

$10, $12.50 and $15 LADIES' CLOAKS at $5 A GIGANTIC STOCK ON SALE SATURDAY

This Grand Purchase Includes All the Surplus Stock Together with Many Very Fine Sample Coats Bought From WEINER & BLOOM. 50 Waverly Place, NEW YORK

50-inch long novelty cloth coats, stylish plaid coats, the new long mixture coats, broadcloth coats, warm winter cloaks of cheviots, etc.

These are made with wide self strap, piping braid and cord trimmings, etc.

These stunning coats are in the leading colors: greys, blacks, browns, navies, tans, castors, etc. $10 Cloaks, $12.50 Cloaks and $15 Cloaks at $5

Ladies' $8.50 Cloaks—Here are long novelty and black mixture coats—good styles, heavy weight—at $3.50

A GRAND BARGAIN SALE OF Children's Cloaks

We will devote our entire Children's Section—second floor, old store—to this wonderful clearing sale of children's warm, up-to-date cloaks.

- All our children's cloaks, worth up to $4.00, made of good heavy beavers, mixtures, cloakings, etc., capes and belts, all colors, at 1.50
All our children's cloaks, worth up to $5.00, nobby long, loose Coats, of good kerseys, beavers, mixtures, etc., prettily trimmed, at 1.98
All our children's cloaks, worth up to $7.00, many sample cloaks, odds and ends and broken sizes for children, ages 4 to 14, all nobby, stylish shapes and made of the choicest materials, at 2.50

EXCEPTIONAL BARGAINS IN THE BASEMENT CLOAK DEPARTMENT

The grandest bargains in ladies' and children's winter wear ever known in America.

- All our ladies' 50c-outing flannel skirts, at 15c
All our ladies' $1.00 house wrappers, at 29c
One lot of our ladies' $3.00 walking skirts, at 98c
One lot of our ladies' $10.00 tailored suits, at 2.50
One lot of our ladies' $7.00 tailored suits, in basement, at 1.50
One lot of our ladies' $5.00 winter jackets, in basement, at 98c
One lot of our ladies' $5.00 long cloaks, in basement, at 1.98
One big lot of children's and misses' winter jackets, at 35c
All our children's $3.00 cloaks, at 98c
All our children's $2.00 wool dresses, at 50c
One big lot of small size black silk waists, at 35c

BIG MILLINERY SALE

$20-$25 Pattern Hats $5 From Mme. Juliette, 5th Av., N. Y.

Beautifully trimmed with long ostrich plumes, elaborate evening hats, etc., all the original and stunning New York Model Hats, at $5

Your Choice of All Our Fine Ready-to-Wear Hats All up-to-date new styles and worth regularly up to $5.00, at $1

ENLARGED SHEET MUSIC DEPT. Arcade

- Won't You Let Me Put My Arms Around You? By writer of "Curly" 19c
Awakening of the Birds, Companion to Star of the Sea. Ask to hear it played. 19c
Cheer Up Mary—Omaha's latest craze. 19c
CAN YOU KEEP A SECRET The big New York success, by the writer of Cross Your Heart and Same Old Moon; Special 19c
CINDERELLA By the author of "Hiawatha" and the composer of the "Gondoliers." This song is sweeping the country from coast to coast. Sing it! Saturday only. 14c
Lauterbach—The popular hit rag time on heat at the dances—by Omaha composer—Saturday, at 19c
You hear your music properly played and sung in our popular concert department. Sing it every day. Come and enjoy the concert. 19c
Paddy and Hurdler—two good two-steps—Saturday, both for 25c

Alteration SALE 1/2 Price ON ALL Men's Clothing L. BRANDEIS BOSTON STORE & SONS

The Tremendous Business that Has Resulted from Our Great Half Price Offer Leaves Us With Thousands of Odds and Ends of Men's

OVERCOATS and SUITS

These Suits and Overcoats are mostly one of a kind. Just the odd lots from men's clothing actually worth $17.50, $15 and $12.50. This is a truly wonderful chance—it may not happen again in a lifetime—your choice

Extra Special Bargains in MEN'S PANTS All the men's Pants that have been selling at $3 pair, go at half price—1.48 pair
All men's Pants that have been selling at up to $4 1/2 price. 1.98

One-Half Price on All Boys' Clothing

Your choice of all our children's $3 Overcoats and Suits at 1.48
Choice of all our boys' and children's $4 Suits and Overcoats at 1.98
Choice of all our boys' six-dollar Overcoats and suits at 2.98

We Are Sole Agents for the Highest Grade Men's Suits and Overcoats ROGERS, PEET & CO. CLOTHES at $17.50 up to $35

Men's Shoes

Old Store—Main Floor Our men's good quality winter weight shoes, worth up to $3.50, at 2.45
Your choice of all our men's Shoes worth up to four dollars at—2.85
Choice of all our cushion sole, Florsheim or Dr. Reed Shoes, $5 and $6 values... $4

Ladies' Shoes

Old Store—Main Floor Our ladies' $3 fine kid and dull leather shoes at, per pair, only 1.98
Our ladies' $3.50 Winter Shoes—special bargain 2.45
Our ladies' $4 high grade shoes, in leather and all sizes, at, per pair, 2.85
Our ladies' $5 and $6 quality Dr. Reed's Cushion Sole Shoes, at, per pair, only $4

WORK OF THE CLUB WOMEN

Y. W. O. A. Campaign for Building Funds Soon to Open.

TEAMS TO GET THE CASH ORGANIZED Systematic Effort Planned to Raise Balance Needed to Secure the "recreation of the New Building."

The following rules have been announced governing the campaign for the $15,000 to complete the building fund of the Young Women's Christian association:

There shall be five companies, consisting of one captain and two lieutenants in each company. The field shall be open to all for solicitations. When subscriptions have been secured the name of the donor shall be reported at the office.

The companies shall report through the captain each day at noon during the campaign. The campaign shall open February 5 and close February 15.

The companies are all organized and ready to begin work. The captains and lieutenants are as follows: Lavender team, Mrs. W. P. Hartford, Mrs. L. M. Alkin, Mrs. Edward Johnson; Blue team, Mrs. J. P. Tilden, Mrs. P. M. Garrett, Mrs. J. P. Bailey; pink team, Mrs. J. H. Dumont; Mrs. A. W. Bowman; Miss Mary Sumner; yellow team, Mrs. Clement Chase, Mrs. J. P. Lord, Mrs. Isaac W. Carpenter; red team, Mrs. Emma F. Byers; Mrs. P. P. Loomis, Mrs. H. F. Kellogg.

Pledge cards such as were issued during the campaign last spring will be distributed, the pledges to be paid in two installments, May 15 and October 15, 1907.

The stereoscopic views of the proposed new Young Women's Christian association building to be erected at Seventeenth and St. Mary's avenue, that were given last week at the association banquet at the Paxton hotel, will be repeated Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Baptist church.

Mrs. Phyllis F. Byers, general secretary of the association, will make the explanation and Mrs. W. P. Hartford will speak on the association work. A general invitation is extended.

Coast Women Form Club. The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs is active in every department and the work of the year is beginning to show in the organization of new clubs.

The Sixth district, of which Mrs. Max Hostetler of Sheldon is vice president, has a new acquisition in the Coast Women's club, organized Tuesday of this week. The new club has fourteen members and is officered by Mrs. J. H. Pochtmann, president; Mrs. W. Mable M. Ward, vice president; Mrs. W. T. Wallace, recording secretary; Mrs. Mae S. Wheaton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. B. Allen, treasurer. The women have organized with the sort of enthusiasm that inspires profit to all concerned and have already announced their intention of joining the state federation.

Work of the Club Women

The Twentieth Century club of Sheldon gives its annual banquet this evening. Among the guests will be Mrs. J. B. Dryden, Mrs. R. O. Holmes and B. O. Hostetler of Kearney. Mrs. Holmes will speak of a recent tour through France. The club is studying French history this year.

W. C. T. U. Campaign. The Nebraska Women's Christian Temperance union is planning an aggressive campaign of temperance work in the state for the coming year. Mrs. Frances Hovey Heald, state president, will make her headquarters at Lincoln for the next few weeks in the interest of the legislation being asked by the union. Two of the most prominent speakers in the national organization will be brought to Nebraska soon for a tour of the state. Mrs. Anna R. Simmons, lecturer and organizer of Chicago, will spend March and April here and Mrs. Mary E. Teats, evangelist and organizer, will devote February and March to Nebraska.

Sobering at Prison Life. Mrs. C. G. Sanderson, one of the most prominent women of London, and who was one of the suffragists arrested for creating a disturbance in the House of Commons last fall, has written the following letter: "A very strong movement to demand the release of women has sprung up in this country and the militant section of the suffrage society, which has formed an election at the 'Women's Social and Political Union,' is determined to force the present government into granting justice and liberty to women. It is for this reason that we disobey the laws by sitting in the lobby of the 'Sacred House of Commons' itself, and allowing ourselves, undefended, to be sent to prison, to fast and to acknowledge the power of the court or our duty to obey laws which we have no voice in making and no power to alter."

and my fellow prisoners, ten in all, were condemned to two months' imprisonment in the second division, but at the end of the first week, on account of public opinion, we were changed to the first division, and the end of the first month we were released unconditionally on account of the government's fear for the result of an election at Huddersfield. Since then twenty-one women have been taken up for forcing themselves into the lobby and sent into the House of Commons, but the magistrate condemns them now only to two months' imprisonment.

It was worth while to go to prison in order to learn the iniquity of the present prison system, and the first thing we prisoners are determined to do when we get our rights of citizenship is to set about abolishing a more humane system. Fancy shutting people up in cells twelve feet by six feet, without proper light and no fresh air and keeping them in solitary confinement for twenty-three out of the twenty-four hours! Food and heating are both bad and our last pillows have been in cells during the last cold days with the thermometer at 50 degrees. Can the most hardened criminal be improved by such treatment?

I feel sure that the advent of women into political life will help the peace movement. My father always believed that women's influence would be a more powerful one than men's. He declared himself a believer in women's suffrage.

Work of Georgia Women. Georgia club women are at work on a bill to be introduced in the next legislature providing for a compulsory education law for all children, white or black, through the primary grades. The clubs will establish more "model schools" as soon as they can raise the necessary funds, hoping by this means to place the elementary education within the reach of all children until the population becomes large enough to warrant the state in establishing school houses at intervals of two miles in the mountain districts, as is done in the lower sections.

Headquarters in Chicago. The Palmer house will be headquarters for the convention of the American Women's Suffrage association to be held in Chicago next month. Rooms may be had there from $1.50 to $3 a day. The local committee has arranged for the entertainment of a large number of women in private homes of the city. Extensive preparation is being made for the meeting and large attendance is expected.

Announcements of the Theater. A matinee will be given at the Orpheum today. The last performance of the bill for this week will be given tonight, when the curtain will ring up at 8:15 sharp.

Julius Steger, the distinguished star who is reported such a tremendous success in "The Fifth Commandment" heads the bill for the week starting with a matinee Sunday. Dillon brothers will render a number of their own songs. Clara Beasely's cats Musical Avocets, xylophonists; Lina Pantser on the bounding wire; Knight brothers, and Sawtelle; Ollie Young and brother, the marvelous hoop-rollers, and the kindred.

Miss Alberta Gallatin, the charming young actress who is now playing her first engagement at the Boyd theater in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," is winning her way with all who go to see her. The play is one of interest, being a story of love in the day of Queen Elizabeth, and is set in an environment of sixteenth century scenery, with its atmosphere of courtliness, romance and domineering ways of the rich and powerful. Miss Gallatin has a role of much difficulty, but she makes Mistress Dorothy one to love rather than to chide for her waywardness and steadfastness of purpose. A matinee will be given this afternoon and the engagement will continue until after Sunday evening.

At the Burwood theater the last performance of "The Unforeseen" will be given this afternoon and evening. On Sunday afternoon the new bill for the week, "Lady Windemere's Fan," a charming comedy of English life, will be put on for its first performance.

NEW STAR SEEN AT BOYD'S

Alberta Gallatin Makes Her Bow to Omaha Audiences.

PLAY AND COMPANY BOTH GOOD

"Sign of the Cross" at the Krug Gets Attention from Smaller Crowd Than Merits of Performance Deserve.

Alberta Gallatin in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," a romantic drama in four acts, by Charles Major. The cast: Sir John Manners, Walter Pennington; Sir Malcolm Vernon, Arthur Ashley; Sir George Vernon, Dorothy a father; Paul, George Young; James, Kent Dan, the smith, Alexander Jordan; James, the servant of Vernon, George Young; Earl of Leicester, Kent Dan; Dorothy Vernon, Alberta Gallatin; John Miller; Lord Stanley, Richard E. Webster; Queen Elizabeth, Florence Racey; Lady Maude, Anna Valenska; Lady Hilda, Margaret Reeves; Junnie Faxton, Ethel Harrington; Bess, a cook, Adelaide English; Dorothy Vernon, Alberta Gallatin.

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is as much of a stranger to a majority of Omaha people this morning as she was yesterday; for they did not turn out en masse last night to see the play or to greet Miss Alberta Gallatin, who is making her first appearance in Omaha along with a play that is also new here.

Miss Gallatin suffers for reason of her being a stranger, and coming unheralded by the "trumpet and drums of fame." She has established herself in certain quarters of the east as an actress of ability, but to us she is unknown. And, apparently, not many were acquainted with her. Those who did go to the Boyd, though, were treated to a play that is interesting and in many ways worthy.

The drama purports to tell a love story of the times when fathers were stern and daughters were supposed to wed with disregard to the old man's wishes. In this case the head of the tribe of Vernon found he had a daughter of very much the same piece as the sister of England's king of a short time before. Dorothy fell in love with the son of her father's dearest enemy, and would have none other. The course of true love went over even more than the customary number of bumps, one of which was raised on the hero's head by the late father, who sought to belabor his daughter with a stick of stove wood, and who would have succeeded had not the lover, disguised as a servant, interposed his noble in time to receive the hastily aimed blow. He was divested of his false beard and wig and lodged away to a dungeon beneath the castle moat, whence he subsequently emerged to later bear off the bride.

Miss Gallatin is a most handsome man, tall and well favored, with a sweet voice that tells its tale of love most melodiously. Frank Smith is determined enough as the stern and cruel parent to satisfy anybody, while the others fit their roles very well. It is beautifully staged and deserves far more liberal patronage than was accorded it. It would hardly be truthful to say that Miss Gallatin's reception was enthusiastic, for the people who were there were too homesome to undertake a demonstration, but she did get such unqualified expression of appreciation from those as must have convinced her that they thought their money well invested in the price of the seats. The play will remain until after Sunday evening, and by that time interest may be aroused sufficient to fill the house with warm admirers of the star and the company.

"The Sign of the Cross" at the Krug: "The Sign of the Cross" was greeted on its first night at the Krug by a small, but that did not detract from the company appearing in it is not of such repute as the one which presented the drama in Omaha some years ago, yet it is of sufficient merit to attract a good audience. Barring the evident effort in James Gordon's face as he rolls out his deep tones, he is a creditable Marcus Superbus, and he is well supported by Harry Morton as Nero and Miss Minnie Feltling as Poppaea. C. Stuart Johnson as Glabrio, the wine-souped partizan, interjects as much humor into the drama as could be put in a play of the kind. The heroine, Marcia, in the person of Miss Madge Curcoran, is, to be sure, more seen than heard.

The tale is one of the early Christian religion, of Nero's persecutions of the Christians; how he throws them to the lions and burns them in the gardens when they

WORK OF THE CLUB WOMEN

Y. W. O. A. Campaign for Building Funds Soon to Open.

TEAMS TO GET THE CASH ORGANIZED Systematic Effort Planned to Raise Balance Needed to Secure the "recreation of the New Building."

The following rules have been announced governing the campaign for the $15,000 to complete the building fund of the Young Women's Christian association:

There shall be five companies, consisting of one captain and two lieutenants in each company. The field shall be open to all for solicitations. When subscriptions have been secured the name of the donor shall be reported at the office.

The companies shall report through the captain each day at noon during the campaign. The campaign shall open February 5 and close February 15.

The companies are all organized and ready to begin work. The captains and lieutenants are as follows: Lavender team, Mrs. W. P. Hartford, Mrs. L. M. Alkin, Mrs. Edward Johnson; Blue team, Mrs. J. P. Tilden, Mrs. P. M. Garrett, Mrs. J. P. Bailey; pink team, Mrs. J. H. Dumont; Mrs. A. W. Bowman; Miss Mary Sumner; yellow team, Mrs. Clement Chase, Mrs. J. P. Lord, Mrs. Isaac W. Carpenter; red team, Mrs. Emma F. Byers; Mrs. P. P. Loomis, Mrs. H. F. Kellogg.

Pledge cards such as were issued during the campaign last spring will be distributed, the pledges to be paid in two installments, May 15 and October 15, 1907.

The stereoscopic views of the proposed new Young Women's Christian association building to be erected at Seventeenth and St. Mary's avenue, that were given last week at the association banquet at the Paxton hotel, will be repeated Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the Baptist church.

Mrs. Phyllis F. Byers, general secretary of the association, will make the explanation and Mrs. W. P. Hartford will speak on the association work. A general invitation is extended.

Coast Women Form Club. The Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs is active in every department and the work of the year is beginning to show in the organization of new clubs.

The Sixth district, of which Mrs. Max Hostetler of Sheldon is vice president, has a new acquisition in the Coast Women's club, organized Tuesday of this week. The new club has fourteen members and is officered by Mrs. J. H. Pochtmann, president; Mrs. W. Mable M. Ward, vice president; Mrs. W. T. Wallace, recording secretary; Mrs. Mae S. Wheaton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. B. Allen, treasurer. The women have organized with the sort of enthusiasm that inspires profit to all concerned and have already announced their intention of joining the state federation.

The Twentieth Century club of Sheldon gives its annual banquet this evening. Among the guests will be Mrs. J. B. Dryden, Mrs. R. O. Holmes and B. O. Hostetler of Kearney. Mrs. Holmes will speak of a recent tour through France. The club is studying French history this year.

W. C. T. U. Campaign. The Nebraska Women's Christian Temperance union is planning an aggressive campaign of temperance work in the state for the coming year. Mrs. Frances Hovey Heald, state president, will make her headquarters at Lincoln for the next few weeks in the interest of the legislation being asked by the union. Two of the most prominent speakers in the national organization will be brought to Nebraska soon for a tour of the state. Mrs. Anna R. Simmons, lecturer and organizer of Chicago, will spend March and April here and Mrs. Mary E. Teats, evangelist and organizer, will devote February and March to Nebraska.

Sobering at Prison Life. Mrs. C. G. Sanderson, one of the most prominent women of London, and who was one of the suffragists arrested for creating a disturbance in the House of Commons last fall, has written the following letter: "A very strong movement to demand the release of women has sprung up in this country and the militant section of the suffrage society, which has formed an election at the 'Women's Social and Political Union,' is determined to force the present government into granting justice and liberty to women. It is for this reason that we disobey the laws by sitting in the lobby of the 'Sacred House of Commons' itself, and allowing ourselves, undefended, to be sent to prison, to fast and to acknowledge the power of the court or our duty to obey laws which we have no voice in making and no power to alter."

Work of the Club Women

The Twentieth Century club of Sheldon gives its annual banquet this evening. Among the guests will be Mrs. J. B. Dryden, Mrs. R. O. Holmes and B. O. Hostetler of Kearney. Mrs. Holmes will speak of a recent tour through France. The club is studying French history this year.

W. C. T. U. Campaign. The Nebraska Women's Christian Temperance union is planning an aggressive campaign of temperance work in the state for the coming year. Mrs. Frances Hovey Heald, state president, will make her headquarters at Lincoln for the next few weeks in the interest of the legislation being asked by the union. Two of the most prominent speakers in the national organization will be brought to Nebraska soon for a tour of the state. Mrs. Anna R. Simmons, lecturer and organizer of Chicago, will spend March and April here and Mrs. Mary E. Teats, evangelist and organizer, will devote February and March to Nebraska.

Sobering at Prison Life. Mrs. C. G. Sanderson, one of the most prominent women of London, and who was one of the suffragists arrested for creating a disturbance in the House of Commons last fall, has written the following letter: "A very strong movement to demand the release of women has sprung up in this country and the militant section of the suffrage society, which has formed an election at the 'Women's Social and Political Union,' is determined to force the present government into granting justice and liberty to women. It is for this reason that we disobey the laws by sitting in the lobby of the 'Sacred House of Commons' itself, and allowing ourselves, undefended, to be sent to prison, to fast and to acknowledge the power of the court or our duty to obey laws which we have no voice in making and no power to alter."

and my fellow prisoners, ten in all, were condemned to two months' imprisonment in the second division, but at the end of the first week, on account of public opinion, we were changed to the first division, and the end of the first month we were released unconditionally on account of the government's fear for the result of an election at Huddersfield. Since then twenty-one women have been taken up for forcing themselves into the lobby and sent into the House of Commons, but the magistrate condemns them now only to two months' imprisonment.

It was worth while to go to prison in order to learn the iniquity of the present prison system, and the first thing we prisoners are determined to do when we get our rights of citizenship is to set about abolishing a more humane system. Fancy shutting people up in cells twelve feet by six feet, without proper light and no fresh air and keeping them in solitary confinement for twenty-three out of the twenty-four hours! Food and heating are both bad and our last pillows have been in cells during the last cold days with the thermometer at 50 degrees. Can the most hardened criminal be improved by such treatment?

I feel sure that the advent of women into political life will help the peace movement. My father always believed that women's influence would be a more powerful one than men's. He declared himself a believer in women's suffrage.

Work of Georgia Women. Georgia club women are at work on a bill to be introduced in the next legislature providing for a compulsory education law for all children, white or black, through the primary grades. The clubs will establish more "model schools" as soon as they can raise the necessary funds, hoping by this means to place the elementary education within the reach of all children until the population becomes large enough to warrant the state in establishing school houses at intervals of two miles in the mountain districts, as is done in the lower sections.

Headquarters in Chicago. The Palmer house will be headquarters for the convention of the American Women's Suffrage association to be held in Chicago next month. Rooms may be had there from $1.50 to $3 a day. The local committee has arranged for the entertainment of a large number of women in private homes of the city. Extensive preparation is being made for the meeting and large attendance is expected.

Announcements of the Theater. A matinee will be given at the Orpheum today. The last performance of the bill for this week will be given tonight, when the curtain will ring up at 8:15 sharp.

Julius Steger, the distinguished star who is reported such a tremendous success in "The Fifth Commandment" heads the bill for the week starting with a matinee Sunday. Dillon brothers will render a number of their own songs. Clara Beasely's cats Musical Avocets, xylophonists; Lina Pantser on the bounding wire; Knight brothers, and Sawtelle; Ollie Young and brother, the marvelous hoop-rollers, and the kindred.

Miss Alberta Gallatin, the charming young actress who is now playing her first engagement at the Boyd theater in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," is winning her way with all who go to see her. The play is one of interest, being a story of love in the day of Queen Elizabeth, and is set in an environment of sixteenth century scenery, with its atmosphere of courtliness, romance and domineering ways of the rich and powerful. Miss Gallatin has a role of much difficulty, but she makes Mistress Dorothy one to love rather than to chide for her waywardness and steadfastness of purpose. A matinee will be given this afternoon and the engagement will continue until after Sunday evening.

At the Burwood theater the last performance of "The Unforeseen" will be given this afternoon and evening. On Sunday afternoon the new bill for the week, "Lady Windemere's Fan," a charming comedy of English life, will be put on for its first performance.

NEW STAR SEEN AT BOYD'S

Alberta Gallatin Makes Her Bow to Omaha Audiences.

PLAY AND COMPANY BOTH GOOD

"Sign of the Cross" at the Krug Gets Attention from Smaller Crowd Than Merits of Performance Deserve.

Alberta Gallatin in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," a romantic drama in four acts, by Charles Major. The cast: Sir John Manners, Walter Pennington; Sir Malcolm Vernon, Arthur Ashley; Sir George Vernon, Dorothy a father; Paul, George Young; James, Kent Dan, the smith, Alexander Jordan; James, the servant of Vernon, George Young; Earl of Leicester, Kent Dan; Dorothy Vernon, Alberta Gallatin; John Miller; Lord Stanley, Richard E. Webster; Queen Elizabeth, Florence Racey; Lady Maude, Anna Valenska; Lady Hilda, Margaret Reeves; Junnie Faxton, Ethel Harrington; Bess, a cook, Adelaide English; Dorothy Vernon, Alberta Gallatin.

"Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is as much of a stranger to a majority of Omaha people this morning as she was yesterday; for they did not turn out en masse last night to see the play or to greet Miss Alberta Gallatin, who is making her first appearance in Omaha along with a play that is also new here.

Miss Gallatin suffers for reason of her being a stranger, and coming unheralded by the "trumpet and drums of fame." She has established herself in certain quarters of the east as an actress of ability, but to us she is unknown. And, apparently, not many were acquainted with her. Those who did go to the Boyd, though, were treated to a play that is interesting and in many ways worthy.

The drama purports to tell a love story of the times when fathers were stern and daughters were supposed to wed with disregard to the old man's wishes. In this case the head of the tribe of Vernon found he had a daughter of very much the same piece as the sister of England's king of a short time before. Dorothy fell in love with the son of her father's dearest enemy, and would have none other. The course of true love went over even more than the customary number of bumps, one of which was raised on the hero's head by the late father, who sought to belabor his daughter with a stick of stove wood, and who would have succeeded had not the lover, disguised as a servant, interposed his noble in time to receive the hastily aimed blow. He was divested of his false beard and wig and lodged away to a dungeon beneath the castle moat, whence he subsequently emerged to later bear off the bride.

Miss Gallatin is a most handsome man, tall and well favored, with a sweet voice that tells its tale of love most melodiously. Frank Smith is determined enough as the stern and cruel parent to satisfy anybody, while the others fit their roles very well. It is beautifully staged and deserves far more liberal patronage than was accorded it. It would hardly be truthful to say that Miss Gallatin's reception was enthusiastic, for the people who were there were too homesome to undertake a demonstration, but she did get such unqualified expression of appreciation from those as must have convinced her that they thought their money well invested in the price of the seats. The play will remain until after Sunday evening, and by that time interest may be aroused sufficient to fill the house with warm admirers of the star and the company.

"The Sign of the Cross" at the Krug: "The Sign of the Cross" was greeted on its first night at the Krug by a small, but that did not detract from the company appearing in it is not of such repute as the one which presented the drama in Omaha some years ago, yet it is of sufficient merit to attract a good audience. Barring the evident effort in James Gordon's face as he rolls out his deep tones, he is a creditable Marcus Superbus, and he is well supported by Harry Morton as Nero and Miss Minnie Feltling as Poppaea. C. Stuart Johnson as Glabrio, the wine-souped partizan, interjects as much humor into the drama as could be put in a play of the kind. The heroine, Marcia, in the person of Miss Madge Curcoran, is, to be sure, more seen than heard.

The tale is one of the early Christian religion, of Nero's persecutions of the Christians; how he throws them to the lions and burns them in the gardens when they defy his will and cling to their faith. Into it is woven a story of the love of the perfect Marcus for the Christian Marcia, thwarted for a time by unfriendly men and designing women, but triumphing by the side of the arena. Marcia will not deny her Christ given to be allowed to live with Marcus, and in the prison where he visits her the pagan prefect is converted to Christianity by her simple faith. They go to death together and Rome reveals on.

GIRL SCORNS HER PARENTS Victim of Martin's Influence Refuses to Live with Father and Mother. "Yes, our daughter was brought home from Kansas City late Thursday morning by her father, but we are all simply heart-broken over the reception she gave us, as she said she would never live with us again. She stayed in the house just two hours and then went to the home of her sister, Mrs. Conrad, at Council Bluffs," said Mrs. M. J. Livingston, the mother of Dica Livingston, who ran away ten days ago with Billy Martin, a former waiter of the Eagle restaurant and was found in a resort in Kansas City.

The girl is only 17 years of age and was enticed away from home by Martin on the night of January 15, when the couple left, ostensibly for the theater. Martin took her to a notorious house in Kansas City and induced her to acts of crime, such as petty thieving and pocket picking, in order that he might live a life of ease. The two were arrested by the police of Kansas City and Martin was fined $500 and costs, in default of which he will spend approximately one year at hard labor in the Kansas City workhouse. The father of the girl went to Kansas City Tuesday.

NO SUCCESSOR TO HERRING

Candidates Not Announced if There Are Any on the Waiting List.

No action has yet been taken by the congregation of the First Congregational church toward securing a successor to Rev. H. C. Herring, D. D., who has been appointed secretary of the Home Missionary society, with headquarters in New York City. The names of any probable candidates for the place have not been announced. The church will have a meeting next Wednesday to talk the matter over. Rev. Mr. Froon of Lincoln will occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning.

MILLION FOR HOME MISSIONS

Rev. H. C. Herring's Committee Will Have Charge of Disbursement of Large Sum.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The directors and superintendents and secretaries of the Congregational Home Missionary societies of the United States in semi-annual meeting in this city decided to ask the Congregational churches for $1,000,000 for home mission work.

HEALTH

Beecham's Pills are the "ounce of prevention" that saves many a dollar for cure. Keep disease from getting in, and it will never lay you out. The safeguards against all life's common ills are: A Sound