NEBRASKA MAN ASKS DAMAGES

Alleges He Was Victim of Kangaroo Court in Jall and in Addition Was Robbed.

GUTHRIE, Okl., Feb. 16.-(Special.)-A suit has been instituted in the district court at Lawton by E. E. Ellsworth, a Nebracks traveling salesman, who was ar rested in Lawton last November on charge of robbery and confined for several days in the Comambhe county jail. Now he seeks damages in the sum of $5,000 from Sheriff C. C. Hammonds, alleging that as a result of inhuman treatment received at the hands of other inmates of the county jail he is a nervous and physical wreck.

The defendant sets forth in his pe-tition a number of instances in which he declared be was severely beaten, whipped, cursed and threatened while in the jail. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Lawrence on November 28, 1806, and placed in jail. He alleges that the other prisoners forpibly took from him $20 and the next day stripped him of his clothes and whipped and beat his bare person, threatening his der on the sheriff for $5 to give them; that while he was in the act of putting on his clothes they again set him and beat him until he delivered to them $10, which they discovered he had secreted in his clothes, then they tried him by kangaroo court and whipped him for not paying the fine assessed and also for telling the sheriff of the first whipping. It is further alleged by Ellsworth as a

by an inmate of the jail; that he reported the same to the sheriff and demanded the return of the money, and that the sheriff afterwards returned $33, which he claimed to have found concealed in the jail. The plaintiff charges that inmates of the county jail practice cruelties as enumerated in his case, with the knowledge of the sheriff and jailer, and that neither of

Searched the Room. HILDRETH, Neb., Feb. 10 .- (Special.)-The citizens of Hildreth have been greatly worked up over the fact that A. L. Beck, prominent resident of the city, upon going to his room about 11:30 yesterday his 15-year-old daughter, Freds. bound and gagged and in a semi-conscious condition. Upon releasing her she told a tory about as follows: oom, which is in a different part of town from where he boards, a stranger quietly entered the room and, with revolver in and, told the little girl if she made any noise whatever he would shoot her. He then proceeded to bind her, hand and foot, and then ransacked the room, it appear-nothing has been missed.

The girl had been bound and gagged for a couple of hours when discovered by her father and was not in condition to give a very coherent story of what had happened. She described the fellow as tall, smooth shaven, but wore a pair of colored glasses and the lower part of his face was covered by a dark mask. All clews so far have proven wrong and as it is hard to find a motive for anything of the kind the officers are at a disadvantage. That a plot of some kind exists is evident from the fact that a couple of weeks ago the girl received an anonymous communica tion begging her to leave town for a couple of weeks, as something dreadful was liable to happen to hef. The man offered no violence to the little girl except little rough handling when he tied her and the loss of a couple of braids of her hair, which he cut off with his pocketknife, but while he was tying her he remarked: "D-n you, I ought to kill you, but won't this time." The citizens of the town are pretty well worked up over the affair and if the guilty fellow is apprehended it is likely to

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Feb. 16.—(Special

Telegram.)-Ex-Senator Frank Currie of this place and J. Ulrich of Bradshaw met with a thrilling adventure late yesterday afternoon that nearly terminated fatally for both. As it was, a valuable team of horses and a fine buggy were lost. wo men were returning here from the Currie ranch and had proceeded about four miles on the road when they began to be troubled with swollen streams resulting from the sudden thaw. The last ford they attempted to make took the horses from their feet and swept the rig down stream. Both men rapidly shed their overcoats, jumped into the water and fought their way with the greatest difficulty to the shore.

They followed the team nearly two miles but owing to high banks on either s'de were unable to render any assistance, This morning the bodies of the animals and the remains of the buggy were found several miles below the ford. The senator and his companion reached town this afternoon.

Some Needs of Nebraska Towns

Located about 100 miles northwest of maha, and in the heart of the agricultural and farming system of the farfamed Elkhorn valley, the city of Stanton is the marvel of all who visit it. Bituated on a gentle slope, far out of reach of any high water or overflow of the river, and nestling at the foot of the table lands ektriing the valley, its natural sanitary features are excellent, its broad, regular streets cleanly, and its inviting appearance for both business and residence is superb. It is the county seat, has the county court house right in the center of the city, owns ts system of water works, is supplied with electric lights, all first-class and in fine condition, has one of the best public high schools in the state, has seven church buildings and as many religious organizations. It has a large number of fine bustness blocks, two opera houses, one of which is just completed and is probably as fine as anything in the state outside of Omaha and Lincoln. No mushroom growth has ever occurred in Stanton, and yet few

The bill amending what has come to known as the "denstured alcohol bill" was on Thursday amended so as to give the farmers of the United States and manufacturers who desire it the right to make raw alcohol and denature it for light or fuel purposes, under easy conditions, and is destined to create a revolution in the heating and lighting methods of the coun-The bill which was passed last June failed in the one important particular of

The purpose of the bill passed this week is to still further reduce the cost of denatured alcohol by giving greater facilities for its production and dis-While the act approved June 7, 1906, was halled by the farming interests of the United States as an unmixed blessing, assuring substantial freedom from the "kerosene trust" and the "gasoline trust," there were some defects in the bill which tended to limit the production and distribution of the denatured product. And it was for the purpose of correcting apparent discrepancies that the law of last June was amended and which now permits of alcohol of the required proof may be drawn off for denaturation only from the receiving cisterns in the cistern room of any distillery for transfer by pipes direct to any denaturising bonded warehouse or to closed metal storage tanks under regulations to be prescribed by the commissioner of internal revenue.

Dispenses with Warehouse. The bill further provides that at distilleries producing alcohol from any substance whatever for denaturation only and having a daily spirit producing capacity of not exceeding 100 proof gallons, the use of cisterns, or tanks, of size and construction as may be deemed expedient, may be permitted in lieu of distillery bonded warehouses. This means that at central points throughout the United States there may be established denaturizing plants under the supervision of treasury inspectors in order that the consumer may be brought close to the point of manufacture. Judging from the experience of other countries where the right to use denatured alcohol freely has been conceded for from twenty-five to fifty years, probably two-thirds of the entire consumption will be of what is known "as completely denatured" spirit. This is what is used for domestic purposes heating, cooking, lighting, for all kinds of internal explosion engines and for many manufacturing uses.

It follows, therefore, that with the great area of the United States and the distances between the natural points of production, the cost of transportation, or assembling the ingredients, will be one of the largest items of expense. The wood alcohol industry is largely centered today in the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan. The cheapest ethyl alcohol will made from West India m Atlantic coast, from corn in the corn belt; from potatoes in Maine and in the northwest and from waste products of sugar production in Hawaii, Louisiana and the beet sugar states.

In this connection it is interesting to know that the bill which passed the house on Thursday is a compromise measure growing out of bills introduced by Representative Hill of Connecticut, who provided for the application of the law to the manufacture of ether, chloroferm and other definite chemical substances where the alcohol is changed into some other chemical substance and does not appear in the finished product; by Mr. Marshall of North Dakota, who wanted a practical adoption of the German locked still and tank system for agricultural distilleries Gronna of North Dakota, the former favoring a still with a capacity of thirty gallons output per day and the latter limiting the output to fifteen gallons.

BASKET BALL AT HIGH SCHOOL Large Squad Practices Regularly and Captain and Coach Are Much Encouraged.

Much improvement has been manifested during the last week in banket ball practice at the high school, and the captain and coach are somewhat encouraged. Frank Johnson, who is being tried out at center, is fast learning the points of the game and promises to make good. Burdick and Arnstein, the forwards, are learning the position of the basket, while Captain Neaveales and Nagl are playing fast guards. Nevertheless, the team realizes its comparative newness and is working hard to perfect its system of team play. Among the more promising substitutes are Merle Howard. Harold McKinney, Harry Smith, Frank Sweeley and others.

Much assistance is being given by players of last year, men who are barred from the first team by reason of fraternity and other obstacles. An old graduate, Jack Webster, who is taking post graduate work at the high school, has promised his assistance in the coaching line. Many invitations for games are being received, but the management has difficulty in making up a schedule because of the difficulty in knowing when the Young Men's Christian association gymnasium will be ready for use. In spite of this handicap, however, a large squad shows up regularity for practice, so as not to be unprepared to uphold the athletic honor of the high school when the occasion offers.

The faculty and students are rendy to do anything consistent with the new ideal in athletics to further the interests of the team. Prof. Robert Lansing has charge of the schedule and games, and inouiries; addressed to him will receive prompt attention.

Wine Producers Compressive.

8ANDUSKY, O., Feb. 10.—Secretary William Homer Reinhardt of the National Winegrowers' association, tonight announced that an agreement had been reached with the American Winegrowers' association whereby certain features of the Fassett pure wine bill will be eliminated and all obstacles in the way of the passage of that measure will be removed. The National Winegrowers' association had been fighting the Fassett bill for over a year past on the alleged ground that if made a law it would discriminate against many of the wineries of the middle west to such an extent as to put some classes of them out of business. The Fassett bill has had the endorsement of the California growers and by the compromise which Mr. Rheinhart says has been reached, all of the winegrowers' interests, it is claimed, will be satisfied. ON LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

You cannot do better than read a copy of a little book recently published called "Linonla at Dettyshurg," by Col. Clark E. Carr—the only surviving member of the original Commission in charge of the National Cemetary at Gettyshurg, and the only man now living who can write so instructively and entertainingly of Lincoln's great Gettyshurg speech, why it was greater than the wonderful oration delivered by Edward Everett the anne day. A iruly patriotic book for every lover of the martyred Fresident, young or old.

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydis E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs James Chester, of $27 W. $5th St. New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and allments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Femals Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements. Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.
