On Trail of Robbers. PLATTSBURGH, Neb., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff Manspeaker is of the opinion that the two men who entered the Burlington depot in York and robbed the night operator were in this city Saturday. They were seen in the city and asked him the way to Nebraska. The smaller of the two bought a pair of high-top boots from Mr. Sberwood in this city and wore a black corduroy cap, a changeable overcoat and a pair of corduroy pants, and had a very hard looking countenance, but would not look anyone in the face. The one who inquired the way was weighed about 150 pounds. After receiving a card of the holdup Sheriff Quinton at once telephoned to the postmaster in Nebraska and learned that the men had been there, but were gone. The sheriff is of the opinion that they are the men wanted in Nebraska City also, where they forged checks on a farmer.

YORK OPERATOR TELLS OF FIGHT Operator Morris More Anxious to Save Company Money Than His Own. YORK, Neb., Jan. 2.—(Special.)—C. C. Morris, the Burlington operator, finds that he suffered more injuries from the attack made on him by burglars than what he first realized. He is suffering from injuries in the back and side. This morning he was able to give a better description of the men who tried to murder him than he did at the time he was taken to the hospital. One is a tall man of heavy build, weighing about 160 pounds, and believed to be a negro. The other is supposed to be a negro, but perhaps he may be a white man. His hands were either black or very dirty. Mr. Morris states that he was unaware of the presence of the two burglars until they commanded him to hold up his hands and then looked into the revolver. His first thought was, "I must save the company's money or my bondmen will have to pay," and waited his opportunity. He was then taken to the hospital, where he was hit with a heavy coil shovel, knocking him senseless. He struck at the other one, hitting him and severing part of the scalp, from which he bled profusely.

Citizens here are loud in praises of the bravery of Mr. Morris and believe that the Burlington company should reward him by promoting him to one of the best jobs on the road. Mr. Morris lost $23.80 and saved the company's cash. It is believed the company will present him with the amount of money that he lost.

Burlington detectives are here and every effort is being made to find the robbers. It is believed that they are unable to get any distance from York and that they are hiding either in York or at some farmer's.

GAS KILLS TWO IN A NIGHT

Styler Kirtly Believed to Have Committed Suicide at Union Hotel. DEATH OF FRANK KUNC ACCIDENTAL

Kirtly, Laborer from Iowa, Asks for Room With Gas When He Registers With Clerk.

Death by gas of two men in quick succession here reported from different hotels to the police station Wednesday morning. Styler Kirtly, a laborer, whose home is believed to be at Stuart, Ia., went to the Union hotel, Eleventh and Mason streets, for his gas, and Frank Kunc, a cook, picked out a room at the Prague hotel, Thirteenth and William streets, for his fatal dose, which is supposed to have been inhaled accidentally and with no intention of self-destruction.

Kirtly was found dead in his room at the Union hotel about 9 a. m. Wednesday, with one gas jet turned on. From several circumstances surrounding the case it is believed to be a clear case of suicide. Coroner Brailey took charge of the body and will hold an inquest.

Kirtly went to the hotel about 5 p. m. Tuesday and asked to be assigned to a room that was lighted with gas, as he said he wanted to write some letters. Nothing further was seen of him until a chambermaid detected the odor of gas coming from his room Wednesday morning and, after breaking in the door, the man was found dead in his bed. Police Surgeon Harris collected the body and the man had evidently been dead for hours. The case was on at full force and all the windows and the transom had been tightly closed. Letters found among his effects indicated that he came from Norfolk, but had a mother living at Stuart, Ia. Letters were also found among his effects, which were on at full force and all the windows and the transom had been tightly closed.

Within an hour after the suicide of Kirtly was reported to the police the call was received from the Prague hotel, where Kunc was found dead in his room about 10 a. m. by John Buresh, a clerk at the hotel. His room was filled with gas, as the windows and door were tightly closed and one of the gas jets turned on to its capacity. It is believed Kunc accidentally turned on the gas, as no motive for his taking his life could be assigned by any who knew him.

Kunc was last seen about 9 p. m. Tuesday, when he left the office of the hotel and for some time it was believed he was not around when he failed to appear Wednesday morning until the clerk detected the odor of gas in the hall and traced it to the room occupied by Kunc. The door was broken in and the police station notified. Dr. Pugley responded and found the man beyond human aid, as he had been dead for several hours.

Kunc was a Bohemian and had lived at the hotel for four years, but had resided in that vicinity for over twenty years. Little is known of his personal affairs and it is not known if he has any relatives in the city. Coroner Brailey will hold an inquest over the body at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

It is believed Kunc was slightly delirious, as he jumped out of a second-story window at St. Joseph's hospital about four years ago when he was at the institution being treated for an affection of the throat. He was also at the county hospital for some time and was released about two months ago. The attendants at the latter hospital said he acted strangely at times and it was evident his mind was not normal.

While at the county hospital Kunc told fellow patients that he came from Clarkston, and an investigation is being made to ascertain if he has relatives at that place.
