He vetoed it, but it is understood he has decided to allow the bill to become a law without any action on his part. This bill do within five days, but he expects during the campaign, in which he bore the brunt of the fight, the governor went on record as being opposed to a flat 3-cent rate, at the same time saying he was in favor of this matter being left to the rail-

Bill May Be Recalled. The house will attempt to get back from the governor H. R. 116 by Quackenbush, the bill to increase the fees of court reporters. If the house doesn't get the bill back the governor will veto it. It has been discovered the bill increases the salaries of the reporters inasmuch as how- ever, as the legislature has so unanimously gone on record in favor of the flat 3-cent rate, the governor believes he should not veto the bill, but at the same time he does not want to endorse the measure.
