FIVE-CENT FARE TO OMAHA

Mass Meeting in City Hall Wednesday Evening to Discuss Question. The discussion at the public meeting on Wednesday night in the city council chamber of the question of a 5-cent fare between this city and Omaha, it is expected, will bring out a large gathering. Residents of the western part of the city, who started the campaign for the reduced fare between the two cities and have been actively pushing it since, are expected to attend in large

Sentiment concerning the 5-cent fare is livided, and the proposition undoubtedly will meet with more or less opposition from certain of the retail merchants of the city. who fear that a reduced rate will result in some of the trade drifting across the iver. On the other hand, advocates of For imported wines and liquers and Budthe 5-cent fare contend that this fear of the retail merchants is not well founded. Adweates of the reduced fare believe that it would result in further building up the city by bringing familles from across the river o make their homes in Council Bluffs, where, it is contended, living is cheaper than in Omaha. Members of the West End and West Soundl Bluffs Improvement clubs, which started the campaign for the 5-cent fare, are waging a vigorous campaign and some seem to think that the city council chamber will be inadequate to accommodate the crowd expected at the meeting Wednesday
