afternoon session to begin at 1.30. After a whole lot of wrangling the motion carried.

Address on Statehood Anniversary. The committee appointed to prepare an address commemorative of the fortieth anniversary of the admission of the state into the union reported today.

Year committee appointed to draft an address commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the admission of the state of Nebraska to the union, beg leave to report the following:

Forty years ago, on the first day of March, Nebraska became one of the states of the union. This period covers but the span of one life. It is worth while to pause today in our busy strife and to review the history of the state in which we live, and in which our actions are centered.

A half century ago Nebraska was a wild and what was called the great American West. Its broad and fertile prairies were then regarded as a barren waste.

The present capital was located in what was then known as the little hamlet of Lincoln, and was situated in honor of the martyred president.

History of State. The history of Nebraska has nothing unusual or romantic in it. The first white people probably discovered the territory were unconscious of the land of promise as were the forty-niners.

O'NEILL TIP IS STRAIGHT. Shively Practically Admits Western League is to Get Topeka.

Indications that Result Will Be a Six-Club Circuit in the Shively League During Present Year.

KANSAS CITY, March 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Although President D. M. Shively of the Western Base Ball association will admit that Topeka is to become the property of the Western league, the inference is drawn that his association is about to lose the best paying city in its territory.

After being shown a dispatch from Chicago stating that Topeka had been awarded to the Western league, Shively acknowledged that President O'Neill would shortly forward a check to cover the draft price of Topeka and that upon its receipt he would call a meeting of Western association magnates to determine what should be done in regard to the proposition.

Following Shively's assertion that under no circumstances would he allow Topeka to be drafted into faster company, today's statement looks as if the Western association president had undergone a change of opinion.

Since Saturday's conference at Buffalo, O'Neill has been quoted repeatedly as having been awarded Topeka. Shively, on the other hand, asserts that the matter is still open and that Topeka is not yet decided.

Shively's assertion that under no circumstances would he allow Topeka to be drafted into faster company, today's statement looks as if the Western association president had undergone a change of opinion.
