Parable of Good Samaritan Expounded by Dr. McBride. Sunday evening at the Contral United Presbyterian church, Twenty-fourth and Dodge, the pastor, Rev. R. B. A. While the parable teaches unfulness It but the expre of the Christ's own life. He came to give Himself for others, and that while the others hated Him. "The man who is down is not always to blame for his condition," said Rev. Mr. McBride, "Look at the drunkard's family tonight; poorly housed, poorly clothed, poorly fed, robbed and wounded and half dead, like the man of the parable, and whose fault is it? Among booklets recently published, the one that seems to be the most deserving of praise for its fund of general information, conciseness and attractiveness, along the lines of its subject, has just been published by the Val Blats Brewing company of Milwaukee. The work is so refreshingly devoid of all of the conventional earmarks passing comment.

The work treats of beer as a factor in practical temperance, and in dietetics, and shows that beer, as brewed nowadays, should not be classed in the same category with distilled liquors.

It is a peculiar fact that the same peo ple who refrain from drinking beer on account of the supposed amount of alcohol it contains, are frequently those who think nothing of drinking cider, which contains twice the amount.

Mr. Glenny, the company's advertising manager who wrote and planned "A Genial Philosopher," states that copies will be mailed to those desiring same, on application to the main office of the company, or to any of its numerous branches.

Chooses Him to Superintend Fall Shows Which So Delight People of Quivera

Charles S. Breed has been engaged to superintend the 1907 Ak-Sar-Ben fall shows, which for years have been given in the form of a street fair. It has not been decided just what form these shows will take this year, but Mr. Breed will have charge of that work. His success in this line for several years caused him to be sought for another year. Mr. Breed promises even at this early date to have a "greater, grander and better" show this year than ever before. He will soon begin to book attractions.

WOMAN SICK AND STARVING

Bare Shanty Without Food and Heat.

Suffering with pneumonia, and having had no food or heat for four days, Mrs. Anna Smith, an aged colored woman, was found Sunday afternoon by S. P. Morris, superintendent of Associated Charities, in bare shack near the alley at Thirteenth and Chicago streets. Police Surgeon Harris was called and had the women taken to the city jail, where she was placed in the matron's department and given medical attention. She probably will be taken to the county hospital Monday morning. The woman was found lying on a dilapidated mattress placed on a small iron cot, which was the only piece of furniture in the hovel. The floors were bare and littered with dirt and rubbish, while there had been no fire in the place during its day. occupancy by the woman. Mrs. Smith had supported herself by doing little odd jobs, but was taken sick last Wednesday and had no place to go, so crept into the shanty for shelter, the door being open and the house without tenants.

There she has remained for four days without heat of any sort and with only an occasional scrup of food. Saturday she had a little tea and a bit of bread given her by a neighbor, which was her sole sustenance since she consumed a loaf of bread which she bought last Thursday, The woman cannot tell her age, but says she has three children, the oldest of which was 11 years, when the civil war was ended. She has no relatives in Omaha and is without friends in the city.

PROGRESS OF ICE HARVEST Swift Has Half Crop, but Other Concerns Have Only Fairly

The Omaha Ice and Cold Storage company was forced to guit about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon because of the high wind. Although the weather was cold Saturday and Sunday, the lake is open where the ice has been taken out, not having frozen over again. Swift and Company has nearly half a crop harvested, but the lake will have to freeze over again to give them a second outting before they have a full crop in.
