

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Only Oats Displays Strength, Wheat Bears Under Bear Influence. EFFECT IS DEPRESSING ON COARSE CEREAL. Reports of Heavy Receipts at Minneapolis and Other Northwest Points Have Considerable Weight in Result.

OMAHA, March 1, 1907. The grain market broke sharply, strength being displayed in oats only, while wheat was subjected to strong bear pressure on reports of heavy receipts at Minneapolis and the northwest. Stocks of wheat at Minneapolis increased 50,000 bushels and were increased one point lower on opening of navigation on the great lakes. The market opened on May wheat at 71c and closed at 70c, a loss of only one cent from yesterday. Export sales of 50,000 bushels wheat, 100,000 bushels corn and 100,000 bushels oats were reported at seaboard. Shipments of 1,000,000 bushels wheat and 1,000,000 bushels corn were reported from Argentina, against wheat shipments of 1,000,000 bushels and corn 1,000,000 bushels last week.

Primary wheat receipts were 100,000 bushels and shipments of 1,000,000 bushels against receipts of 1,000,000 bushels and shipments of 1,000,000 bushels last week. The market opened on May wheat at 71c and closed at 70c, a loss of only one cent from yesterday. Export sales of 50,000 bushels wheat, 100,000 bushels corn and 100,000 bushels oats were reported at seaboard.

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO, March 1.—Increased receipts in the northwest caused general selling of wheat today which resulted in a decline of about one cent. The market opened down 1/2c. Corn was off 1/4c. Oats were unchanged, and provisions 1/4c to 1/2c lower.

The bears were in the ascendant throughout the entire session. Prospects are considered bright for a liberal movement of wheat from the northwest. The market opened on May wheat at 71c and closed at 70c, a loss of only one cent from yesterday. Export sales of 50,000 bushels wheat, 100,000 bushels corn and 100,000 bushels oats were reported at seaboard.

Small local receipts and unsettled weather retarded the market. The market opened on May wheat at 71c and closed at 70c, a loss of only one cent from yesterday. Export sales of 50,000 bushels wheat, 100,000 bushels corn and 100,000 bushels oats were reported at seaboard.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Incoherence of Market Still Further Emphasized by Its Erratic Movements. SHARP DECLINE IN THE HILL ISSUES. Reading, Harriman and Pennsylvania Also Down—Daily Comes Late in Season and Close is Irregular.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The incoherence of the stock market was emphasized by its erratic movements today. Since the week the abrupt reversals have come on succeeding days. Today's range was the widest since the expiration of the session. Several declines were shown at one time, but the market rallied and finally closed at a point higher than it had reached for some time.

The constant fluctuations of prices pointed to a professional effort for the day, and the character of the operations in the market to explain them kept alive suspicions of manipulative tactics in the market. The sharp decline in the hill issues, particularly in the Reading, Harriman and Pennsylvania, was a notable feature of the day's trading.
