CHIEF EXECUTIVE STANDS FOR THE LAW

Occasion One of Most Felicitous in the History of the Club and Gives Promise of Good for the Future.

Youth proclaimed him as a hero. Time, a statement in Love, a man; Death has claimed him as a martyr; He from goodly guests.

The fifth annual banquet of the McKinley club, given last evening at the Millard hotel under the auspices that marked the event as epochal for Nebraska republicanism and good government, was not only the most successful function in the history of the club, but was a significant event in the light of the great moral awakening now shaking the body politic of the nation.

The banquet was to commemorate the sixty-fifth anniversary of the birth of the late honored president, William McKinley. One of the dominant keynote of the occasion was the joining of hands, figuratively at least, of men from all parts of Nebraska, showing that men really believe that the interests of the metropolis are common with those of other parts of the state.

Mayor Sherburne Merrill Becker of Milwaukee was the honored guest from without the state, while Governor George Lawson Sheldon graced the occasion with his presence and felicitations.

Something over 300 surrounded the banquet tables and enjoyed a menu of edibles and words.

Legislators and Officials Attend. Most of the members of the Nebraska house of representatives and senate and state officers, including the chief justice, were present from Lincoln over the Rock Island in a special train and returned at midnight.

After a few words of welcome by Oliver S. Erwin, president of the McKinley club, short talks by John J. Ryder and Robert Cowell, Mayor Becker of Milwaukee, the speaker of the evening, was introduced by Mr. Erwin.

Mayor Becker's Address. Mayor Becker, who is the "Butcher Man in Politics," was as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: It is with the deepest reverence that I mention the name of one who has lived and died for the good of the United States. It is with a feeling of awe that I speak of the life of one who has lived and died for the good of the United States.

When he heard his country's call to arms to preserve its integrity he went to the front and there he gave his life and blood and as a common soldier he died.

Records of the War department, upon investigation, have shown that he was a man who was not only a brave soldier but a man of great courage and high character.

Believes None Greater. There is no man more deserving of our admiration and respect than the man who has just died. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character. He was a man of great courage and high character.

BISHOPS OFFER COMPROMISE

Working Arrangements Between Church and State Suggested at Paris

ROMAN HIERARCHY TO BE RECOGNIZED Under Plan Suggested State Will Lease Buildings for Term to Priests on Approval by Bishops.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The proposition which the French bishops, with the approval of the pope, have now submitted to the government seems to offer the first real prospect of an adjustment of the conflict between church and state under the separation regime. While it involves a material modification of the position taken in the last papal encyclical, the proposition put forward has all the appearance of an ultimatum. Whether the government, in spite of the concessions made and making in the interest of religious peace, will accept a settlement based upon the absolute recognition of the Roman hierarchy remains to be seen.

The model contract which the bishops have submitted provides for the virtual lease of the churches in perpetuity to the parish priests by the state, the leases being for eighty years and renewals by the successors. The leases which carry a stipulation engaging the communal, municipal and state authorities not to interfere with the administration of the church and parish, are invalid without the express ratification of the bishop and become null the moment the parish priest loses the bishop's authorization. Bishops must act together to insure the acceptance of the contracts everywhere or nowhere.

It developed today that the report that Cardinal Richelieu, the archbishop of Paris, had summoned another meeting of the episcopate was not correct. The cardinal only summoned meetings of the regional assemblies of bishops, to which the pope's decision was communicated.

The bishops' proposition created a stir in parliamentary circles. The followers of Premier Combes were loud in their assertions that it was utterly unacceptable, but the more moderate republican groups were less emphatic and there was general expectation that the government would be forced to define its position during the debate this afternoon in the Chamber of Deputies on the ministerial bill providing for the suppressing of declarations under the law of 1881.

Representative Kinkaid today recommended that Wesley Treasurer, postmaster at Ogallala, Neb., be reappointed. A new postoffice has been established in McPherson county, Nebraska, to be named Ney and D. Cloud has been appointed postmaster.

A resolution of $8 has been allowed William R. Dewitt, Mills postoffice, Neb. The house committee on invalid pensions today decided to make a favorable report on the bill introduced in the senate by Senator McCumber and duplicated in the house by Representative Norris of Nebraska.
