AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Quick Wit of Switchman Dumps Runaway Train in the Ditch.

FREIGHT CARS PILED UP AND SOME BURN
Rock Island Freight Trains Collide and When Engineer Jumps One of the Trains Takes the Back Track.

Quick work on the part of a Union Stock yards switchman probably saved one of the most disastrous wrecks in the history of the Rock Island road. Rock Island freight No. 97, which is made up by the heavy engines from Council Bluffs, was pulling westbound to the Albright station at about a quarter of seven morning. As the train neared the station the crew saw the headlight of the eastbound freight No. 94 appearing at full speed. To avoid a collision Weaver, the engineer, reversed his engine and when the two engines appeared about to strike, both he and his fireman jumped off. The two engines came together, but the westbound train was already moving fast on the reverse and the impact was slight. After that the train ran wild back through the South Omaha yards. The Union Stock yards switchman saw the train approaching and with great forethought threw the switch and turned the train, then moving at the rate of about thirty miles per hour, upon a line of dead refrigerator cars. The collision with these cars occurred under the L street crossing. About six of the cars were wrecked and the contents scattered over the siding. The stove in the way car of the train ignited the woodwork of the cars and the South Omaha fire department was called out and had some difficulty in extinguishing the blaze. If the engine had not been turned the wild train would have run into the Union depot in Omaha at a terrific rate, provided it had not wrecked the early passenger train on the way. As it was, the loss was about $10,000 from the wrecked cars.

Mysterious Accident at Packing Plant.

A mysterious accident occurred at an early hour Tuesday morning at the Omaha Packing plant. Michael Mitchell, a man employed as an ash trucker, was found by his companions lying unconscious at the ash dump, having sustained a fracture of the skull and injuries to his right arm. The man was discovered at about 5:30. He was unconscious and when he partially recovered could tell nothing of the cause of his condition. The workmen surmise that his ash truck upset and struck him, knocking him down. Otherwise they are at loss to account for his serious injury. Possibly he might have been attacked by some unidentified parties, but there is nothing to indicate such an attack. He was removed to the South Omaha hospital where an operation was performed to lift up the splintered bone and relieve the pressure on the brain. It is thought he will recover provided no unlooked for complications set in. The man lives at Twenty-first and S streets, South Omaha. He is one of the night gang at the Omaha company's boiler house.

Discussion of Annexation.

The Highland Park Improvement club will meet at the Lincoln school tonight to discuss many important public questions. Of late a strong sentiment has been developed in favor of annexation and the members will be given a chance to present their opinions. The president of the club has secured the services of several men who favor the move and there will be some probably who will take the opposite side of the question. Aside from this the club is much interested in the project of a viaduct on west P street. This street is now being graded from Twenty-sixth to Twenty-ninth, or to the east approach of the viaduct as it is now planned. The question of an additional bond issue for the sewers and the manner of its presentation to the legislature will be topics of discussion.

Progress on Malt Plant.

The Bryson-Peterson malt plant at Twenty-ninth and B streets is taking on extensive proportions and the new elevator has the frame raised. It has been found that the cost of the plant will be much greater than at first contemplated. It is now believed that fully $100,000 will be expended before it is complete. The small plant belonging to the company, has sold about 50,000 bushels of malted grains during the past year. While it is not hoped that this plant will be able to supply all of the local demand, yet it will take a large share of it.

Appraising Damages in Alley.

The board of appraisers for the paved alley in block eighty-one, South Omaha, met with the citizens and attempted to come to an understanding as to the damages arising from the change of grade of the alley. Its finding will be reported to the city council next Monday night. There

Strength Comes

Not From What You Eat, But From What You Digest.
Most people eat most foods without discrimination—it matters little what. Few stop to think what that food does for them. This is the first turn on the road to dyspepsia. Reckless disregard of the proper choice of food, rapid eating and improper mastication, are the unquestioned causes of all stomach disorders from the slight ache to the malignant cancer.

There is nothing more revolting than a dyspeptic stomach—a very vat for putrefaction, sending forth its poison throughout the entire system, depressing the brain, befouling the breath, souring the taste, deadening the muscles, incapacitating the liver and kidneys for their work, debilitating the heart, choking the lungs and clogging the bowels.
All of these disagreeable and dangerous conditions are due to the improper digestion of food and the consequent assimilation of poison. What else can be expected? If the food lies in the stomach, if the system is constipated, fermentation is the natural outcome. It shows itself in sour watery risings, belchings, heartburn and painful breathing.
There is only one way to relieve this condition. If the stomach refuses to digest your food put something into it that will. Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets are nothing but digestives. They are not medicine. They work when the stomach will not.

Each tablet contains enough pepsin, diastase, golden seal and other digestive elements to reduce 2,000 grains of ordinary food to the proper consistency for assimilation into the blood.
Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets are absolutely pure. There is nothing harmful in them as shown in their endorsement by 40,000 physicians in the United States and Canada.
Ask your family physician his opinion of Stuart's Dyspeptic Tablets and if he is honest toward you he will state positively that they will cure your stomach trouble whenever it may be, unless you have waited too long and have allowed your disorder to develop into cancer.
Act today and begin to end your suffering. A free trial package will be sent to your address upon request. The 10-cent size packages are for sale at your druggist's, F. A. Stuart Co., 61 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

is considerable trouble over the matter and no less than three lawyers, engaged by protesting parties, were on the ground.

CROWDED STREET CAR VICTIM

John Burns Knocked from Rear Platform and Has Skull Fractured.
John Burns, 115 North Twenty-ninth street, South Omaha, aged 17 years, lies in a critical condition at the Omaha General hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries, a victim of the excessive overcrowding of the South Omaha street cars. How Burns was injured has not been definitely learned, but a woman and a man who said they saw him fall assert he was knocked from the rear platform of a southbound car to which he was hanging by a grip on the rear platform door and was thrown on the viaduct at Sixteenth and Mason streets.

The accident occurred early in the evening, during the rush hours, when the South Omaha cars are taxed to a greater extent than any other line in the city.

Every inch of the rear platform is occupied by a passenger, and particularly on the rear platform door men and women hang on, no matter with what discomfort. Among the latter was Burns, but he must have leaned over too far, so that he was caught by a car bound in the opposite direction and swept off. He was at first taken to Brandeis's drug store, Sixteenth and William streets, where he was attended by Dr. Swoboda, and the police were notified. When the patrol wagon arrived with Surgeon Pugsley, Dr. Swoboda ordered the man taken to the hospital immediately, where he later underwent an operation.

Burns was said late in the evening to have a fair chance to recover, although the fracture was severe and he had internal hemorrhages.

The man is a laborer and has a wife and child. The patient had not recovered consciousness Thursday afternoon and his recovery is still doubtful. Dr. Swoboda said it would be a most remarkable case if Burns recovers, as the back of the skull is completely crushed in, the brain being plainly exposed to view.

HOLDUP SUSPECT IS CAUGHT

Thomas Sullivan Thought to Be the Pal of Morrison, Already in Jail.
In the opinion of Detective Mitchell, the way to handle holdup men is to catch them in the act and take them to jail. A remark on the subject to this effect was dropped by the officer apropos of the arrest of Thomas Sullivan, 235 M street, South Omaha, by the police of that city Wednesday night, whom Mitchell later brought to the jail here. According to the belief of the police, Sullivan is a holdup man and is the one who escaped of the two whom they say they caught in the act of holding up Lester McCormick at Twelfth and Douglas streets Monday night. As the two officers were approaching the corner and were about half a block away, they were attracted by the action of a man, and believing a holdup to be in progress, they ran ahead and, revolver in hand, pursued the two, who started to run as they came up. Mitchell captured James Morrison, but the other got away.

McCormick was very much intoxicated and his statement that he was robbed could not be given much weight at first, while Morrison asserted McCormick had started a fight with them. They were both held, however, and a search begun for the missing man. Meanwhile, when McCormick sobered, he discovered he was short $28.

The result of the search was the arrest of Thomas Sullivan. When brought here he held his mouth shut tight and refused to say anything. The South Omaha police gave Morrison and Sullivan a most unfavorable reputation.

BOY KILLED BY REVOLVER

He and Older Brother Were Examined by Weapon When it Was Accidentally Discharged.
Floyd Ingalls, aged 14 years, living with his parents at 241 North Twenty-second street, was accidentally killed by the discharge of a 2-caliber revolver in the hands of his brother, Galen, aged 22, about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. He died before medical attention could be secured. The bullet took effect directly over the boy's heart, and death resulted within a few minutes. When he was told his brother was dead, Galen became frantic, and running back to the house from the doctor's office he searched for the weapon that had done the deed with the avowed intention of taking his own life. His grief was terrible and it was necessary to watch him carefully to prevent him from doing himself injury.

The small caliber revolver had just been taken home earlier in the evening from the gunsmith's, where it had been oiled and repaired. After supper the two brothers sat in the kitchen of their home, handling the firearm. They loaded the gun, and Galen had it in his hand when it suddenly went off and the boy fell over. With alarm but not stopping to determine the extent of the injury, Galen picked his younger brother up in his arms and as fast as he could run started for the office of Dr. W. L. Ross, 211 Lake street. When he arrived the doctor was out, and he laid the boy on the couch. When Dr. Ross entered five minutes later life was extinct. The dead youth was the son of Harry Ingalls, a printer at the World-Herald. Conner Hraley took charge of the body.
