BURLINGTON HAS BIG TASK

Hill Line and Other Roads Are Using Its Tracks During Flood.

BUSIEST RAILROAD IN THE COUNTRY

Reports to Union Pactile and Burlington Indicate Hope of Permanent Relief from the Platte Rampage.

The Burlington line between Omaha and Lincoln is about the busiest stretch of rail in the United States, for in addition to handling its own trains, the Burlington is undertaking to move the Union Pacific trains which would ordinarily go over the main line to Grand Island, the Rock Island trains, and the trains of the Missouri Pacific. The Missouri Pacific bridge is out at Louisville and the Rock Island bridge at Bouth Bend, and the water is still over the main line of the Union Pacific.

The Burlington reported its Schuyler and Columbus lines open Saturday night and the Fremont line from Ashland by Sunday

Union Pacific reports show the water is failing all along the Platte to Valley and officials expect all to have the main line open by this morning. The officials expected to have it clear last night. They figure the water is going down for good The Valley branch was opened Friday night at 7 o'clock, and officials on the line report the line was repaired and open as far as Fremont yesterday afternoon

Fremonters Go to Their Homes, FREMCAT, Neb., Feb. 16.-(Special.)-The sout, iders went back to their homes today and generally found everything as they left it but in a badly damaged condition from the water. The loss comes heaviest on those who can least afford it. The Union Pacific and Burlington bave several gangs of men working on their tracks and by Sunday the former road will have trains running as usual. The worst washouts on that road are west of the city. The water which came out of the river near Ames has spread out over a big tract of low country to the bluffs and flowed easterly down the channel of the Raw Hide and the low lands to the to come. north of it in too shallow a stream to do extensive damage. The damage to build ings and household goods in the city alone will probably reach $15,000, and it will be some time before the streets can be made passable south of the tracks. For two days over 100 women and children stayed at the city hall and were served meals by the women of the different churches and the Women's Relief corps. Markey's hall sheltered a delegation and the benches in the police court room made beds for men and they were delighted this morning when they were told it was safe to go back home. ORD, Neb., Feb. 16 .- (Special.)-The past few days of exceptionally warm weather has had its effect upon the loe in the North Loup river at this place and it is now going out rapidly. McCone, who met their tragic death in the flood on Tuesday, was held in the Mannerchor hall and was attended by a large concourse of citizens. The services were in charge of Rev. L. R. Dewolf, pastor of Ulmer of the Baptist church. The McCones were among the earliest settlers of Columbus and had lived coninuously just south of the Union Pacific tracks. In the flood of 1881 they were taken from their home in boats, the water being very high. During this flood, if the family had remained in the house, they would have been safe, for none of the water came into their home. In the family were Mr. McCone, aged 65; his wife, 53; their daughter Luciia, 19, and Miss Delia Ball, a sister of Mrs. McCone, aged 51. Beautiful flowers were spread on coffins by the Ladies' Aid society of the church, and relatives and other friends. The bodies were interred in the Columbia

> Gage County Bridge Matter. BEATRICE, Nob., Feb. 16 .- (Special.)-Bridge matters in Gage county are assuming new phases every now and then, and from all appearances the end is not yet. Yesterday S. A. Kinney, who resides near Wymore, by his attorney, A. D. McCandess, filed a petition for intervention in the district court, asking that the court take up and try the long-pending suit of S. D. Killen against John H. Sparks, the bridge ontractor. In 1906 Killen appealed from the allowance of the County Board of Supervisors of the claim of Mr. Sparks, mounting to about $12,000, and the case as never gone to trial. Sparks has also brought suit against the county in the fedral court at Omaha for the claim held up Mr. Kinney, as a taxpayer, prays that he may be allowed to intervene and become a joint appellant with 8. D. Killen, and that the case may be tried in Gage county without delay.
