KNUDSEN RUSHING MATTERS

Has Maps Showing Proposed Extensions of the Water Works.

OTHER COUNCILMEN NOT SO SANGUINE

Say Absolutely No Progress Has Been Made in Settling Controversy with the Water Works Company.

Although the special committee on water works, of which he is a member, has up to date practically not made the slightest progress in the negotiations between the city council and the management of the water works company, exhibiting maps and plans for an extension of the system, which include thirty-two blocks of main, Alj though not so definitely stated, it is understood that the councilman from the Fourth ward intends to submit his plans, etc., at the next meeting of the city council, in order that the extensions of the system in his bailiwick, as suggested by him, shall be taken into account in the further negotiations with the water works company.

When Councilman Younkerman learned that Mr. Knudsen was doing he said: "What's the use? I am not going to suggest any extensions for my part of the city. Let's first find out where we are at. I don't see any good suggesting or deciding on extensions or anything else in that way, until we know whether the city is going to give the water works company a new franchise."

"All this talk about extensions is the veriest bosh at this time," remarked another councilman yesterday when asked if he was going to follow Mr. Knudsen's lead and file a long list of desired extensions with the city council.

When asked what he knew about the proposed extensions, Manager Hart of the water works company smiled and said: "Our company is prepared to make all necessary extension and furnish water wherever the demand warrants the outlay, but it is plain to everyone that the company's hands are at present tied and can do nothing until the city comes to some arrangement with it. This delay in arriving at some settlement of the question is as vexatious to the water company as it is to the people of Council Bluffs."

INQUEST OVER ROY B. FELTON

Body Taken to Neola and Jury Taken to that Place. Coroner Treyner will hold an inquest this morning in his office over Roy B. Felton, cashier of the Underwood State bank, who received fatal injuries Tuesday afternoon in a collision between a Great Western freight train and a street car at the Great Western crossing on South Main street.

Through some misunderstanding or lack of interest in his former home in Neola, Ia., before Coroner Treyner had impelled a jury. The removal was made without Dr. Treyner's knowledge. As the law requires that the jury shall view the body of the deceased person over whom the inquest is held, it was necessary that the members of the jury go to Neola yesterday afternoon to perform this part of their duty. They were accompanied by Constable Baker.

Undertaker Wooding, to whose place Mr. Felton's body was taken Tuesday night after his death at the Jennie Edmundson hospital, stated yesterday that after he received the shipping certificate signed by the attending physician it did not occur to him that an inquest would be held and he sent the body to Neola in accordance with the funeral arrangements made by the family, without notifying or consulting the coroner.

Elmer E. Smith, C. J. Stilwell and C. A. Tibbits comprise the coroner's jury.

County Asked to Help.

The special committee consisting of Councilmen Maloney, Olson and Smith appointed at the meeting of the city council Monday night to confer with the members of the Board of Supervisors relative to securing assistance towards the paving of lower Broadway will be backed up by a delegation from the Commercial club which it appears before the county board tomorrow. A number of the leading members of the Commercial club have promised to appear with the committee before the supervisors and urge the placing at the disposal of the city for the work on Broadway a portion of the county road fund, or at least so much as is levied within the city limits. The portion of the county road fund levied within the city limits amounts to about $4000 and this added to the $4000 left over from the street fair and carnival of last year and now in the hands of the Commercial club would materially assist in defraying the cost of paving lower Broadway. It is believed that if the matter is properly represented to the county supervisors they will be willing to assist the city in this matter as far as they lawfully can.

Time on Ditch Work Extended.

The supervisors of Harrison and Pottawattamie counties held a short session yesterday as a joint drainage board to consider matters in connection with the Willow creek, Allen creek and Boyer cut-off ditches, now in course of construction. The time for the completion of the contracts of the Western Dredging company of Omaha and Pollard, Goff & Co. was extended for another thirty days with the understanding that another extension would be granted if found necessary.

County Attorney J. J. Healy of Pottawattamie county presented a claim of $42.50 for expenses and services in connection with litigation and other matters relating to the joint drainage ditches. The claim, which was conceded by the supervisors, will be exceedingly moderate, and allowed without question. The services for which Mr. Healy sought remuneration did not include attendance on the board meetings or for consultation with the board.

The joint session was adjourned to March 20.

Today the supervisors of Pottawattamie county will meet at a drainage board to take up matters in connection with the Pigeon creek drainage district and to open bids and award the contract for the lateral ditch to be known as the Little Pigeon creek ditch.

Friday the Pottawattamie county supervisors will meet in adjourned regular session at which time the matter of awarding contracts for the county printing, blank books and other supplies will be taken up.

SENATE FOR TWO-CENT FARE

Bill Favorably Reported Practically as it Came from House.

CHANGES IN THE DUTIES OF OFFICIALS

Bills Which Take Large Amount of Work from Auditor and Appoint it Among Treasurer and Others.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 20.—(Special Telegram.)—The senate railroad committee this evening reported for passage the two-cent fare bill as it came from the house, with an amendment making a rule for a maximum of ten cents.

If bills introduced in both houses today become law there will be no insurance department created at this session and the auditor will retain all the duties pertaining to insurance that he has heretofore exercised. The bills changing the banking department from the auditor's office to the treasurer's office, and the municipal accounts department from the auditor to the secretary of state, and the notary commission department from the secretary of state to the governor.

Temperance Question Again.

The temperance question may be threshed out in the senate today. Word reached the state house today that in every quarter of the state a movement has been started to work up petitions asking the legislature to submit to a vote of the people a resolution for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the liquor business. A resolution was introduced one time many years ago and the constitution was amended, but the supreme court declared it improperly submitted to the people and so it is now a dead letter. But few attempts have been made since to have the question again reconsidered. The latest attempt was made by the legislature, but it came from a veteran prohibition and temperance worker, and it is learned that the petitions being circulated are being timed so as to come as a deluge onto the legislature just as soon as the joint resolution is introduced. It has been just twenty years since the first vote in the state on the proposition.

To Help Railroad Commission.

Senator Maytag, chairman of the appropriations committee of the senate, introduced a bill making an appropriation for the State Railroad commission to enable it to conduct a thorough investigation into the question of freight rates in Iowa.

Chairman Ketchum and Mr. Eaton of the railroad commission appeared before the appropriations committee and laid before it the exact situation in regard to the matter. It is stated that with a proper appropriation the commission can and will make a thorough investigation of freight rates with a view to reduction in the rates.

Senator Dunham introduced the state marshal bill, which is favored by A. C. Rankin and the state marshal clubs has been organized. Some changes have been made in the bill from that of previous sessions. There will be five districts in the state, with a state marshal in each, appointed by the governor. Each district marshal shall have power to appoint, with the consent and approval of the governor, seven deputies. All shall be paid from the state funds as other state officers. The duties of these state marshals will be to attend to the enforcement of the liquor laws of the state.

Pass OMIH Freeracker Bill.

In the house this afternoon the OMIH freeracker bill passed and will be sent to the senate. The bill prohibits the sale or use of freerackers over five inches in length and three-fourths of an inch in diameter, and prohibits the use and sale of toy pistols and toy revolvers and dynamite caps or cartridges.

Decision for the Company.

Judge Smith McPherson in the federal court today decided that the Des Moines street railway has a right of way in the Turner franchise to use the streets of Des Moines for laying its tracks, but that the monopoly to the streets expired in 1888. The opinion holds that while the franchise is perpetual, the right cannot be arbitrarily extended to the streets with independent negotiations. The case will now be tried in the district court on the state case. The case in the federal court is on an injunction to restrain the city from tearing up the company's tracks. The case in the state courts will probably be heard soon.

DAN M'LEOD MEETS WINNER

Ready with Challenge to Wassem or Burns after Their Wrestle at Auditorium.

Dan McLeod stands ready with a challenge to the winner of the Burns-Wassem match at the Auditorium, February 23. Peter Loch has received a letter from McLeod at Ottumwa, Ia., in which he expresses his desire to take on Farmer Burns or Oscar Wassem after their bout on the mat here.

This insures another great match for Omaha fans, who are getting their share of treats. He and Burns have met, but Wassem has never tried him as yet. The Wassem-Burns match is anticipated with the keenest sort of interest because of the superiority of both men. They are two of the most skillful wrestlers of the day and they pursue much the same tactics, so that it ought to be a real tug-of-war. Their sizes are nearly even, too. Burns, of course, has been a favorite in Omaha for many years, while Wassem has made himself a popular idol within the last few weeks. Wassem is more eager to win this match than any he ever had and Burns is as anxious for him not to win.

An interesting preliminary to the Burns-Wassem match will be a wrestle between two of the farmer's boys, 11 and 13 years of age, respectively. The youngsters are born wrestlers and put up a very clever little game. They probably will be great drawing cards.

WITH THE BOWLERS.

The Gold Tops got all three games from the Armour last night on the Metropolitan alleys. Grotte of the Gold Tops had high single game with 237 and a total of 412. Timothy Foley, after an absence of three weeks on his wedding tour, came right back in the game and bowled one of his best games of the season, getting a total of 225. Dan Butler said if he were drawn he would split the 500 mark. He surely would have made 500. White, the one-armed wonder, got lost in the 500 mark. He was the captain of the Armour team that he certainly does try hard to urge his men to a victory and to win at them all the time. Slats Davis, while not getting in the 500 mark, is working hard all the time. Tonight, the El Casidillos vs. Collis.

Italian Excavator Thinks Italy Should Pay for Excavating Its Buried Cities.

ROME, Feb. 20.—Prof. Boni, who has charge of the excavations in the Roman and Trajan forums, and who has been requested to act as a member of the international committee to collect funds for the furtherance of the plans of Prof. Charles Waldstein of New York and Cambridge, Eng., for the excavation of Heracleum, informed the Associated Press today that in his letter to Prof. Waldstein, published in the Tribune yesterday, saying he would propose to give $10,000,000 from the surplus of the Italian budget for the excavations at Heracleum, instead of having him go begging to the dihonour of Italy, amidst the scorn of the Italian government and people against the interference of foreigners in the excavations, not only at Heracleum, but elsewhere, as well as against the collection of unnecessary money abroad for work for which the resources of Italy are sufficient. Prof. Boni particularly points to the case of Heracleum, where, he thinks, it is impossible to spend more than $5,000,000, if it is desired that the excavation be gradual and fruitful.

A hurried excavation, the professor adds, would be injurious, and he concludes with protesting against the collection of funds abroad for work for which the resources personal advertisement and not as spontaneous offerings made on account of admiration for antiquities.

RELIGIOUS PEACE EXPECTED

Contracts for Leases of Churches Will Be Prepared by French Officials.

De Beloeil, the prefect of the Seine and Monsiegnor Amette, coadjutor archbishop of Paris on the subject of the contracts for the lease of the church, were resumed today.

The newspapers unanimously recognize the completeness of Education Minister Briand's triumph, but some of the republican organs, while admitting the necessity of ending the religious controversy, are plainly discontented because it entails the government's church lease statute policy, negotiations between M. De Beloeil, the prefect of the Seine and Monsiegnor Amette, coadjutor archbishop of Paris on the subject of the contracts for the lease of the church, were resumed today.
