VERDICT IN THE ENGLE CASE

John Hamlin Held on Charge of Murdering Grand Island Woman. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Jan. 16 .- (Spe cial.)-"That the deceased Rachel Engle came to her death on Monday, January 14. at 4:30 n. m. from the effects of a gunsho wound in the back, inflicted by John G. yard. When his body was found the hogs Hamilin on August 3, 1906," is the verdict returned by a coroner's jury in the death of last night from St. Joe, where he had been the young girl who was shot during carol a week by an alleged unrequited admirer.

It is believed that John Hamlin intended to shoot both the girl and Charles A. Smith, the young man who was walking by her side at the time of the shooting. It is the first time any testimony has been taken in the case. It showed that six young people were on the way down town at 8 o'clock on the evening of August 3 to mingle with the carnival crowd. Two young women, Miss Engle and Miss Dunham, and four young men, Miss Engle's 16-year-old brother, Smith and Hamlin, both boarders at the home of the girl's parents, and Stephen Grover Cleveland Williams, as he gave his name to the jury, also a lad of only 16 years. On the way down the party, without any preconcerted plan, shifted somewhat as to their walking side by side. and Smith was walking near the Engle girl and Miss Dunham, when Hamlin, according to all of the witnesses, stepped aside as if to light a cigar under the protection of a car-it was near the Union Pacific crossing of Walnut street-and suddenly pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired two shots. One entered Miss Engle's back about in the center, severed the spinal cord, and she has been completely paralyzed from a little below the waist ever since. Death finally resulted from sepsis. Six physicians swore unqualifiedly that death resulted from the wound and that the treatment given by the attending physician and surgeon was all that could be done for her. Hamlin at the time escaped, though pursued a short distance by Smith, but was the next evening captured at Dannebrog. He did not deny the shooting, but stated that there is something back of it that the people do not know. It is believed the defense will be insanity.

Hamiln was much disturbed last night from all of the third, fourth and fifth when he heard the girl had died, but, while the sheriff took extra precautions, service is still done by volunteers. Some there is no general talk of not permitting the law to take its course. The charge of shooting with intent to kill will, no doubt,

Omega U For Sprains

and Bruises For Sprains, Bruises, Strains, Swellings and all other bodily aches and pains, Omega Oil will be found invaluable.

It's an unusual liniment. It is antiseptic and healing in its action. It subdues inflammation and soothes and comforts any pain you may apply it to. You don't have to buy bottle after bottle to get relief. Usually a 10c. bottle is all you need. It has time and again proved a blessing to those whose pains are hard to bear.

The principal ingredient in Omega Oil is a pure vegetable oil, which does not evaporate like the turpentine and ammonia so largely used in other liniments.

Omega Oil comes in mighty handy for the many little aches and pains that most people suffer from occasionally.

State Fair Board Elects Officers and Decides to Increase Speed Preminms This Year-Hog Men

Object to Express Rates.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Jan. 16 .- (Special.) -- Members of the commission to look after a Nebraska exhibit at the Jamestown exposition, appointed by Governor Mickey, will not be disturbed by Governor Sheldon, who informed them this afternoon that he would not consider their resignations, but would insist on them doing the things which they were appointed to do. With the exception of Rome Miller all the members called on the governor and laid their resignations before him. It was a new sensation for Nebraska's new governor. He promptly mmanded the men to table their resignations and suggest what they intended to do about getting an appropriation to pay for the exhibit. It was decided that the legislature would be asked for $10,000 or $12,000 for the purpose of putting on a show like the exhibit at Portland. A bill will be drawn and introduced and it will have the backing of the commission as well as the endorsement of the governor. The ommission organized some time ago by the election of C. E. Dairymen Want Laws.

The morning session was devoted to discussion of the premium lists and as a result it is assured the fair will pay more attention in the future to the speed program. J. B. Dinsmore was presented with a fine chair in recognition of his long service with the board.

Nebraska dairymen today voted to ask the legislature to create the office of dairy commissioner, to have a general jurisdistion over dairy products. It is proposed to make drastic regulations regarding the purity and sanitary conditions surrounding the production of dairy foods and give the nmissioner full scope to enforce the law. The salary to be asked for the commissioner is $1,800 a year, with four inspectors to be paid $3 a day and traveling expenses. These officers for the ensuing year were elected: Hal C. Grain Men Discuss Inspection. J. H. Hamilton of Omaha and Representative Cone of Saunders took up most of the time of the Farmers' Grain and Elevator association meeting tonight in a discussion of a proposed bill by Cone providing for a state inspector to weigh and test grain. Hamilton opposed the proposition saying the inspection at Omaha was reliable and honest while Cone argued that all private inspectors were bad. During the discussion said the Grain trust was operat ing today just the same as it had always operated, and "we rewarded the man who says he busted the trust by sending him to he senate today."

Hamilton was asked what time the Omaha exchange began to buy grain from the independent dealers. He replied: "When the man you elected senator today opened his campaign and forced us to." Another neeting will be held tomorrow.

KITCHEN AND FURAY DEAD

Entering the army as a member of the Eleventh Ohio volunteer cavalry, he put in four years of the best service a sturdy. calous young patriot of the Ohio stamp ould render. And when the war was over he tarried for a few months in his native state and then again exemplified the attributes of a wise young man by coming west. It was September 6, 1866, that he landed in Omaha. On that day last year Major Furay recalled to his son Frank Furay engaged in the grocery business in Omaha and he set up shop at Sixteenth and Dodge streets on part of the site of the present federal building. In that store he remained until 1869, when Uncle Sam again called him. This was a call to a peaceable field of endeavor, that of postoffice inspector. He was an ardent republican then and was the same throughout his life, always taking an active hand in political affairs. He held the inspectorship until 1884. While in this office he spread his acquaintance over a very wide part of the west. About eighteen years ago he served in the city council and was a member of the Board of Public Works,
