court adjourned last night, Caruso was on the stand and his examining time was resumed when the case was taken up today. Deputy Police Commissioner Mathew questioned the defendant closely concerning the four years when he has appeared in this country under the direction of Heinrich Caruso. Caruso acknowledged that he was in New York in 1904 and that on February 4 of that year he sang in 'Parafal' at the Metropolitan opera house. It was at this point that the real sensation of the day came. The wide doors directly behind the magistrate's bench swung open and a woman in white, with a white veil drawn closely over her face stepped into the room.

"Caruso, look upon this woman," said the deputy police commissioner as the woman raised the veil and revealed her features. "Did you ever see her before?" The defendant, looking quickly at her, and then replied: "No, I have never seen her."

"Did you not," on the afternoon of February 4, 1904, during the second act of 'Parafal,' stand behind this woman in the Metropolitan opera house and subject her to exactly the same indignity to which it is charged Hannah Graham was subjected to at the Central park monkey house?"

"I did not," replied the witness, hotly; "I never saw the woman before, so far as I can remember."

"It is not so that on that afternoon you only this woman, but other women, were the victims of most indecent actions upon your part," persisted Mr. Mathew.

Caruso's counsel broke in with a vigorous objection, which was sustained. "One of the diverting features of today was the appearance of the defense of Dr. Adolph Denziger, former American consul at Madrid. Dr. Denziger testified he was in the monkey house at Central park during Caruso's visit there Friday and that he observed an improper action on the singer's part. He declared that he had voluntarily come forward to testify in the singer's behalf because he knew him personally, knew him to be a gentleman and a benefactor of humanity. He said he acted with the best of intentions at the time he was in the building.

The police court room again housed a great crowd today and hundreds were unable to gain admittance. It was reported in the court room that the woman in white was a member of the chorus of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Heinrich Conrad, director of the Metropolitan opera house, described Caruso's mannerisms much as did Dr. Denziger. "It would be more kind to speak of it as a habit," replied Mr. Conrad.

Several other witnesses testified as to Caruso's inability to speak English and the hearing was then adjourned until tomorrow.

Six-Hundred-Barrel Plant May Be Established Here by New York Man.

Prof. Fear of New York City is in Omaha for the purpose of determining the possibilities of establishing a six-hundred barrel and ten-hundred barrel meal plant here. Mr. Fear is working with Commissioner Child of the Commercial club in this matter. Thursday morning Mr. Fear talked with a number of grain men on the subject.

Mr. Fear was president of the Boone, La. Cereal company, whose plant burned down last May. After the loss the company decided not to rebuild at Boone and since that time Mr. Fear has been looking around for a desirable location. He has been attracted to Omaha and Council Bluffs, with preference for Omaha. His interest is manifested in the fact that Mr. Fear believes considerable Iowa trade would be supplied from Omaha if the plant should be established here.

CONGRESS WITH PRESIDENT

Kinkaid Says Winter Session Will Simply Carry Out Policies of Roosevelt.

Congressman Moses P. Kinkaid of O'Neill passed through Omaha Thursday on his way to Washington for the short term of congress convening December 2.

"Going to carry out the president's policy, you know, we are all for Roosevelt," was the judge's reply as to what the winter session would do. "I regard the recent elections as another strong endorsement of the national administration in general and an expression of the people's faith in Roosevelt in particular."

Judge Kinkaid said that O'Neill they were building a new $20,000 hotel and the country around was progressing steadily.

KANSAS HOME FROM SEATTLE

Congressman Harry B. Zimmerman returned Thursday morning from Washington state, where he was food-brood for several days and was talking to the people. Zimmerman was bound for Seattle on business, but gave up that part of his trip. He described the food as talking to the people and thousands of feet of lumber in his city. While on the train Mr. Zimmerman spent a day with Senator La Follette. Zimmerman said when the Omaha congressman discussed national affairs, Senator La Follette expressed his sorrow over the death of Edward Rosewater.
