

FILIBUSTER IN THE SENATE

Tillman and Bacon Object to Immediate Consideration of Immigration Bill.

PROVIDES MEANS FOR EXCLUDING COOLIES

Report that Japan Favors Restrictions that Will Keep Laborers at Home—Bill Will Come Up Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The sudden development of a full-fledged filibuster resulted today in the senate when an attempt was made to force the adoption of the conference agreement on the immigration bill. This report carries a provision intended to aid in the settlement of the California-Japanese problem and speedy action was desired by the administration.

Mr. Bacon objected that the report changed existing law in respect to which he believed on hurried examination would deprive southern states from obtaining even the meager labor supplies from abroad which was available under the present immigration laws.

True until today. A true was declared until tomorrow, at the suggestion of Senator Spooner, when the report will be adopted by the senate.

It became known today through information imparted in official circles that Japan regards with alarm the amendment which it is proposed to add to the immigration bill now pending in congress, and which in effect prevents the entry into this country of Japanese coolies.

In opposing the bill Mr. Bacon said that it was necessary that senators should do a great injustice to another section of the country to protect the Pacific coast.

Mr. Bacon then turned his attention to the scarcity of cotton mill labor in the south and read at length a report from the Department of Commerce and Labor regarding the situation, which he construed to indicate a desire of the department to aid in meeting the need for labor.

Mr. Bacon said one-fifth of the spindles in the cotton mills of North and South Carolina and Georgia were idle because of a scarcity of labor.

While Mr. Bacon was speaking Senator Tillman marked with slips of paper certain passages in a pile of books he had on his desk. During a pause by Mr. Bacon, Mr. Beveridge asked if he had concluded.

"Oh, no," was Mr. Bacon's reply, "the senator very much mistakes the scope of my remarks."

"I am just getting ready to talk for a week or ten days," interjected Mr. Tillman. "When I get so little justice at the hands of senators as not to be permitted even to read a bill I am prepared to fight. I object to having a matter brought in here and run over us like an automobile."

Senator Spooner came to the relief of the situation at this point, saying it was evident that senators had no time to read the report. "I appeal to the senator," he said, turning to Mr. Dillingham, "to let the matter go over until tomorrow."

Mr. Dillingham, saying he recognized the situation, consented and the report went over, two and a half hours having been consumed in its consideration.

Investigation of Water Resources. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The senate today passed a bill to provide for an investigation of the water resources of the United States. The investigation is to be made by the director of the geological survey.

CALIFORNIANS ARE WAITING. Failure of Congress to Act Yesterday Causes Some Disappointment. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Mayor Schmitz and his associates are awaiting the action of congress on the immigration bill, and of congress on the immigration bill, and of congress on the immigration bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Another tragic chapter in the history of the Thaw-White episode was written today when death stepped in to halt the famous trial. The wife of Juror Joseph B. Bolton died this afternoon soon after her husband had reached her bedchamber. He had been summoned from the court room, where the trial had been in progress less than fifteen minutes.

The formal announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death was made in court shortly after 2 p. m. The hour set for the afternoon session, and Justice Fitzgerald immediately ordered an adjournment of the case until next Monday morning.

DEATH DELAYS THAW TRIAL

Wife of Juror Bolton Dies and Recess is Taken Until Monday.

JURORS ARE ALLOWED TO SEPARATE

Mr. Jerome Withdraws Objection to Dr. Evans Stating Conversations on Which Insanity Opinion is Based.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Another tragic chapter in the history of the Thaw-White episode was written today when death stepped in to halt the famous trial. The wife of Juror Joseph B. Bolton died this afternoon soon after her husband had reached her bedchamber.

The formal announcement of Mrs. Bolton's death was made in court shortly after 2 p. m. The hour set for the afternoon session, and Justice Fitzgerald immediately ordered an adjournment of the case until next Monday morning.

The fact that the jurors have been kept in close confinement since they were selected for trial service and that Mr. Bolton had been allowed to visit his home only three times during his wife's fatal illness lent a pathetic aspect and the greatest sympathy was felt on all sides.

Mr. Bolton suffered from double pneumonia. Her condition became serious yesterday, when the morning session of the trial was abandoned to allow the juror to visit his home, far up in the Bronx.

When court convened at 10:30 this morning Mr. Bolton was again in seat No. 11, but it was stated that his wife's condition was critical and that he might be called away at any time.

Evans to Give Conversations. Dr. Evans, superintendent of the New Jersey hospital for the insane, was recalled as an alienist to continue his direct examination.

The witness was asked to detail the conversations he had had on various occasions with the defendant. He had already declared these conversations to be an essential feature in his conclusion that Thaw was of unsound mind at the time of the doctor's first three visits to him, the last being on September 22.

Mr. Jerome had withdrawn his objection to the statement by Thaw going into the evidence and Dr. Evans was about to detail the events of his first visit on August 4, when the summons for Juror Bolton came.

A recess was taken until 2 p. m. and the juror, still accompanied by two of his associates, returned to the courtroom, where he was seated in the box.

Releasing the jurors at the afternoon session, Justice Fitzgerald took pains to state that the ruling in any way together had not been adopted on the separate recommendation of either side, but was the result of an agreement based on reasons which appeared excellent alike to the interests of the defendant and of the people.

There was intended not the slightest reflection on the juror, but a fair statement of the facts as they were. It would have been well, Justice Fitzgerald remarked, if the rule could have been adhered to until the close of the trial but the sad occurrence had brought about a condition which must be confronted.

New Trial May Result. In announcing the adjournment until Monday Justice Fitzgerald expressed the "hope" that the trial might then proceed. It is realized, however, that this will depend largely on the condition in which Juror Bolton may be at that time.

He feels that he can put aside all personal considerations and continue to act as a juror, but that his condition is such that his personal affairs are such as to prevent his giving his whole attention to the case during the remaining days of the trial, some other solution of the difficulty must be looked for.

After the jury left the room Attorney Jerome announced to both sides had agreed that the testimony of Dr. Deemer and Dr. Binzaman should be taken in the form of depositions that they might return to their homes. These doctors, it is said, will testify regarding insanity in both sides of Harry Thaw's family.

Exclusion Bill Offered. WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Representative Wharton of Illinois introduced a resolution in the house today authorizing the president to exclude from the mails any and all publications "containing a revealing details" of the Thaw case and other cases of similar nature.

The following is the text of the joint resolution: Whereas, The public sense of decency and morality has been grossly outraged by the publication in detail of the most revolting features of the evidence presented in the trial of Harry K. Thaw, now in progress in the city of New York, and which reveals a depth of moral depravity and a resulting degeneracy on the part of Stanford White unequalled in all the annals of our criminal history.

SIX THOUSAND IN FOUR DAYS

That Amount to Be Raised on Y. W. C. A. Building Fund.

WOMEN ARE WORKING LIKE TROJANS

Not Deterred in Their Zeal by the Big Task that Has to Be Performed to Complete Deal.

Four more days and $5,000 still to be raised. This is the proposition that confronts the Young Women's Christian association teams canvassing for funds for their new building. The women are not discouraged, however, though they realize that if the necessary $10,000 is raised within the time set they will not only have to work harder than ever, but every one interested in this work for young women will have to lend a hand.

During the campaign last spring, Mrs. Hoagland very generously donated $10,000 for the use of the building. She has also possible the continuance of the effort, but no other large subscriptions have come. A friend has given us $500; one of our large department stores gave $1,200; we have eight $1,000 subscriptions, sixteen $500, 200 of $200 and $100, $10 from $25 to $50 and $33.19 in subscriptions less than $25. There have been nearly 5,500 subscriptions. Our young women, members of the association, themselves raised $25,000.

During our campaign last spring we succeeded in raising $7,000 in all. Then came the San Francisco disaster and we were obliged to stop. Since that time we have by continued perseverance raised another $10,000 in small subscriptions. Now we appeal to the public to help us in this last great effort for $15,000 to complete the needed $10,000.

We had hoped that, taking into consideration the many things the women have done to help along the city interests, the public would be willing to help in one thing that the women of the city have asked for. We may be pardoned if we venture to suggest that the number of the same women are working in this association who have done so many other things for the good of Omaha.

There are over 10,000 wage-earning women in the city, and some of our large wholesale houses are advertising for more girls to come to Omaha from the small towns in Nebraska and adjoining states. Many young women are coming to Omaha every day seeking boarding houses and employment, many of them believing they can earn a livelihood here, but being quite incapable of doing so. There is no other organization in this city that does anything to help the wage-earning women. There are refuge homes and means of caring for those who have been unfortunate, but the Young Women's Christian association throws around young women a helpful home influence and seeks to help young women to the wholesome, pure life that is here before coming to a large city. The contest will close at 9 p. m. next Tuesday. We hope to get all the money necessary so we need not go before the public again for our building fund. The five women who are acting as captains have established headquarters for the canvass.

Subscriptions may be left any time before 9 o'clock Tuesday evening at any of the following headquarters: Lavender—Mrs. W. P. Harford, captain; Lou Henderson, 1514 Farnam street; Blue—Mrs. George Tilden, captain; Edith Ward, 1520 Farnam street; Yellow—Mrs. J. H. Dumont, captain; Sherman & McConnell, Sixteenth and Capitol avenue; Pink—Mrs. J. H. Dumont, captain; Bennett, Sixteenth and Harney streets; Red—Mrs. Emma F. Byers; Myers-Dillon, Blue company, corner Sixteenth and Farnam.

We are grateful to the many friends of the cause who have helped so willingly and hope to receive them all in our beautiful new building at an early date. Very truly yours, MRS. W. P. HARFORD, President.

MRS. GEORGE TILDEN, Chairman Building Committee.

Letters Written to a Bride by Her Best Girl Friend

Dearest Annie: Do you remember James Whitcomb Riley's poem, "Out to Old Aunt Mary's"? Well, it may be possible for James Whitcomb to idealize such a visit for I always admired the poem so much. You remember how we used to recite "I've"? I am afraid I have had to change my ideas on the subject. I've promised so often that I just felt I must visit Aunt —, so, like the funny man in the circus, "Here I am." It isn't nearly so funny though, when you consider the inconvenience. Just think, all of the cooking is done on a "wood" stove and the ashes and dust, wew! Then they have no hot water system and you have to heat the water a "kettle" at a time, or submit to the inevitable and wash in cold—ice cold—water, ugh! It makes me shiver to think of it. I wish they had a gas company here. Your letters sound like messages from fairyland. It must be perfectly lovely, that dear little home of yours, with so many conveniences. Isn't John just the loveliest? Of course you think so anyway, and he is so considerate. It was beautiful in him to order those lovely Welebach lights and your waffle iron—wait until I visit you. I'll astonish you with the way I can "operate" a waffle iron, even if I am an old maid in your beddiment vision.

Oh Annie, I must tell you about our rabbit hunt. The snow was so inviting that Edith and I thought it would be such fun to go hunting. Well, we found a queer little track, three small imprints in the snow. And we followed it and followed it until—what do you think—we met little cousin Eddie with his flobert. He's such a comical genius, you know. We asked him to help us catch the rabbit, and the little rascal only grunted. "Hub, you girls don't know how to hunt. You're going the wrong way." So we went back to the house, "sadder but wiser. Oh, how I wished for that dear little gas grate of yours. Write soon, dearie, I'll be here another week at least. Lovingly, Nellie.

P. S.—Tell John to be careful of the Gas Company will win too much of your admiration with all of their conveniences.
