E. S. Kenison Leaves Game Saying Will Lick First Enemy He Sees and Tragedy Follows.

MINATARE, Neb., Dec. 29.-(Special Tele gram.)-Sam D. Cox, editor of the Sentinel and one of the most prominent men in western Nebraska, was shot and killed at & o'clock by E. S. Kenison, proprietor of the Minatare hotel.

The killing is regarded as cold-blooded in every detail. It is hinted, with some degree of color, that it is the outgrowth of a strong campaign on the part of Cox against the liquor traffic.

Kenison was playing cards and, a few mo ments before the tragedy, losing several BRYAN CORRECTS INTERVIEW hands, remarked he was going up the street and lick the first man he did not like. He walked into the White drug store and called

Cox outside. No one was near enough to hear the conversation, but they were soon scuffling and Kenlson then drew a gun and fired three shots, the third one entering Cox's left breast and he fell. He made but one remark to those who came to his assistance, saying that he was gone.

The coroner's jury is on the scene and an inquest is being held.

Mr. Cox was secretary of the North Platte given out by him in London several months Valley Water Users' association and has ago and repeated several times since, been identified with irrigation matters for namely: He does not think the time has several years. the following statement: For twenty-one consecutive years I have attended the Nebraska State Teachers' as-sociation I do not hesitate to say that the seasion just closed was the most suc-cessful meeting this association ever held. This is said in no disparagement of all the other successful meetings during those twenty-one years, for every one of them was a splendid success. There was one thing however, more prominent in the car. Among the dead man's personal efwas a splendid success. There was one thing, however, more prominent in the session this year than in any other meeting which I have attended. I mean the spirit of fraterality that was manifest on every hand. There was no political wire pulling for the honors of the association. The election of Frincipal A. H. Waterhouse to the presidency of the association came without solicitation on his part as a fit-ting tribute to one who is a school man, who despises the legerdemain tricks of the politician. Mr. Waterhouse has no su-perfor among the high school principals of the United States. He will have the unant-mous support of every school man and school womain in the state to make the next association a greater meeting than the one just closed. The success of the meeting this year is
