

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

What May Be Had in Way of Dainties at the Omaha Markets.

GAME, FISH AND VEGETABLES PLENTY

Butter and Eggs Are Still Up in Price and Careful Buyers Are Giving More Attention to Oleomargarine.

A Dinner Menu:
Roast Turkey, Chestnut Stuffing,
Creamed Mashed Potatoes,
Lima Beans, Stuffed Cranberries,
Apple Custard Pudding,
Hard Sauce, Nuts,
Coffee.

With the exception of green corn and fresh peas there is practically nothing in the way of fresh vegetables that is not to be found on the racks of the Omaha grocers just now. Furthermore, although much of this supply has come hundreds of miles, it is perfectly fresh looking, as though it had just been picked from the home garden.

Rhubarb is the newest thing, having come in the middle of the week. It was only a local shipment, however, and so the supply is small. The stalks are not very large, but are of good quality and sell for 30 cents a pound. Tomatoes, offered at 20 cents a pound, are not as tempting as they were a few weeks ago. Cranberries have gone up a bit, or rather a higher-priced variety is being offered at 20 and 25 cents a quart, while others sell for 10 and 12 1/2 cents a quart.

Wax and string beans are 15 cents a pound; leaf lettuce, 5 and 10 cents, and head lettuce, 10 and 15 cents a head, according to size and quality; cucumbers, 15 cents each; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; Brussels sprouts, 25 cents a bunch; artichokes, 20 cents each; new carrots, 5 cents a bunch; celery, 10 and 15 cents a stalk; new beets, 15 cents a bunch, three for 25 cents, and other beets 25 cents a peck; sweet potatoes, 25 and 30 cents a peck; Irish potatoes, 15 and 20 cents a peck and 60 and 75 cents a bushel; turnips, 25 cents a peck; cauliflower, 15 cents a pound to 25 cents a head; green onions, 5 cents a bunch; spinach, 20 cents a peck; water cress, 5 cents a bunch; summer squash, 5, 10 and 15 cents each.

Pineapples are being offered by a few dealers for 15 cents each, and while they look a little green, they are of good quality. Strawberries are 40 cents a pint box, and while the demand justifies their importation, they are not the tempting looking fruit such as comes in the spring. California navel oranges sell from 15 to 40 cents a dozen, according to size, and Florida oranges from 10 to 20 cents a dozen. Kumquats are 35 cents a basket; pears of fair quality, 25 cents a basket; oysters, 25 cents a small basket; Tokay grapes, 15 cents a pound, and Malaga, 20 cents a pound. California persimmons are 20 cents a dozen, but the Minnesota fruit will be in in a day or so and will be a little cheaper. Grape fruit has dropped again and sells from 10 to 20 cents each for fine large fruit. Dates are 10 and 15 cents a pound and figs 20 cents a pound. Apples sell for all sorts of prices. Fine eating apples bring from 10 to 50 cents a bushel in the stores, but some delicious fruit is being sold on the streets by the farmers for as low as 30 cents a bushel.

Cocoanuts are 5 and 10 cents each; popcorn on the cob, 5 cents a pound; maple sugar, from 15 to 20 cents a pound, and honey from 17 to 20 cents a comb. Mushrooms are $1 a pound.

Butter and eggs are at a standstill, or, if anything, a little cheaper than they were last week. At least there is no tendency to change prices more than once a day which marked last week's market. The best grades of package creamery sell for 25 cents a pound, although package creamery of standard make that, once out of its factory, would be difficult to distinguish as an inferior grade, costs 30 cents a pound. Tub creamery, and it is sweet and nice, sells for 33 cents; country butter for 25 cents and cooking butter from 20 cents to 25 cents a pound. Thirty-three cents a dozen is the highest price asked by the larger stores for their strictly fresh eggs, while the first grade of candied eggs cost 25 cents a dozen, and cracked eggs 20 and 22 cents.

The advance in the price of table butter and butter of all kinds that that matter, has created an immense demand for oleomargarine and great quantities of it are being used for table as well as cooking purposes. While it is uncolored, it is not the white, univerting-looking product that people ordinarily have in mind when they refer to oleomargarine. It is of light yellow color and quite as palatable as well as good-looking as much of the so-called creamy butter. It comes in three grades, the low grade selling for 12 cents a pound and two pounds for 22 cents. The premium grade is 14 cents or two pounds for 28 cents and the high grade 22 cents or two pounds for 40 cents.

The promised advance in the price of domestic cheese has not come yet and domestic cream cheese still sells for 20 cents a pound. Domestic Swiss 20 cents, Imported Swiss 35 cents, domestic brick 20 cents and cottage cheese 10 cents a pound.

The fish markets have practically everything just now except the varieties of fresh fish forbidden by the game law. Fresh-broiled lobster is 55 cents a pound and shrimp, the peeled, 35 cents and the headless 45 cents a pound. Oysters are 40 and 50 cents a quart in bulk and from 40 to 60 cents in cans. Some very choice deep sea bass was offered Friday morning at 20 cents a pound.

One must pay for the head and feet of poultry now-a-days, for it is sold by many merchants on. The fowls are drawn, however, and dressed. Chicken is 12 1/2 cents a pound, turkey 20 to 22 cents a pound, duck 15 cents and geese 12 1/2 cents a pound.

Notwithstanding the fact that foodstuff of almost every kind costs more this winter than it has for many a season, it is still inescapable for the woman who dictates the day's menu to allow her meals to be become monotonous just because the dainties and the extras are expensive. As a matter of fact, keeping up a table depends as much upon a woman's ability to manage as upon what the market happens to afford. Variety is the keynote, but it takes a lot of planning as well as ingenuity to provide this variety. But scores of cook books have materially lightened this task of planning. Scores of practical receipts for tempting dishes may be found for as few looking and a woman is easily looking in pride or something else who cannot supply her table with a variety of inexpensive substantial as well as dainties. The possibilities of the fruits cannot during the summer, combined with a bit of cream or other dressing, are almost unlimited, while puddings are among the easiest and most numerous desserts. Many a plain meal of meat and potatoes has been helped out wonderfully by a bit of relish and a hot bread, while some dainty dessert has the power to give to a meal a most satisfying finish.
