

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Move Made to Resume the Repairs of the Asphalt Paved Streets. MONEY TO COME FROM THE GENERAL FUND Johnson Introduces Street Car Transfer Ordinance Similar to Zimmerman Measure Which Saw Rests in Placohole.

The last and most important item of business to be brought before the city councilmen at Tuesday's meeting was the condition of Omaha's asphalt pavements. Shortly before the council adjourned Councilman Zimmerman presented the matter and urged the public necessity of instructing the city engineer to make needed repairs and pay for same out of the general fund, which will have a surplus sufficient to cover considerable pavement repairs, aside from a small fund already arranged for through individual contributions and a trilling balance in the city fund. A concurrent resolution was offered, and was referred to the city attorney, for an opinion. The matter will be brought up next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Indications are the pavements will be repaired this season.

Another street car transfer ordinance was introduced. Councilman Johnson being the one to slip his name into the bill with an ordinance identical therewith as the one recently offered by Councilman Zimmerman and which has been bringing heavily in a dead in the council chamber. One of the political spongers of the city hall declared that it was thought that if the democratic councilman would introduce a so-called universal street car transfer ordinance the measure would receive more cordial support. This ordinance provides for the issuance of transfers at any and every junction point, enabling passengers to reach their ultimate destination on one fare, including the possibility of returning to the starting point on one fare. The ordinance was referred to the committee of the whole.

Care of Contagious Diseases. Health Commissioner Connel's recommendation for the establishment of a house for the care of persons afflicted with contagious diseases was referred to the committee of the whole. It was Dr. Connel's idea that a house be rented, as the city was in need of such an institution. He referred to such diseases as diphtheria, typhoid fever, etc.

Refrigerator of the Barker block protested against an electric motor in the Redick block, the protesters asserting the vibrations of the motor caused the Barker block to shake and placed that building in danger of collapse. Referred to building inspector.

Mayor Dahlman recommended painting and repairing the city hall this year out of the general fund, the controller having advised that such funds would be returned to the proposed improvement. Referred to buildings and public property committee.

Phillip S. Reed and C. J. Emery were granted the right to erect a temporary structure from structure at the southeast corner of Twentieth and Farnam streets for the purpose of an ice rink, the enclosure to be known as Messrs. Reed and Emery furnished a satisfactory bond to protect the city in this matter.

The bond of D. J. Curran, water commissioner-elect, was approved. It was resolved that judges and clerks at the recent city election should each receive $3 as the city's share for services performed.

Comptroller Lobeck's communication regarding $40,000 collected in excess of amounts originally set aside for the various funds and against which warrants could not be drawn until the excess should have been collected was referred to the committee on finance and claims.

DIAMONDS—Frenzer, 13th and Dodge. SHRINERS HAVE A BANQUET Complimentary Affair to the Arab Patrol of Tangleur Temple.

The Masonic temple was filled with re-turbated "Shriners" Tuesday evening, and persons familiar with the habits of this mysterious sect of noble good fellows can readily guess there was something worth while going on. The occasion was a reception given by the divan of Tangleur temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, to the members of the Arab patrol. The latter are the willing and enthusiastic members who perform the ritualistic work and form the body usually in less illustrious organizations called the "degree team."

In appreciation of the faithful labors of the patrol fully 250 Shriners from Omaha and some from neighboring towns donned dress suits and Turkish headgear to show proper honor to the guests. A preliminary secret meeting and program of short talks and music was held, after which all repaired to the dining hall, where dozens of tables and plenty of waiters waited. While refreshments were being served an orchestra of several pieces furnished music.

WOMAN STATES HER SIDE Mrs. Griswold of Vermont Replies to Husband's Plea for a Divorce.

Mrs. Fred A. Griswold of Elmora, Vt., who was made defendant in a suit for divorce filed here two or three weeks ago, has written a letter addressed to the Court at Omaha and sent in a registered letter in care of Postmaster Palmer. The letter was sent to the clerk of the district court by Mr. Palmer. In the letter Mrs. Griswold makes serious accusations against her husband and charges him with abusing and neglecting his family, leaving a lot of debts to be taken care of.

In his petition Griswold charged his wife with kicking and beating him and bringing him into general disrepute by her conduct. He asks her $5,000 worth of property and is himself penniless. In the letter Mrs. Griswold says she put "a sheriff" on his trail for a few days, with the result that she has some evidence regarding his relations with other women that might have bearing on the divorce case. She offers to bring 10 witnesses to Omaha to prove what she says. There is a sad strain running through the letter when she speaks of her husband's leaving. He kissed her and their two boys goodbye, she says, and told them he was going to Al-bany. He did go there, but took the night train for the west, and she has not seen him since.

In quiet language and uncertain spelling, she continues: "I was told by a friend that Griswold is here and that he will show himself. I married him because I thought he was a good looking young man. We were both poor, only had our clothes. He said he had $5,000 worth of property. That is not so. In a clipping from a Vermont paper which is enclosed in the letter it suggested that some others would also like to see the color of the $5,000 he left his family. Mrs. Griswold is referred to as a woman who stands high among her friends and the paper said she is now working in Concord. Mrs. Griswold, on a paper enclosed in the letter, says their 15-year-old son is working hard to pay off the family debts and that the creditors are taking his weekly wages as he earns them. She says it will take him until he is 21 years old to cancel all the obligations his father left.

According to the newspaper clipping, Griswold was a politician of more or less reputation in Vermont and was engaged from a deputyship of some kind shortly before leaving home.

Del Morse, a farm hand from Sappo county, is in the county jail as a result of investigations made by Superintendent Elliman of the Humane society and a criminal charge will be filed against him in the South Omaha police court. Just what the charge will be the county attorney has not decided, as the case is a somewhat peculiar one.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Packers Pleased with the Operation of the New Pure Food Law. TROUBLE ONLY IN SOME MINOR DETAILS Anticipate a Growing Trade in Meat Products with the Nations of the Orient—Factory on Jetter Spurr.

A good authority in packing house circles at South Omaha said yesterday that, after the three months' operation of the recent legislative enactments for the insurance of public safety by the standard of pure food stuffs, the packers were confident that all of the details of the law would be carried out. "The packers," he said, "are anxious to comply to the full extent of their ability. Of course, in a sweeping general provision, there are points of friction and in some cases we think unnecessary handicaps are imposed on food products of certain classes. We do not care to mention these cases in particular, but it is possible that by general agreement a slight modification may be sought through amendatory legislation. The clause of inspection may be made less rigorous by a broader interpretation of some of the requirements. In the main the law is a positive benefit."

As to general market conditions the same authority looks for great development in the meat industry in the oriental trade. This trade grew to quite significant proportions during the Russo-Japanese war. Since that time the trade has diminished slightly, but the sales, instead of going to the commissariat of the belligerent nations, are being diverted to a wide range of territory. If the oriental people can be induced to become meat consumers their enormous population will be a great factor in the demand. Meats heretofore have been a small part in the annual diet of the Chinese. It has been a staple in Japan. Since the war the Japanese trade has continued quite thrifty. There appears to be little chance of establishing an extensive meat business in the Philippines. The reason of this is the nature of the Austroriparian climate. The climate of Austroriparian territory is adapted for the cheap production of beef. Cattle here are marketed for $3 to $5 which in the United States would bring $6 to $8. In European markets the South American republics are becoming a more potent factor. Argentina, especially in the northern portion, where climatic conditions are favorable, produces enormous herds. The South American cattle are remarkably free from infectious diseases. Condemnations in the slaughter pens are much less frequent than among the stock of North America, owing to a more extensive trade. The informant remarked that the seven trunk lines now in prospect to the Pacific coast would prove still insufficient before the lapse of a few decades. This, he declared, was a remarkable contrast to the times when one line with a practical monopoly of the entire west coast, at any expense, referring in this to the Union Pacific some twenty years ago.

New Fire Team Satisfactory. G. W. Mason of the Fire and Police board declared last night that the new fire team recently purchased by the city council was satisfactory in every respect, being perfectly sound and serviceable. It was a mistake, he said, to say that the majority of the board did not agree to recommend its purchase. Three members of the board did examine the horses in the Exchange stables and agreed to recommend their purchase. The order never passed at any regular meeting of the board, but was quite as much an agreement nevertheless. The team is now being broken in at fire hall No. 1, Saturday of this week at 4 p. m. in the fire and police departments will engage in a grand review at Twentieth and L streets. The members of the Board of Fire and Police commissioners will inspect both departments.

There is little mention of the late of the long needed patrol wagon for the South Omaha police department.

Project of Jetter Spurr. J. M. Jetter stated yesterday that the project was fair for the establishment of the Wentworth furniture factory on the line of the Union Pacific spur. The company has practically negotiated the purchase of two acres of property from the Jetter Brewing company at Thirty-second and Y streets. On this tract the company contemplates erecting an $80,000 plant, which will employ from 100 to 200 men. The company proposes that the business use of the city shall purchase 10 per cent of the stock of the new plant, which is now being organized in the hall of Dan Hannan's residence and remained during the evening dinner hour. On leaving he discovered that someone had entered the hallway and secured the coat. Mr. Hannan has a large bull dog, which usually keeps guard, but it failed to bark in the hallway. The intruder was of the time indoors. The family is of the opinion that the intruder must have been familiar with the premises and knew where the dog was at the time of his visit. No other articles were missed.

Magic City Goals. R. M. and Paul Griggs, Jetter's Twenty-eight street, leave this evening for Searay, Ark., where they will engage in farming. Earl Griggs and his brother will remain here through the winter. The family has been in South Omaha for the past ten years.

The condition of A. C. Howe has much improved within the last twenty-four hours. His speedy recovery is almost assured. Jetter's Gold Top Beer delivered to all parts of the city. Telephone No. 3.

The ten South Omaha chapters of the Degree of Honor will unite this evening in their annual ball at the Workers' temple. The friends of Miss Ayer, who gave a pleasant surprise last evening. About twenty of them joined in an evening of frolic.

The eighth grade of the Junipero school has the only perfect record of attendance and punctuality for the month so far as reported.

The funeral of Henry E. Martin has been postponed from today until Thursday at 3:30 a. m. to await the arrival of a sister of the deceased.

Miss Lydia E. Langhorne was calling on her South Omaha friends yesterday. She is comfortably situated at the Bethany hotel at present.

L. P. Larkin was fined $2 and costs for interrupting a funeral Monday afternoon.

DUMMY IS ROBBED OF COAT

Sign is Assaulted by Stranger and Then Deprived of His Winter Wrap.

Chilled to the marrow by the breeze in evidence Tuesday morning, Harry Frye, a stranger in Omaha, assaulted and robbed an inoffensive clothing store dummy of an overcoat Tuesday afternoon, but the proprietor of the store, Mr. Cornblith, 119 Douglas street, reached to the rescue of his "dummy" and took Frye to the station. Frye was fined $5 and costs in police court Wednesday morning and given a road lecture for his heartless offense in depriving the "dummy" of a covering during the cold weather.

HENS' UNION OUT ON STRIKE

Egg Layers' Walking Delegate Declares Non-acceptance of White Work for a While.

Nebraska hens have been called out on a strike by the walking delegate of the Egg Layers' Union. All the late summer and fall they have been working very vigorously and now all the staunch unionists have refused to do anything at all. Omaha people will have to pay 20 cents a dozen for their Thanksgiving eggs this season—that is, if they want eggs that even appear to be fresh. Eggs are about 5 cents higher than they were just before Thanksgiving last year and considerably higher than the average of the Thanksgiving season for a number of years. Local dealers expect December to be a heavy egg-producing month.
