claimed the right to be reelected as a member of the opposing party.
One of the best-posted parliamentary advisers of Speaker Cannon, in discussing the Porter request today, said: "To grant the request of the member-elect that he be formally admitted as a full-fledged republican would be suicidal, even if compliance were possible. It would open up too many complications. How? Well, I will endeavor to explain: Suppose that there should be two candidates for speaker and two candidates for each of the elective offices of the house. Now, imagine a hot contest and an even division of the republicans-elect between the two tickets.

The admission of a democrat, or a man who owes his election principally to democratic votes of the republican caucus might result in that member deciding the result. And if one democrat should be admitted, why not ten or a hundred?
"Not only would such a course directly affect the organization of the house itself, but it would follow that that one vote of those of the democrats so admitted to an opposition party caucus would naturally affect the organization of every committee of the house and incidentally would have a direct and important bearing upon the legislative policies. Never yet has a member of this house been elected by one party and immediately admitted to the council of the opposition, and there is no likelihood that the speaker will endeavor to create a precedent for the political benefit of Mr. Porter.

"The members of the democratic congressional committee are 'sure' on Mr. Porter. That gentleman asked the support of the committee, but the day following his election he announced himself as a republican. He will probably have a very cool reception by the democrats, and if he is not permitted to enter the republican caucus he will be the only man in the house without a party.
Representative Kinkaid today recommended the appointment of M. D. Jordan to be postmaster at Adelia, Sioux county, Nebraska.

Pure Food and Dairy Products.
Dr. Wiley, chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, has made a statement which is calculated to cause consternation in every butter-making community in the United States. Dr. Wiley says that, as he reads the pure food law, which goes into effect on the first of January, it will be unlawful after that date to use any coloring matter whatever, in butter or cheese.
At the present time the creameries of the country, of which there are several thousand, do not send out a single pound of butter made from "dry folder" cows' milk, which does not contain coloring matter of any kind. Generally, this is found to be an aniline dye, which in itself, is a deadly poison. Of course, the quantity of this aniline dye is so small in each pound of butter as to make it absolutely harmless.

The Department of Agriculture seems disposed to hold that the law proscribes all deleterious substances in foods, no matter how small the quantity may be. For 100 years of more butchers and farmers all over the world, have used saltpetre in the preparation of corned beef, hams, etc., but the congress of the United States has suddenly discovered that saltpetre is, in itself, injurious to health, and in consequence meat packers and butchers whose products enter interstate commerce will not be permitted to use this drug.
Every cheese factory in the country, and especially those manufacturing cheese for the European market, uses annatto, to give its products the color demanded by the trade. During nine months out of every twelve the milk produced in the dairies of the United States is so devoid of natural coloring matter that cheese without foreign matter would be as white as milk itself. White cheese is not marketable in England, and if the Department of Agriculture has annatto, it will practically ruin the export cheese trade, already seriously injured by the competition of Canada.

But the worst blow to the dairy interests which the "anti-coloring" order will bring about, will be the disadvantage under which the dairymen will labor because of the competition of the manufacturers of oleomargarine. The latter are permitted to place their product on the market under a tax of 1/2 cent per pound, provided it is not artificially colored. Uncolored "oleo" is rather more yellow than uncolored butter made during the winter months, and if the Agricultural department insists that the pure food law bars butter, artificially colored from interstate commerce, the "oleo" will make serious inroads in the butter trade.

awful amount of money. I see that he is the head of the committee on expenditures for the Treasury department. The congressman, appreciating the situation and the sincerity of the farmer, replied that Cousins did handle an all-fired lot of money.
"About how much do you think the congressman handles a year?"
"Well, it's pretty hard to tell off-hand. There's the pension appropriation bill, which carries about a hundred million, and the War department budget and the Navy department supply bill, they run about fifty millions each, so that I should say Cousins must handle in a year three or four hundred millions of dollars."
"Good gracious, that's a lot of money," said the farmer.

RAILROADS IN CAR SUPPLY
Burlington and Northwestern Deny Responsibility for Coal Shortage.
SITUATION IN NORTH DAKOTA
Railways Blame Dealers, Dealers Blame Consumers, and Both Dealers and Consumers Blame Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The telegram sent yesterday by the Interstate Commerce commission to the presidents of various railroad systems calling their attention to complaints of coal shortages and failure to transport the necessities of life, brought replies today from Vice President Pennington of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railway, George B. Hartley, the president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway, and Marvin Hightall of the Chicago & North-western railway. None of the answers, however, is from the railroad companies supplying the territory where the shortage of fuel is stated to exist.

Pennington telegraphed:
There is no blockade of freight or shortage of cars on our lines west of Minneapolis, except what is due to bad weather. The best flow of coal is being sent to the president Harris of the Burlington telegraphed:
