

Saving is Made Easy by the Magnitude of our Clearing Sale Bargains

Special Sale of Dainty Undermuslins

We feel proud, and believe justly so, of our magnificent showing of muslin underwear; the most complete assortment of best values we have ever offered. The major part of our stock was purchased months ago, before the sharp advance in prices on cotton goods, so that we can sell at prices as low as most merchants paid.

MURDERER CONFESSES ACT

Judge Hargis said to have inspired Killing of Dr. Cox.

JUDGE CARNES WILL DEFEND COURSE

Jurist Says Refusal to Dismiss Case Against Hargis Was Within Scope of His Official Power.

JACKSON, Ky., Jan. 11.—Conditions were easier since the writ of prohibition was granted preventing Judge Carnes from presiding in the case of Judge James Hargis, charged with the assassination of Dr. B. D. Cox.

Judge Carnes left for Frankfort this morning to explain to the court of appeals his actions. He said that his ruling as to refusing the request of attorneys for the prosecution to quash the indictment against Hargis and his method in choosing an error were within the discretion of the court. He said that if he was prevented from trying Hargis he would go into the case of the other four men charged with the same assassination.

Judge Carnes was closely guarded in his room in the hotel before he left.

John Smith, one of the men under indictment for the murder of Dr. B. D. Cox, has made a confession. He says Hargis and Edward Callahan induced him to enter the conspiracy against Dr. Cox, promising that he would be acquitted and to give him a job, and that Callahan gave him $100 after the killing, saying Jim Hargis told it to him. According to the confession three men shot Dr. Cox.

Smith's words in describing the murder are: "So judge and Ed put us three, Spicer, Abner and myself, under the barn shed and sent Hargis to stand on the corner, and when Dr. Cox left his office and started home and got opposite where we were in hiding, Hargis was to call him, so we would know it was Dr. Cox."

CAMPBELL SCORES KNOCKOUT

Omaha Man Proves Too Much for Harry Lewis of Galveston.

WINDUP COMES IN THE THIRD ROUND

Buckles and Dodd Give a Clever Exhibition as a Curtain Raiser and the Bout is Declared a Draw by Referee.

Harry Lewis of Galveston was knocked out by Tommy Campbell of Omaha in the third round of what was to have been a ten-round bout Friday night before the Osthoff Athletic club. Near the end of the third round Campbell landed a hard left swing to Lewis' jaw and followed it by a left swing which put Lewis to the mat for the count. Considerable doubt was expressed as to the extent of the injuries received by Lewis, who lay on the floor with his face covered and showed wonderful recuperative powers after the referee, Pete Leck, had counted the ten strokes over his prostrate form. It was evident that Lewis had had enough of the medicine of Campbell, who added another victory to his already extended list.

Lewis was not in the best of condition, while Campbell was in his usual form. Lewis displayed wonderful cleverness as an infighter, delivering many effective blows while in a clinch and protecting himself with enough of the medicine of Campbell, who added another victory to his already extended list.

BASE CRIME OF INGRATITUDE

Denver Cheap Showman Brags About Punishing Pa Bourke.

It comes with poor grace for Dreyer or cheap showmen to talk about punishing Pa Bourke for "past misconduct." Where in the world would the Western league have been without Omaha, and the other eastern towns of the last season? Those cities have without Omaha, money to carry the dead-end towns of Colorado. Denver, with all its pompous braggadocio, any tent show sporting experts, not only did not pay expenses, but fell as far back as his sister city, Pueblo. Where would he be had he not given up the ghost. And then for Denver to distribute tickets free of charge among the millionaires' retreat, went bust and had to give up the ghost. And then for Denver to brag about punishing Pa Bourke for "past misconduct." Where in the world would the Western league have been without Omaha, and the other eastern towns of the last season? Denver, with all its pompous braggadocio, any tent show sporting experts, not only did not pay expenses, but fell as far back as his sister city, Pueblo. Where would he be had he not given up the ghost. And then for Denver to distribute tickets free of charge among the millionaires' retreat, went bust and had to give up the ghost. And then for Denver to brag about punishing Pa Bourke for "past misconduct." Where in the world would the Western league have been without Omaha, and the other eastern towns of the last season? Those cities have without Omaha, money to carry the dead-end towns of Colorado.
