SLABAUGH QUITS WITH SUNDERLAND

Present County Attorney Cannot Prosecute Any More Members of Exchange, as His Term of Office Closes.

J. A. Sunderland will be the last of the defendants in the Coal trust cases to be tried by County Attorney Sisbaugh, as his erm of office expires January 3. The remainder of the coal men will be turned over to County Attorney-elect English for tich action as he may see fit to take. So far he has not indicated what he will do except he will consider the cases on their merits after he goes into office.

County Attorney Slabaugh had hoped to efore giving up the office. The Howell asc consumed several days more than was expected when the trial started and the absence of H. H. Baldrige from the city prevented the Sunderland case from going Wednesday, as had been planned. On this account it has been impossible to begin the hearing before Monday. The trial will require at least a week, it is believed,

Special interest attaches to the action which Mr. English may take in these cases, ewing to the fact of his approval during his former term as county attorney of the bylaws under which the Coal exchange is sperating and was operating when the indictments were brought, out of which has come the conviction of the president of the

No New Panel Called.

With the close of next week the present jury panel completes its term of service none has been called for the week the holidays. As twenty days must elapse between the calling of the jury and the first day of service none can be called now to serve before the second week in Janpary. By that time County Attorney Siabaugh will be out of office.

It is feared some difficulty will be had in getting a jury next week, as the Howell jury was secured from this panel and a majority of the jurors were examined as their fitness in that case. Both sides, owever, have indicated they are ready to go ahead and unless something new turns up to prevent it the trial will begin Monday. County Attorney Slabaugh promises ne new evidence not brought out in the Howell hearing.

TROUBLE OF TRANSFER LAW

New Crdinance Causes Street Car Company Considerable Difficulty.

COMPARISON OF THE TWO MEASURES

Johnson Ordinance Which Was Passed Over Mayor's Veto Almost Identical with Zimman's that Was Defeated.

The Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company is now wrestling with the new transfer ordinance passed by the city council Tuesday evening by a vote of eight to three over Mayor Dahlman's veto. This ordinance was introduced by Councilman Johnson and contained slight modifications over a similar ordinance offered by Councilman Zimman, but which measure did not receive enthusiastic support at the hands of the other councilmen. The Johnson ordinance differed from the Zimman ordinance in providing that street car companies may adopt a system of transfers to enable them to carry into effect the provisions of the ordinance. The street car officials held that it would be a hard proposition to devise a system that would carry out the intent of the new ordinance and

This ordinance provides that the street car company shall issue transfers "upon request," no reference being made to the time passengers shall make such request, the interpretation being that a passenger may ask for transfer at his own convence, which privilege the street car people said militated against carrying out the full provisions of the ordinance. When the matter was discussed in the council chamber several councilmen contended that freuently a passenger does not at time fare is paid know whether a transfer is needed or not, particularly in the cases of strangers in the city, and thus passengers should have the right of demanding a transfer any time during his trip.

The purpose of the hospital is to have a place where diseases not provided for by the emergency hospital may be isolated.

The medical society also endorsed the idea of having a coroner's physician, such offics to be filled by the county commissiontive January 10, is given in full; The medical society also endorsed the idea of having a coroner's physician, such office to be filled by the county commissioners and to carry a salary commensurate with the work, the contention being that the present fee of $10 allowed by the county for an autopsy is not sufficient to command the skill that should be mployed. A committee of the society will work with the county attorney in drafting a bill to cover this feature.

PROBLEM HARD TO SOLVE Belle of Ram Cat Alley Returns Again and Her Disposition Confronts the Police.

The charms of the society of Ram Cat alley proved too much for Verna Clark, a colored woman with a reputation for thieving, who was given an opportunity to leave Omaha about three weeks ago, and Chief Savage is again confronted with the problem of ridding the cit; of her presence, as she has returned to her usual haunts within the last few days. The woman had a chronic habit of being arrested when any one was robbed in the proscribed district and her connection with many thefts was proven beyond doubt. In order to save future trouble she was given an opportunity to leave Omaha and went to Lincoln But she couldn't stay in that quiet little place, she said, and was arrested in the crowd of colored women who were taken to the station Monday afternoon after John Brown of Denver had had his pockets picked of $450 while in a house at 11756 North Eleventh street. During her sojourn at Lincoln the Clark woman had picked out another name, her artistic tastes deciding upon the suphonious cognomen of Tidna Vanderbilt." She was released from eastedy before her identity became known and a warrant has been issued for her arrest for the offense in which sentence was suspended when she agreed to leave Omaha,
