THOMPSON BELDEN & CO.

HOWARD, CORNER SIXTEENTH STREET. OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS.

... had decided against the publication of a daily journal. The committee report was sustained. The following day the house was taken up for the discussion of printing the journal and about half of the members took advantage of the opportunity to talk. Including Walter Douglas, who talked against the bill, and then voted for it, which some of the members say is liable to become a habit of his.

Head of Lobby Bill.
After a heated discussion, in which some of the senators showed signs of losing their tempers, the senate this afternoon, by a vote of 15 to 17, killed Patrick's anti-lobby bill and apparently put an end to legislation directed against lobbyists. The roll was called after a call of the house had been made to fill several seats which were suddenly vacated after a demand had been made for a roll call. After all the senators but one had taken their places the call of the house was raised.

The Patrick bill was killed in the committee of the whole, where the roll is never called. The record vote came after the senate had resumed its sitting on a motion by Patrick that the senate do not concur in the recommendation of the committee of the whole that the bill be indefinitely postponed. The vote was as follows:

Phillips voted first in the negative and changed his vote after the roll call had been completed. In order, he said, to permit further discussion of the measure. The standing vote in the committee of the whole was in favor of postponing the bill. The negative was not taken.

an amendment placing the enforcement of the proposed law in the hands of the chairman of the committee on military affairs, and providing for a court-martial and for the branding and dehorning of anyone found lobbying or eavesdropping. Wilcox of Frontier, who was in the chair, promptly ruled the amendment out of order, and the debate in earnest began on a motion of Patrick to recommend the bill for passage. Burns of Lancaster got the floor and spoke against the bill. He declared the members did not want to build a high board fence around themselves. He said the bill cast a reflection on every member of the legislature. Patrick replied by declaring the bill would not shut out the constituents of the members unless they were paid lobbyists, and then it would only require a public hearing before the senate or a committee or by printed report. A joint debate between Patrick and Burns followed.

"I don't think the gentleman from Lancaster is afraid of lobbyists," said Senator Patrick, in closing.

Senator Burns jumped to his feet and shook his fist toward the Barry county senator.

"The gentleman from Lancaster is not afraid of any man God ever made," he roared. He continued that no matter what law was passed he would continue to hear what people who consulted him had to say. King of Phila said the measure was too vague. He thought it would prevent superintendents of state institutions from talking to the members and would scare away his constituents, while it would build up a class of professional lobbyists.

Randall, Goodrich and Wilson spoke against it, while Sackett, Root, Wilcox, Cedar, Sibley and Epperson spoke for it. An attempt was made by the friends of the bill to postpone action on it, but it failed. King moved to postpone the bill indefinitely and the motion carried, eighteen voting for the motion. After this action was taken the committee of the whole adjourned.

Patrick Dies Fighting.
The next struggle came when the senate convened again. Patrick moved the report of the committee of the whole with regard to the bill be not concurred in and demanded a roll call. Randall called attention to the fact that several of the seats which had previously been occupied were now conspicuously vacant, and Wilcox moved the call of the house. The motion carried and the sergeant-at-arms locked the doors. The seats refilled immediately.

and McKesson moved the call of the house be raised, and this was done. The roll was called with only Gould, who is out of the city, absent.

When his name was called Wilcox of Frontier, who had been in the chair at the meeting of the committee of the whole, asked permission to explain his vote. He was granted leave, but was called to order by McKesson, who declared he was arguing and not explaining his vote. McKesson ruled later he was arguing and not explaining his vote, and by vote he was granted five minutes' time. He declared at previous sessions both bodies had been harassed by the lobbyists.

"And no one knows it better than Senator Burns of Lancaster," he said in conclusion. Burns objected to this remark and threatened to "dress Wilcox down," but he was cut off by the continuation of the roll call. After the final defeat of the bill the senate adjourned until 10 o'clock.

Senate Cuts Out Postage.
The senate at the afternoon session refused to concur with the house in an appropriation for postage stamps to be furnished daily to members of the house. The bill appropriating money for the expenses of the session was amended by striking out the word "postage." The vote was 19 in favor of a motion by McKesson to concur in a report of the appropriation committee that the word "postage" be stricken from the bill.

The house early in the session, after three attempts, voted the members of the allowed five 2-cent stamps daily. In order to make the action effective it was necessary to appropriate money to cover the expense. This was included in the general appropriation bill passed by the house. A long discussion was engaged in over the question in the senate at the afternoon session, the result being it was made a special order for 2:30 in the afternoon. The action of the senate included the carrying out of the resolution in the house and members will have to buy their own stamps.

The senate at the afternoon meeting passed through the committee of the whole a bill by Root of Chicago removing the $5,000 limit in suits for damages due to death of a relative by negligence. Another important bill by Root, which was passed by the committee of the whole, was one providing for the removal of the supreme court shall not reverse a case on error when the whole record shows substantial justice has been done the litigants. There was no opposition to either measure.

Greater Omaha Bill Offered.
Thomas of Douglas today introduced into the senate his bills providing for the consolidation of Omaha and South Omaha. The measures were drawn up by John P. Green and are endorsed by several commercial bodies in Omaha. The delegation has not decided yet on any measure which will be supported by all of the members from Douglas county. Thomas' bills are objectionable to several members because they will shorten the terms of the Omaha and South Omaha officials. In order to secure united support it may be necessary to amend the bill by providing the consolidation shall take place January 1, 1908. The measure was first city election under the consolidation in April, 1908. This would not disturb the terms of the Omaha officials and would shorten the terms of the South Omaha officials only a few months.

Two Reform Measures.
Sackett of Gage has introduced the first bill directed at the alleged bridge trust. His bill is to prohibit the pooling of bridge contractors or the division of territory by them. It makes them liable to a municipality or person for any damage that may be done by reason of the pool and provides for a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment not more than six months. Provision is made that the books of the companies may be inspected in court to determine whether or not a pool existed.

Senator Aldrich has two bills which would radically change the present county attorney system. One bill provides for a prosecuting attorney for each judicial district and makes it his duty to prosecute all criminal cases in district court for the various counties. He must be 30 years old and is to receive a salary of $2,000 and is

REASONS FOR SAFETY

The debate which preceded the vote was the most heated that has taken place in the senate so far. Patrick called up the bill early in the meeting of the committee of the whole. Some amendments offered by the judiciary committee, which had recommended the bill for passage, were agreed to, and then Burns of Lancaster attempted to resort to ridiculing tactics by proposing

A DOCTOR'S SLEEP
Found He Had to Leave Off Office

Many persons do not realize that a bad stomach will cause insomnia. Coffee drinking, being such an ancient and respectable form of stimulation, feed realises that the drug—caffeine—contained in coffee and tea, is one of the principle causes of dyspepsia and nervous troubles.

Without their usual portion of coffee or tea, the caffeine tapers are nervous, irritable and fretful. That's the way with a whiskey drinker. He has got to have his dram "to settle his nerves"—habit.

To leave off coffee is an easy matter if you want to try it, because Postum—well boiled according to directions—gives a gentle but natural support to the nerves and does not contain any drug—nothing but food.

Physicians know this to be true, as one from Ga. writes:

"I have cured myself of a long standing case of Nervous Dyspepsia by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee," says the doctor.

"I also enjoy refreshing sleep, to which I've been an utter stranger for 20 years. In treating dyspepsia in its various types, I find little trouble when I can induce patients to quit coffee and add Postum. The Dr. is right and 'there's a reason.' Read the little book 'The Road to Wellville' in pkgs."

allowed two deputies at $1.00 each. The second bill provides for the appointment of a county auditor by the county commissioners' supervisors. He is to represent the county in all litigation and assist in the prosecution of criminal cases in district court when the prosecuting attorney cannot be present. The salary is fixed at from $200 to $500 a year, according to the population of the county.

Memorial for Judge Robertson.
The senate this morning unanimously adopted the following resolution respecting the death of W. M. Robertson:

Whereas, The senate has received the sad intelligence that death has taken from our midst our friend and distinguished Nebraskaan, the Hon. W. M. Robertson, from his home at Norfolk, Neb., on January 22, 1907, it is resolved:

Resolved, That the senate extend to the bereaved family the sincere condolence of each member. Be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be made a part of the senate journal and that an engrossed copy be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

Legislative Gossip.
"I believe the legislature will pass the bill providing for the taxation of railroad terminals for city purposes," said Commissioner Ure of Douglas county. "I have talked with a number of the members and they are leaning in favor of the bill. It is being carried out. However, I find the railroads have been sowing seeds against the bill and it will require hard work to offset the railroad work."

"I would like to see the greater Omaha bill passed," said Ben Douglas county. "But the first thing we know such a thing will be impossible. The delegation should get together and decide what measure its members can agree upon. I am friendly to South Omaha, and I would like to see a bill passed which gives the right to each city to vote on the annexation proposition. I am in favor of the delegation being a unit on one of the measures. That is what we will have to do if the legislature passes such a bill."

Scanning Street Railway Bill.
H. R. 1, the bill providing street railway companies can own stock in interurban companies is being discussed considerably since the meeting of the committee, which listened to G. W. Watters explain it, and there is an apparent sentiment for more light on the subject. A number of the members appear to think there is more behind the bill than has been told, and for that reason it is going to have hard sledding unless explanations are forthcoming. Some one has started the report that the franchise of the Omaha Street Railway company expires in 1917, and this bill is a move to head off any plan the city may have to purchase the line, which was voted yesterday did good work for the bill, and if the Commercial club heads it off it will have to be done on the floor of the house.

Attorney Kelly of the Burlington, Attorney Redfern for the Burlington Relief and C. C. Member, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, appeared before the judiciary committee of the senate this afternoon to discuss S. F. 5, the employers' liability bill, endorsed by railroad employees. McKesson is backing the bill, while the other two entirely explained what it meant and what effect it would have if enacted into law. The committee will meet again tomorrow.

J. E. Cobley and H. H. Wheeler, each of whom wants to call the bill to the state, had a round before the finance committee of the house this afternoon, and each took a poke at the other's statute. The committee came to no decision in the matter, though there are some who believe the state should not buy any statutes.

DAY OF RESOLUTIONS IN HOUSE
One On Printing Journal Brings Out Some Discussion.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, Jan. 23.—(Special.)—The house convened at 10 o'clock with Ned Brown of Lancaster presiding. Van Housen of Colfax introduced the following resolution, which went over for one day under the rules:

Whereas, President Roosevelt has publicly announced his advocacy of the income tax; and

Whereas, It is only just and equitable that the wealth of the nation should bear its just proportion of the burdens of the government; therefore be it

Resolved, By the House of Representatives of Nebraska, that the Nebraska delegation in the senate and house of representatives of the United States be requested to use all honorable means to bring about such laws as will compel a tax upon incomes in accordance with the expressed views of the president.

The committee on printing reported as follows:

Whereas, the committee on public printing to whom was referred the resolution relating to printing the house journal daily, beg to report that they have secured several bids and estimates upon the work, none of which are considered satisfactory; and that the committee therefore hereby recommends that the resolution be not concurred in and that the printed copies of the journal be not secured on the terms offered.

The resolution referred to in the report was by one of the members and provided that the house contract for the daily printing of the journal, the same plates to be used when the completed journals are printed. One moved an amendment that the report of the committee be not concurred in and that the house make a contract either for the journal to be printed or to have the same printed by the printer to each member. After a debate lasting all morning this was defeated and the report of the committee adopted.

The following resolution by Harrison of Otoe was adopted:

Whereas, in the consideration of the various bills now pending relative to the powers of the railroad commission and freight and passenger rates, it is imperative that the joint railroad committee of the house and senate have for its guidance and information all the data and facts available pertaining to these subjects; therefore be it

Resolved, That the state bureau of statistics be instructed to furnish the joint railroad committee of this legislature with all schedules of the railroads operating in Nebraska and all obtainable statistics and data concerning railroad rates, shipments and such other information as may be germane to the subject.

H. R. 163—By Henry of Holt. Memorializing

ing the congress of the United States to submit to the several states for their ratification or rejection an amendment which shall provide that the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.
