

CHRISTMAS DINNER HINTS

Omaha Market Affords All Sorts of the Substantials and Dainties.

MENU FOR THE GREAT HOLIDAY FEAST

Omaha Maids and Matrons Furnish Recipes for Little Dainties and Sweets to Be Made by Fair Hands at Home.

- Christmas Dinner Menu. The following menu for the Christmas dinner has been furnished the readers of The Bee by Mrs. Estella E. Fead, the well known local caterer...

The housekeeper may just about what her fancy may dictate for the Christmas table, for, excepting a very few things in the way of fresh vegetables and fruits, practically everything is to be had in the local market.

Chestnuts are 30 cents a pound; plums, mixed nuts, English walnuts, pecans and Brazil nuts are 25 cents a pound.

Head lettuce is going to cost more after this week and the quality that sells for 25 cents a head now will sell for 30 cents soon.

Eggs are about the same in price, but there is a decided improvement in quality—that is, the quality of the first grade eggs.

The package creamery butter is still selling at from 30 to 35 cents a pound, and tub creamery from 27 to 30 cents a pound.

Fresh cider sells for 30 and 40 cents a gallon. New honey is 18 cents a comb.

Poultry is being sold with head and feet on, but is drawn and dressed. Many of the larger markets make a special Saturday price, however, and it is worth watching for.

Those who have not yet selected the Christmas tree had better not wait much longer. Only enough to supply the local market was brought in this year and the early buyers will get the choice.

MILL MEN FROM MILL CITY

Three Minneapolis Capitalists Will Come to Omaha to Study Conditions.

OBJECT IS TO LOCATE PLANTS HERE

Charles T. Peavey is Promoting Movement to Make Omaha Center of Flour and Meal Manufactories.

Three capitalists of Minnesota, representing three separate milling concerns, will be in Omaha within a month or two to investigate the city's advantages as a location for mills.

Charles T. Peavey, formerly in the grain business in Omaha, is authority for this information. He is interested in making the Omaha-Council Bluffs gateway a milling center and has spent three or four weeks lately in Minnesota endeavoring to get millers to look into the situation.

"There are people in Omaha who, for obvious reasons, have never wanted mills here and so far they have succeeded in keeping them out," said Mr. Peavey. "A year ago a large milling concern sent its representatives here, expecting to locate a plant. The wrong people got hold of them and put conditions in such a false light that the company went to Kansas City and put $200,000 in a plant, which has just been completed."

"I think these tactics will not prevail again, as millers all over the country are noting the increasing advantages of this market, and the local public is becoming alive to them."

Elevator Capacity Growing.

"We have an elevator capacity of 6,000,000 bushels and it is still growing. We have as low rates as any market, and the roads for the most part have recently given us just distributing rates. There are plenty of cheap sites on both sides of the river. We can draw from all of Nebraska and part of South Dakota, and can mix spring and winter wheat more cheaply than other centers. For that matter, though, there is no necessity of mixing spring wheat with the winter, for bakers are realizing the fact that winter wheat alone makes just as good bread and they are refusing to pay premiums for spring wheat flour."

"I understand, though I am not at liberty to use any names, that certain country millers of Nebraska are figuring on building a mill here. They ought to hurry, for I firmly believe Minnesota capital will open plants here at no distant date, and the first in business will have the best opportunities."

MERCHANTS' MEETING A GO

Will Not Be Abolished as Was Feared by Interstate Commerce Commission Ruling.

Merchants' meetings at Omaha, the existence of which was threatened by a railroad ruling said to be in conformance with a decree of the Interstate Commerce commission, will be continued. The railroads have decided that they can grant certain concessions and still keep within the pale of the law.

So said a member of the Omaha Jobbers and Manufacturers' association after speaking from Commissioner Guild of the Commercial club, who is in Chicago.

The railroads have decided to issue the certificate at reduced rates or a guarantee from any jobbers' association that the number of merchants visiting the market at one meeting will exceed 100. The Omaha Jobbers and Manufacturers' association will readily accede to this condition.

EDITORIAL A MORAL TONIC

Answer of Sprecher to Werts in Label Suit from Hot Political Fight.

A not political fight in Colfax county in the fall of 1904 is being tried in Judge Estelle's court in the label suit brought by George W. Werts, formerly county attorney of Colfax county against John C. Sprecher, editor of the Seluoyser Free Lance and a well-known populist politician. Werts bases his suit on ten items referring to him which appeared in the Free Lance during the fall of 1904. He is seeking to recover $5,000 damages to his reputation. Sprecher, in his answer, asserts the publication of the articles was intended as a "moral tonic" and for the public good.
