Outside Aid May Be Secured if People of Council Bluffs Show a Disposition to do Their Share.

What the meeting at the Commercial slub rooms last evening to boost the Men's Christian association campaign lacked in numbers was made up in enthusiasm. State Secretary Magee was unable to remain over for the meeting, but his place was ably taken by Secretary B. Wade of the Omaha association, who spoke words of encouragement and gave his endorsement of the plan which the local promoters had adopted for the canvess of funds. Mr. Wade said the committee had started out right and in his opinion would wind up right and with the desired money. He urged that the work so auspiciously commenced be kept going and that every officer of the association and person interested in the establishment of a Young Men's Christian association in Council Bluffs put their shoulders to the wheel and never cease pushing until their aim was accomplished.

Announcement was made the preliminary canvass on Monday and resterday had resulted in the soliciting committee securing $10,000. J. F. Wilcox, F. J. Day, president of the association, and Ernest E. Hart have put their names down for $1,000 each, while the John Beno company and W. A. Maurer each subscribed $500. The names of the donors of smaller amounts were not made public last night.

President Day announced that be had been informed by State Secretary Magee that if $30,000 to $40,000 was raised locally one or more big contributions could be obtained outside from persons who were willing to assist such movements provided the local people showed enough interest in the matter to do their share. President Day stated that the committee planned to secure ten $1,000 and twenty $500 subscriptions, the remainder of the money needed to be raised in smaller sums. It was decided to continue an active canvass for funds and for this purpose subes will be appointed.

Transfer Building. Wallace Benjamin, a real estate man, and G. Whitebook, a junk dealer, have become involved in litigation over the question of ownership of the brick in the ruins of the warehouse building of the Union Transfer company, which was destroyed by fire last December. Benjamin claims to have pur chased the brick from T. G. Turner, cashier of the First National bank and trustee for the property, while Whitebook claims ownership by reason of having purchased the brick from Daniel Carrigg, the owner of the building. Whitebook and his assistants were in the act of removing the brick when Wallace swooped down on them with a warrant from the court of Justice Greene, charging them with larceny. A. Dixon, Lewis, Simon and A. Whitabook were arrested and gave bonds in the sum of $160 for their appear-

Then Benjamin followed up the arrest of the four men by bringing suit in the district court to enjoin Whitebook and his assistants from removing any more of the brick. He also asked for judgment for $135 against Whitebook, alleging the latter had removed brick of the value of that amount which men in the employ of Benjamin had cleaned and stacked up. Whitebook came back with a cross petition and application for an injunction-restraining Benjamin from removing any of the brick. Temporary infunctions were granted on both sides, and tions it is alleged that young Ingram was so the matter stands.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, March 5 .- (Special.)-A novement looking toward an early adournment was started in the senate today by Senator Stookey, who introduced a resolution fixing Friday, March 29, as the day for final adjournment. This would make the session a full two weeks short of the usual length of sessions, which nearly always string out to thirteen weeks. The resolution went over under the rules and may be called up tomorrow. At any rate it is an indication that the date of final adjournment is soon to be fixed.

Regents' Bill Special Order. On motion of Senator Lambert the bill to establish one board of regents for the three educational institutions was made a special order for Thursday at 10:30.

The senate passed the bill to require the approval of the attorney general to articles of incorporation before they are filed with the secretary of state and a bill amending the law as to punishment for cruelty to animals and was in the midst of a warm discussion of the Jones bill, sent over from the house, fixing mininum rates for fraternal beneficiary insurance societies, as recommended by the insurance commission, when the senate ad-

Opens Temperance Question.

That the old temperance fight to prohibit the liquor traffic by constitutional amendnent is to be reopened, as forecasted in this correspondence some days ago, was evitenced by the Introduction of a petition today by Senator Dunham, signed by 2,200 persons, asking that the question of an mendment to the constitution be submitted to the people. It is understood that persons conspicuous in the fight of twenty five years ago, which ended in amending the constitution and the supreme court de claring the amendment unconstitutional are back of the movement now, with the addition of some new blood, and that they propose to make their demands for the aubmission of the question heard in the House Passes One Bill.

In the house today one bill, that by Jaul of Jones, relating to the acquisition of school sites, was passed, the bill from the senate cutting the commission of township clerks down from 5 per cent to 2 per cent was defeated, and the bill by Kelly of Polk, seeking to weed out graft by peace officers in large cities, was referred to the judiciary committee, where it is expected it will be killed. The bill by Paul seeks to provide for the demand for teaching agriculture in the schools by increasing the amount of land which school directors can acquire for school site purposes from one to four acres, and to provide that it can be used for agricultural experiment purposes in addition to use as school sites. Representative Kelly, for his bill, produced justice court dockets showing that police officers of Des Moines in addition to their salaries were drawing witness fees of 60 cents for each case and that as many as fifteen police officers were sworn as witnesses and testified even in the most trivial cases. The house seemed to take the view that this was already illegal and that no additional legislation was needed, so it went to the judiciary committee,

New Bills. Jones of Montgomery today introduced two new insurance bills, one limiting the amount of expenses of life insurance companies and the other regulating the use of proxies by insurance companies and prohibiting the soliciting of proxies by the officers or employes of the companies Hambleton secured consent to introduce and have placed on the calendar without reference his divorce bill prohibiting remarriage inside of a year, which was killed by the judiciary committee; Conn introduced a bill putting express, telegraph and telephone companies under the railroad commission, with power of the commission to fix rates and regulations. Kelly, a bill providing that fraternal insurance companies can spend not to exceed 10 per cen of their accumulations for erecting home offices. Sullivan, a bill requiring corpora tions to report to the secretary of state.

' Mulet Bill Goes to Senate.

At the afternoon session of the house the bill by Hanson requiring publication of notice of intent to circulate petitions of con sent under the mulct law was made safe The motion to reconsider was called up and by a strong vote the house refused to reconsider. The measure will now go over to the senate.

Uniform Insurance Policy.

The house this afternoon passed the uniform fire insurance policy bill, practically without change, though there was considerable opposition in the debate. Supreme Court Decisions.

The supreme court today decided three criminal cases that have attracted statewide interest, in each deciding with the state and against the defendant. One was the famous case against Dr. J. W. Crofford, who conducted a sanitarium at Lamoni and was twice convicted of performing a criminal operation resulting in the death of Maude Stone. The last attempt to secure Crofford's release was based on the failure to convict the young man guilty, which the court holds is not error. Another was the case of John Walker of this city, convicted of the murder of Isaac Finkelstein. and the third that of Thomas Hanly of Albia, convicted of having burgiar's tools in his possession.
