BOSTON, Feb. 22.—WOOL—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston, basing its report upon statistics gathered for the government, will say tomorrow: The volume of business transacted in wool during the last week has ranked with the heaviest of the year thus far and in addition there has been a great dtal doing in the way of taking up supplies on the old contracts. Good sized parvets of territory wools as well as considerable California and Gregon stock have been cleaned up at prices which show to advance above the livel prevailing heretofore. The receipts of the week have exceeded Geliverica a great deal, and riving from forting borts especially the United Kingdom. As they are meeting with ready sales, however, no uneasmess is fell. The Arizona clip is being marketed at the prices prevailing sarlier in the season. Good clips are fetching 2022 and the process prevailing sarlier in the season. Good clips are fetching 2022 and the process recent storms. As for the foreign markets, London is quiet and firm, but the primary markets in Australia and South America are closed so far as American interests are concerned. In territory wool, there has been a large cleaning up business. Clothing wools have been active, but has been confined to a few bouses. Good sized lines of Montana and Idaho fine and fine medium have been transferred at 2022 fac, to cost clean. Stylec. Oregon wool is slightly more active and for Texas wool there is a fair demand. For puiled wool the market is quiet. Business in South America is moderate at Edwist. Small loss of English pulled changed hands at 45g 55gc. The market for class III wool is featureless. As the length of the schedules increased the more northern cities in the major lengues began to send their teams on short trips south in search of warm weather. Others fell in line, and now every team in both leagues takes its men on long conditioning fourneys.

The present day training trip is a tremenduous expense to the club owners, and the club that pays half its expenses on a long trip by playing exhibition games along the route is considered as being remarkably fortunate. Once, some years ago, it is alleged that President Charles A Comiskey of the White Sox took his club on a training jaunt that almost paid expenses, but no similar incident has been recorded before or after.

Owner Comiskey is an advocate of the long training trip, and thinks that the farther south his toam goes the better it will be for it. President Charles W. Murphy of the Cubs is a strong advocate of the shorter trip.

One of the remarkable things about base

One of the remarkable things about base ball is the small amount of change there ball is the small amount of change there bas been in the distribution of fielding chances in the past fifteen years, says an northern paper. Glancing back over the official averages shows that the infield and outfield have handled relatively the same amount of chances per game, despite the fact that there have been some radical changes in that time. In other words, changes in the pitching distance, changes in the composition of the ball, and restrictions as to the wood allowed in bats leaves this feature of the game practically where it has been ever since the introduction of rules that can be called any way uniform has remained the same.

One of the peints brought out by a comparison, however, is the fact that the infield work has improved in its thoroughness, and that fewer chances get away from the infielders now than they did formerly. This may look like a parsdox in view of the fact that the number of chances per game remains the same, but it is plain when the figures are gone into further. Where the improvement shows is in handling amists, showing that the infield works closer these days and fewer ground bals get through than formerly. Hetter team work between the infielders and improved gloves are undoubtedly the explanation of this, says F. Marion Parker, in the Globe-Democrat. One of the remarkable things about base

The training trip is really a newcomer in the history of base ball. It is only within ten or fifteen years that clubs have gone far from their home town in search of climatic conditions to aid them in getting trapidly into the best possible condition for the opening of the pennant race.

The old St. Louis Browns, one of the best base ball teams that ever played, and nearly all of the big league teams of the eighties, were content to set it condition at home. The local gymnasiums, and in some cases mere hand ball courts, were all the training trips that the old-time stars ever had. Of course, back in the eighties ever had. Of course, back in the eighties are early as they do now, as the later failing to observe the time stars ever had. Of course, back in the eighties the championship races did not start as early as they do now, as the leagues began to send their teams on short trips south in search of warm weather. Others fell in line, and now every team in both leagues takes its men on long. GAMBLE HAS SIX MINUTES TO SPARE

Throws S. H. Gray Three Times Inside. of an Hour.

By the narrow margin of six minutes Shorty Gamble of Burlington, Ia., succeeded in throwing S. H. Gray of Omaha three times within an hour and won a side bet of Sice at the Ostoff Hall club last night. Gamble had wagered to secure three falls, and Gray made a game fight to stay out the hour. Gamble won the first fall by a sclasors hold in 18 minutes, and the second fall by a similar hold in a bout II minutes. Gray worked hard during the final bout and escaped from two scissors and a hammerlock hold, but succumbed in 35 minutes. Gamble weighed twenty-five pounds more than his opponent, who showed remarkable skill, while Gamble displayed great cleverness.

Before the wrestling match Tommy Lee and Joe Pospisli boxed six fast rounds. It was a rough-and-tumble match from start to finish and was declared a draw by Referee Pete Loch.

Oscar Wassem, who meets Farmer Burns in a match at the Auditorium February 37, refereed the wrestling match between Gamble and Gray.

A ten-round boxing contest between Ed Courtney and Teddy Williams is to be the attraction at Osthorf hall next Friday night. of an Hour.

Hawkeyes Win by Great Play at the Windup.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 2.—(Special Telegram.)—Nebraska lost to Iowa in a close and exciting basket ball game by a score of 32 to 29. Iowa played the best game it has played this year. It was anyboyd's game to the last minute. Nebraska was in the lead most of the time, but just before time was called Iowa threw three very difficult goals. The Nebraska boys showed the effect of their long trip, but played a better game tonight than last night. Buckher for Iowa played a fast game and threw some phenomenal goals. Nebraska defeated Iowa a short time ago on its own floor. Nebraska finishes a ten days' trip tomorrow night at Grinffell Lineup:
