to include the hours from 8 p. m. to 6 a. m. Several other amendments were offered in the committee, but they were voted down.

Senator Thomas, in committee of the whole today offered an entirely new bill for S. F. 50, the compulsory education measure he introduced in the senate early in the session at the request of a number of Omaha people interested. The substitute bill retains the features of the original. The bill, as introduced, required the attendance of all children between 7 and 16 years for the full school year, unless in the case of children over 14 it was necessary they should work to support themselves or some one dependent upon them. The substitute bill retains in this feature as to Omaha, but in the rest of the state changes the ages 7 and 15 and requires them to attend two-thirds of the school year, or in any case not less than twelve weeks a year. The bill as changed was recommended for passage by the committee of the whole.

Liensmen Governor Votes. A fight on women suffrage enlivened the afternoon session of the senate, the women suffragists finally winning out. The deciding vote was cast by Lieutenant Governor Hopewell, the first time he has been called on to exercise his right to decide deadlocks. The fight came up on Aldrich's resolution memorializing congress to submit a woman's suffrage amendment to the national constitution to the several states. The resolution was not debated, but a motion by Aldrich to recommend the resolution for passage was voted down by the committee of the whole.

When the report of the committee was made to the senate Patrick moved it be concurred in as to the Aldrich resolution and demanded a roll call. The vote was as follows: Ayes—Aldrich, Burt, Clark, Gibson, King, Kinnear, McKeown, Metcalf, Sackett, Thomas, Wilson, Wilson—11. Noes—Hick, Johnson, King, Kinnear, Metcalf, Sackett, Thomas, Wilson, Wilson—11.

The measure is a companion bill to the King bill to repeal the present half-mile levy for the use of the public schools. At present in Nebraska there are 305 school districts which maintain less than three months' school; 68 districts which maintain from three to six months' school, almost 1,000 school districts which maintain less than seven months' school. Some of the districts would receive $30, some $50, some $80 and some $120 out of the appropriation, but each would then be able to hold seven months' school. It is estimated in these districts which will be assisted there are 12,000 school children; thus by the enactment of the bill into law 15,000 children would be permitted to attend school for seven months a year while other districts would be affected very little.
