BOYLES COLLEGE OPENS IT'S WINTER TERM

Boyles College is easily the most successful business college in all Nebraska, and it today occupies the model business college building in the United States—the only building in the entire state of Nebraska devoted wholly and solely to business college purposes.

The president of Boyles College was for years a successful stenographer, and cach and every member of our faculty have been successful stenographers, book-keepers or telegraphers, right out of the big, busy world. Ours is the highest sal-aried faculty employed in any business college in this section of the country. Our graduates are the highest paid stenographers, bookkeepers and telegraphers in the city of Omaha. Do you want to join their ranks? Write for a catalogue today, or, better yet, pay us a visit temerrow.

DISPEL DISCOURAGEMENT

Don't you think for a minute that you can't success!

You never can tell till you try. There's greater or less success possibilities in everyone. Dun't take anybody's word for it that you can't schieve success—big it did.

The Atlantic cable was a mere impractical, hare-brained draam, but it happened. The first step in your journey towards success in the business world will be a proper preparation for the business world. Opportunity shall await you and a good salary will be yours right from the start.

That means that you must have a business college education—the kind of an education that President Garfield has said is of more benefit to the rising young man or young woman than a university education. The importance of your first position in the business world depends wholly and solely upon the character of your preparation.

True economy will tell you to get the very best business education towaitle—it will make you shun the catebpenny attraction of a low inition fee. Your own good sense will tell you that you will probably be most guccessful if you graduate from the most successful business college, inas much as no one can impart the secret of success as well as those who have been successful themselves.
