At an adjourned meeting of the city cour cil held Saturday night three Omaha public tion were the street car, gas and electric light companies.

Councilman Bridges offered an innocent ooking little resolution which he explained was a reminder for the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Rallway company that on December 11 the city council passed a "universal" transfer ordinance, and that on January 10 it will be expected that the street car company carry out the proviscoars in Alaska, even in the winter," said lons of such ordinance. Then Councilman Davis offered a concurrent resolution that 2.1 cents per hour per arc lamp be deducted from the electric light company's bill against the city for all "outage" of arc lamps, instead of 2 cents as is now the case. Mr. Davis said he had figured it down carefully and arrived at 2.1 cents as a correct figure, while City Electrician Michaelsen showed that 2.05 would be the figure, according to his reckoning. Both ordinances have already been explained in

Mr. Funkhouser also had an ordinance providing that the city electrician shall have control of all gas and electric city lights and of all electric meters in the city. In addition the electrician shall have under his supervision meters by which he may determine what current the city is receiving under its contract with the electric light company. This ordinance was referred to the lighting committee. The city clerk was directed by resolution to advertise for bids for apparatus needed by the gas commissioner for tests of gas and meters and for the city electrician in the matter of keeping a check on currents to the arc lamps.

An ordinance appropriating $3,500 for the maintenance of a hospital for contagious diseases was passed on final reading. In connection with that ordinance a concurrent resolution was adopted to authorize the mayor to enter into a contract with the Visiting Nurses' association, which organization will have charge of the hospital, the health commissioner, however, to be in real authority. "Your committee, appointed to draft suitable resolutions touching the death of our comrade, F. J. Etter, respectfully submit:

"That Comrade Etter filled in a larger measure than is given to most men the horizon of good and useful citizenship. It was his good fortune in the vigor and strength of early manhood to be able to render long, courageous and patriotic service to the country of his adoption. As a soldler he was loyal, fearless and efficient. When the conflict was over, the danger passed and peace assured, he devoted the same energy, industry, integrity and loyalty to the performance of the plain duties of an American citizen. In every station to which the vicissitudes of life called him, he bore well his part. The final roll call found him performing faithfully all the services incident to a high and important public trust. He leaves to his family, friends, acquaintances and comrades the best heritage possible—the example of a useful and well spent life. It is proper that this well earned tribute to his memory be entered upon our records, and a duly authenticated copy be furnished the family of our dead comrade.
