MEN OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Individual Responsibility in Foreign Missionary Works is the Purpose of This Important National Gathering.

The program for the missionary conven tion of the men of the Presbyterian church which is to be held in the Auditorium of Omaha Pebruary 19-22, inclusive, is complete and the first publication of it is made below. Rev. Charles E. Bradt, Ph. D., central district secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian church, is the directing head of this convention and he was in Omaha during the week completing this program.

The program shows that some of the most prominent men in the pulpit and pew of the church are to participate in this convention. Dr. Hunter Corbett, moderator of the Presbyterian church, and Dr. Ira Landrith of Nashville, Tenn., the last moderator of the Cumberland Presbyterian church before that body and the old schools united, will be here. But Dr. Corbett is best known as the pioneer Protestant missionary to China. For nearly half a century he has labored in that land and he speaks the language as fluently as though he were born there. At the last General Assembly Dr. Corbett was elected moderator and at the close of the Omaha convention he will leave for the orient.

Foreign Mission Work.

As The Bee has stated before, the pur pose of this convention is to emphasize the individual responsibility of the men of the church in foreign mission work, and it is the determination to make this convention the starting point of a thoroughly systematic movement that will knit together the men in a compact working organiza-

This anteed about a 2-cent rate from the Pacific coast and adjoining states. A special train will be run over the Milwaukee from Chicago, leaving there Tuesday night, Feb ruary 18, and other specials from central points will be run. Responses forecast a large attendance. Applications with $1 enclosed for registration are coming in rapidly. Admission to the convention will be by ticket, a limited number being distributed in Omaha.

Here is the program in full and it portends one of the biggest national church meetings that has been held for many years. SOUTH OMAHA IS ENJOINED City is Restrained by Judge Troup in Missouri Avenue Paying Case.

Judge Troup has issued an injunction in the Missouri avenue paving case to prevent the city of South Omaha from prosecuting the work of improving the street the contract with Hugh Murphy. Judge Troup held the city was not in legal position to do the work.

The court held Murphy's interest in his original contract was vested and could not be changed by the law passed afterward taking away from the city the right to have the work done. Mr. Murphy had nowever, openly renounced and abandoned his vested right in the contract and further prosecution of the work. This he had done without doing any work whatever under the original contract.

The second contract made with the mayor and the city engineer Judge Troup held to be absolutely vold and illegal, it being outside the powers of the officials to make the contract. The city could not therefore do pny work under it.

The decision leaves open the question o what the city is to do with the money voted by bond issue for the work. It is considered probable the legislature will have to pass a measure giving the city authority to expend it.

Alleged Boy Forger Held to Trial. Leonard Hutchings, the youth who tried to pass a forged check on the Myers-Dillon Drug company about one month ago and who was arrested and bound over for trial in the district court, was arraigned in police court Saturday morning on two additional complaints of forgery. > FINK APPEALS FROM TROUP Carries to Supreme Court Case Involving Taxes on Tract

County and City Treasurer Fink has appealed to the supreme court from a de cision rendered December 10 by Judge Troup on a case involving taxes on a tract of land on which the assessor had assessed the land as a whole in place of making separate assessments for the several own ers. When the scavenger suit was started an answer was filed in this case and the case tried. On the O. K. of the city attorney Judge Troup issued a decree holding that taxes from 1897 to 1901 on this tract were void, but Treasurer Fink believes otherwise and has given the case to County Attorney English to take to the supreme court. Mr. Fink said if this decree would stand it would invalidate thou-
