COUNCIL BLUFFS BROWN IS IN TOWN AGAIN

Brings Petition for Nineteen Liquor Injunctions Along with Him.

STILL SILENT REGARDING HIS MOTIVE

Someone Evidently Working with Him Who is Familiar with Conditions and Various Refreshment Resorts.

Brown is in town. While none of the registers of the local hotels bore his autograph, J. Brown, attorney-at-law and dealer in real estate, did not mention hard knocks to the local saloonkeepers, returned to Council Bluffs yesterday.

His office of Sheriff Canning. There he filed sixteen more original notices of liquor injunctions, fourteen of which are against saloon men and five against keepers of alleged houses of ill fame. The defendants named in the notices of suit filed yesterday are:

Charles and Swaming, South Main street; William Fraz, South Main street; Charles Martens and A. Ritter, Martens hotel, South Main street; J. D. Wilson and John Linder, West Broadway; Hansen and Nielsen, corner Broadway and Broadway streets; J. Goodrich, Goodrich hotel, Broadway and Eighth streets; Charles P. Davis, Broadway and North Main streets; W. T. Fry, Union Pacific transfer; P. B. Hahn, West Broadway; O. K. Harden, Broadway and South Main streets; Holst and Spelman, Kiel hotel, South Main street; L. C. Green, S. E. Omaha; J. E. O'Connell, Webster, 151 West Broadway; Nellie Champlin, Broadway and Broadway streets; Jesse Williams, 637 West Broadway; Beale Donley, 41 North Main street; Leis Connelly, 312 West Broadway.

Mr. Brown left Council Bluffs last Saturday evening and crossed the river to Omaha, from where, it is said, he took the train for Lincoln, the saloonmen commenced to breathe more easily, and it helped them had been the last of him. But that they counted their chicks before the eggs were hatched was proven when the mysterious stranger from Kansas returned unheralded to the city yesterday armed with another big batch of injunction suits against saloons and other places where it is alleged liquor is sold contrary to the provisions of the Iowa statute.

Mr. Brown, when seen yesterday afternoon in the little office room over 14 Pearl street, was not any more communicative than when on his first visit here. "I said I'm coming back and here I am," is about all the information he is willing to furnish. In questions as to what his motive was in waging a crusade against the liquor dealers, Mr. Brown had no answer.

When Mr. Brown first made his appearance in Council Bluffs and filed the first batch of injunction suits, it was supposed that he was acting for or in connection with local parties. That this was the case Mr. Brown practically admitted to a certain saloonkeeper who called upon him to inquire why he had begun suit against him. The character of certain of the places against which notices of suit were filed yesterday indicates that persons having large local notices must have given Mr. Brown the names, as five of the defendants named in the notices filed yesterday are not on the list of saloons paying license to the city or county.

With the batch filed yesterday, the number of injunction suits brought by J. Brown, the attorney-at-law, amounts to thirty-six. The seven notices filed by Mr. Brown prior to his departure last Saturday have all been served by the sheriff.

General of John P. Johnson. CLARENCE, Ia., Jan. 31.-(Special.) The funeral of John P. Johnson, the live stock dealer who died here yesterday morning following accidental injuries received from a freight train in this city last Friday, will be here today, conducted by Rev. W. T. Fisher and Will O. Hitchings of the Christian denomination. Mr. Johnson was 64 years of age and was a native of Sweden.

ILLINOIS.-The legislature today concurred in the senate amendment in a joint resolution adopted by the house yesterday appealing to the Illinois delegation in congress to work for a distribution of the river and harbor appropriation, which was more equitable and more favorable to Illinois. The senate amendment struck out the personal criticism of Congressman Burton, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee. The resolution complains that the appropriation for 1907 is only $1,000,000 to be used for the improvement of the Great Lakes, $1,000,000 for the harbor of Cleveland, $1,000,000 for the Ohio river and only $250,000 a year for the Mississippi river between St. Louis and Cairo, instead of $500,000 a year, which has been appropriated hitherto and gives only $1,000,000 for the upper Missouri from St. Louis to St. Paul, an amount entirely inadequate to carry out the plan of a six-foot channel.

The resolution especially deprecates the fact that the rivers and harbors bill recommends no appropriation at all for continuing work on a deep waterway from the lakes to the gulf, which, if the Missouri river and upper Mississippi were improved, would completely relieve the freight congestion and regulate railroad rates throughout every state of the Mississippi valley in which almost one-half of the area of the United States is vitally interested, opening up as it will the greatest internal waterway of the world to the markets thereof.

A. M. Gallagher Discusses Effect of Annexation on Realty Values.

COMMITTEE DISCUSSES CHARTER CHANGES

Mayor Hector and Member of Park Board Discuss the Secret Meeting to Consider the Offers of Land for Parks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.-If President Roosevelt can bring such a thing about, congress will pass a law which will prevent discrimination against the uniform of the army or the navy. Several cases involving this question are pending in state courts, but the more recent case of the refusal of a skating rink proprietor, Plattburgh, N. Y., to admit two soldiers in uniform, which was sustained by Judge Everest of the city court, has given an impetus to the movement set on foot by the president some time ago to insist that the uniforms shall be recognized in all public places.

In interesting phase of the Plattburgh case developed today, when it became known that Judge Everest recently wrote the president stating the grounds on which he based his decision, maintaining, in effect, that the case was not one within the meaning of the bill of rights, affecting the question of race, creed or color. He frankly expressed the opinion, however, that the matter should be taken up by congress and a bill passed making it an offense to discriminate against the uniform of the army or the navy.

Jenkins is Conservative. This letter was referred by the Judiciary Committee, who took a rather conservative view as to the right of congress to deal with the question, but suggesting that the opinion of the judge advocate general and the attorney general might be sought in reference thereto. Chairman Jenkins, at the same time, related two instances which had come under his personal observation where proprietors of public cafes had gone to guests and notified them to wear their coats or else leave the premises. This, Chairman Jenkins remarks, was not a discrimination against the guests in question, but was an objection to their mode of dress, a position which he thinks the proprietors were justified in taking.

Respectfully returned to the military secretary, Section 22 of the bill of rights of the state of New York contains the requirement: "If a person who owns, occupies, manages or controls a building, park, enclosure or other place open to the public shall generally at stated periods or otherwise, he shall not refuse to admit any person or class of persons in the price charged for admission thereto. A person violating the provisions of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor."

Section 23 provides: "That all persons within the jurisdiction of this state shall be entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurants, hotels, eating houses, bath houses, barber shops, theaters, music halls, public conveyances on land and water, and all other places of public accommodation or amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike on all citizens."

The foregoing requirements are more comprehensive in their terms than is section 22 of the bill of rights, within which exclusion on the ground of race, color or previous condition of servitude is expressly prohibited.

View of the very general character of the language used in the section above cited it is not surprising that in this case be referred to the Department of Justice with the request that it be examined by the executive committee of ten men who were to draft the amendments to the city charter. It was discovered that the amendments had been sent to Lincoln already. One that was the city granted the power to grade two blocks of any street where the cost of grading would be borne by the property owners.

Vote of Members Only Means of Raising Two Questions of Importance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.-It may be stated by authority that neither the question of international disarmament, including the kindred subject of restriction, nor the Drago doctrine, will be placed upon the program of subjects to be considered at the Hague conference when it convenes next June or July. The program is regarded as closed at this moment, nor will it be formally adopted before the meeting takes place. But every effort will be made to have the conference consider the two subjects named, though this can only be accomplished by the act of the delegates themselves, properly supported by their principals. It will require an affirmative vote of the conference to take up for discussion any new subject beyond those contained in the program and it is the hope of the Washington government that the two most important subjects-disarmament and the Drago doctrine, will receive the favorable consideration of a majority of the delegates, enabling them to be discussed.

A. M. Gallagher Discusses Effect of Annexation on Realty Values.

"I would be for annexation," said A. M. Gallagher Wednesday night, "if I could be assured on one point, that with the merging of the two cities there would be no decrease of real estate values. On this point, I think the argument is largely theoretical. Actual trial would be the testing of the matter; but it is the uncertainty of the matter which has stuck in my mind. On many other grounds the speedy annexation of the city would be full of advantage. If the matter were brought to an example, same under my notice, I was coming in from out in the state on a stock train. On my advice a man I happened to meet consigned to South Omaha. Eighteen cars of stock were picked up before we reached Lincoln. At Lincoln all but the car I had managed by personal effort to direct this way were switched off and went to St. Joseph. It struck me as queer that with South Omaha so near that the shippers would prefer to go the greater distance to St. Joseph. When I arrived in Omaha I spoke to W. J. Kenyon of the stock yards and found that the stock had greater influence with the railroads. South Omaha with its live stock exchange as the only potent factor of influence, backed by a rather weak municipality, compared with the heavy interests of St. Joseph, under the control of the stock exchange, should be given by the Nebraska railroads. The exchange is alive to the needs of this market, but they cannot do it alone. The powerful interests of Omaha should be added to that of South Omaha and then they would be felt."

This from a man who has always been considered the prudent champion of the anti-annexation forces, is significant of the fact that the terrors of annexation are not real; and that the whole question is one of good-natured speculation and debate rather than of the vital importance of the demand from the real estate in a live and healthy city commands its price by the use it is put to. In times of fictitious prices and booms the case is different, but in periods of steady development real estate is not purchased as a speculation. When a man buys a tract of property as the Bradford-Kennedy company are doing this week, it is for a practical use. Coal yards and lumber yards are to occupy the lots. The Lucerne Food products and the Gate City Milk works, and, in fact, the purchases for the last year in South Omaha have been of the character of these things. The real estate can be used and it will be used more. For every lawyer who might move his office up to Omaha after annexation a commission man would seek a residence in the Highland park district. People are not going to hurry to leave Omaha, as they would if Omaha's center as Walnut Hill. This fact should inspire every property owner that there can be no great fluctuation of prices. They will rise rather than fall. The residence district about Highland park will in five years' time equal the splendid streets of the Hanscom park district.

Charter Change Discussion. The meeting of the general committees of the South Omaha improvement clubs was not as generally attended as was anticipated last night. About fifteen people of the executive committee of ten men who were to draft the amendments to the city charter. It was discovered that the amendments had been sent to Lincoln already. One that was the city granted the power to grade two blocks of any street where the cost of grading would be borne by the property owners.

Medical Society Meeting. HOLDREGE, Neb., Jan. 31.-[Special Telegram.] The Republican Valley Medical association held its regular meeting here last evening and reported the best in the history of the society. Among numbers of the program were given by Dr. Finley of Omaha, which was pronounced one of the best read before the association. Dr. Jones of Minden and Dr. Sundbury of Holdrege also read interesting papers. For the next year were chosen as follows: President, Dr. Conne, Oxford; vice president, Dr. Sbreck, Bertrand; secretary, Dr. Campbell, Stamford; treasurer, Dr. Sundbury, Holdrege; censor for three years, Dr. Brewster. Many of the visiting doctors brought their wives and families to the local physicians, being given automobile rides about the city and visiting points of interest. In the evening a banquet was served at the Hampton hotel, at which covers were laid for over thirty people.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Post A of The Traveling Protective Association of the West met Saturday evening.

The subject of Rabbi Cohn's address at Temple Beth El, which was given last evening, was "Trouble and Triumph." Services begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Dr. J. E. Coughlin, pastor of the W. J. C. church, 606 North Third street, Wednesday night by breaking the glass in a rear fixed, established and legal method for testing cream, although all cream was tested (or supposed to be) and paid for on the basis of the pounds of butter fat which it contained. This dairy commission bill not only provides a legal method for testing cream, but it does still better; it provides that before any person can engage in the business of testing cream at any place where cream is bought and sold, they must first pass an examination to determine that they are qualified to do the work, and then be licensed by the dairy commissioner at a nominal fee of $1 as a cream tester. This provision, in effect, places the whole business of testing cream under the supervision and control of the dairy commissioner, and if at any time a cream tester is found not to be honest or satisfactory work the commissioner can remove him and prevent him from further engaging in such work. There are two principal objects aimed at in this measure: First, by inspection of dairy products and the education incident thereto, to improve the quality of such products; this would mean a better price. Second, a square deal for both dairyman and cream-buyer. In the testing of both milk and cream this law is most important if we are to further develop this important industry. There has been an insistent demand on the part of dairymen for legislation of this character; in the platform adopted at the last republican state convention it was one of the leading enactments of a law providing for inspection of dairy products and to regulate the testing of cream. It is believed this dairy commission bill meets all that is now required in the matter of dairy legislation; it has been prepared with that object in view; a copy of the bill may be had by applying to your member of the state legislature or the undersigned; it is suggested that if you approve of this measure, believe it is for the best interests of the dairy industry of the state, it is your privilege to write your representative at Lincoln giving your views and requesting them to give it their support. A. C. BASSIOTT, Secretary Nebraska Dairymen's Association.

NEEDED DAILY LEGISLATION

GIBSON, Neb., Jan. 31.-The Editor of The Bee has been introduced into both branches of the Nebraska legislature a dairy commission bill known as house bill No. 188 and senate bill No. 199. The provisions of this bill were thoroughly considered and discussed at the last meeting of the Dairymen's Association, which was present more than 200 dairymen, and was unanimously approved and recommended for enactment into law. This measure provides for the creation of a dairy commission, because it is believed that the value and importance of the dairy industry to the people of the state (and the provisions of the bill) are such as to warrant an investment of more than $20,000,000. See statistical part in 1905 report of Nebraska Dairymen's Association, which report may be had on application to the secretary) warrants the establishment of such a commission with power to enforce the dairy laws of the state.
