VERMILION GORGE BREAKS

River is Running Bank Full and Danger is Afloat Over.

TWO MEN ARE REPORTED MISSING
Old Soldier Seen Last in Second Story of House Which is Washed Away—Government Engineer Too Late.

VERMILION, S. D., March 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The mammoth Missouri river gorge, which has held for twenty-five days, is going out tonight. It evidently broke loose late this afternoon as the river tonight, for eleven miles west, is running bankfull.

Engineer Dewitte, failed to reach the gorge today. His services will probably not now be needed.

Fears are entertained that Daniel Doan, an old soldier who lives near the banks of the Missouri river in Norway township, has been drowned. When last seen he was in the second story of his house. Since then nothing has been heard of him and the house has been washed away.

Gus Cayce, a wood chopper of Norway township, is also missing. His family here is frantic. Cayce refused to leave with his family last Sunday. It is impossible to reach either the Doan or Cayce homes.

STORMS IN THE OHIO VALLEY

Heavy Rain Cause All Upper Tributaries to River to Rise Rapidly.

PITTSBURGH, March 13.—The Monongahela, Ohio and Allegheny rivers are rising rapidly tonight. A stage of twenty-six feet has been reached in this city and by tomorrow twenty-eight feet is anticipated. This stage is six feet over the danger mark and will inundate the lower portions of the city. Reports from up river points are alarming. A greater part of many towns in the Monongahela valley are submerged and many persons narrowly escaped with their lives. The property damage is heavy.

A bridge at Harmarville collapsed, precipitating a freight train into the water and drowning three trainmen.

CINCINNATI, March 13.—Heavy electrical and rainstorms throughout the Ohio valley did much damage last night. The Ohio river and tributaries are rising steadily, the lowlands being already covered with water. In this city before midnight an unprecedented rainstorm burst over the city, flooding the streets and for a time checking all traffic. Several landslides covered traction lines in the western section of the city and laborers worked all night to clear the tracks.

At Hamilton, Seventy Mile creek washed away the Pennsylvania track and a train was derailed near Collinsville and thirteen loaded cars were wrecked.

At Dayton the Miami river is at flood stage.

Reports from Zanesville, Springfield and Logan say that portions of those cities are flooded.

NEBRASKA FROM DAY TO DAY

Quiet and Calm Features of Life in a Rapidly Growing State.

Owners of peach orchards report fair prospect for fruit if warm weather stays after it comes.

The western Nebraska man who found a load of cigar tobacco when he opened a car supposed to contain anthracite will let the railroad smoke for its freight bill.

Omaha small boys who like dogs, but haven't the price of the tax, will look with longing toward Nebraska City, where the official dog catcher is a man 81 years old.

Superstition at Omaha—The superstitious are not all dead. An Omaha man who came to Norfolk carried a potato in his pocket. He is trying to drive away rheumatism.—Norfolk News.

Captain Ashby has filed petition for nomination as independent candidate for mayor of Beatrice. His recent expenses as candidate for district judge must have been more pleasant than profitable.

A Cuming county farmer is now raising from ninety to 100 bushels of corn to the acre on land a few years ago declared too wet for use. The liberal use of sand solved the drainage question without the intervention of ditches.

Auburn has a "woman in black" who is creating some excitement. The Granger says: "I. E. Alvord reports an encounter with the Auburn spook, who caught him and threw him onto Murr's ledge fence, but when Mr. A. reached for his feminine antagonist, behold, there was but vapor. Next!"

Dogs Kill a Lynx—Last Friday while Ora Paun Javel were out in the canyon about a half mile from Henry Harvey's house they rode onto a large lynx. Not knowing what it was, they set their dogs out on it. It was in a short space of time it measured five feet from tip to tip and is a fine specimen.—Gandy Pioneer.

Vandals at Blair—The foyer of the Blair opera house resembles the register on the pyramids of Egypt. Every brainless yap with an itch for scribbling seems to have helped to destroy the entrance by penciling his name on the walls. Some of these vandals will eventually wind up before Judge Reed if the practice does not cease.—Blair Pilot.

KILLED IN CORN SHELLER

Charles Kruger, Who Resided Near Kearney, Becomes Tangled in Machinery.

UNCONSCIOUS BEFORE COULD BE STOPPED
Lingers for Several Hours, but Dies From Internal Injuries Without Regaining Consciousness—Parents Are Notified.

KEARNEY, Neb., March 13.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles Kruger, who was operating a corn sheller yesterday on the farm of Frank Taubenheim, five miles northeast of Amherst, while working around the machine got his coat caught in the tumbling rod, and before the machinery could be stopped or assistance given he was whirled about the rod till he was rendered unconscious. When he was released it was apparent he had been severely injured. Dr. Hart was called from Amherst, and it was found he was bleeding internally from the injuries received. The accident happened about 11 o'clock and at 3 o'clock he died without having regained consciousness.

His parents, who live at Columbus, have been notified. Kruger was 27 years old and a single man and has lived in the neighborhood a number of years.

HERMIT'S ESTATE SOLD BY COURT

Life of William Hayward Will Remains Mystery at Cairo.

CAIRO, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—The sale by the administrator at public auction of the William Hayward place today closes up an incident that is still fresh in the minds of the people here. A little over a year ago Mr. Hayward, a hermit and odd character, was found partly sitting up in his rude bunk in the miserable hovel where he made his home. Hayward came to Cairo twenty-seven years ago and homesteaded the place which was sold today. The land is only a fairly good sample of the sand hill land which lies just south of the Loup river, and while not being the best of the kind, it makes a good living for the owner. During all this time Mr. Hayward had made no attempt at improvement. When the hut was searched at the time of his death all there was there in the shape of provisions was a handful of oatmeal and an egg.

Communication was established with a sister in Chicago, her address being found in a letter among his effects, and through them his family, from whom he had been estranged for years, was located in England. An administrator was appointed for the estate, and the place was today sold to satisfy the expenses incurred by the coroner's inquest and burial, as well as a judgment which was filed against the place some years ago.

This is closed up the business affairs of one who was long a resident of the community, and was always considered an odd character. Why he, a man who had been better days, and who for years had been urged by relatives well off in the world's goods to give up his lonely life and come to them in the city, should choose to live the hermit's life, and at last starve and freeze to death in his lonely hovel is a matter hard to understand.

This is the first time in eleven years the election tickets have been placed in the field. All look for a warm fight.

BLOOMFIELD, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—A citizens' caucus for the city election to be held in April is called for Monday evening for the purpose of placing in nomination a few names for village officers. A republican caucus will be held at the city hall.

TWO TO THREE INCHES OF SNOW
Abundant Crop of Spring Grains Now Being Harvested.

PREMONT, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—Two inches of snow fell here this morning, accompanied by some wind. It has warmed up this afternoon and the ground will soon be clear. The weather continues cloudy and the season is backward one.

SCHUYLER, Neb., March 13.—(Special Telegram.)—The damp and cloudy weather which has been prevailing here for the past two weeks was broken this morning by a heavy snow of about two inches. This is an assurance of an abundant crop of spring grain.

LYONS, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—A heavy snow has been falling in Lyons and vicinity since early this morning, and about three inches have been recorded.

LINWOOD, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—It began snowing here early this morning. About three inches has fallen. It is not drifting much, as the snow is damp, although a stiff north wind is blowing. Farmers say it is fine for winter wheat.

DOCTOR HELD UP BY THREE MEN

Ordered From Buggy and Robbed, Then Told to Drive Ahead.

LYONS, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—Early this morning, while Dr. A. T. Hill was on the road to attend the sick baby of Fred Frost, who lives about a mile north of Lyons, he was suddenly confronted by three men, one at the horse's head and two at the buggy. They commanded him to get out of the buggy and throw up his hands, which he did, and one of the highwaymen instituted a search through the doctor's clothing, while the other kept a revolver in his face. They secured $15 in currency, a watch and chain, which was returned upon the request of the doctor, and a hypodermic syringe which was taken from the medicine case. The doctor was then ordered to get in the buggy and not to look around and the horses were whipped up by the robbers and by the time the team was loosed there were no highwaymen in sight. The doctor says he can identify one of the robbers if seen again, but no other trace of them can be found, although the county officers have been notified.

HEMINGFORD—The Hemingford Creamery company has ceased to do business. A firm divided to the stockholders having been declared last week and the affairs of the corporation wound up. For a while Hemingford claimed the name of having the largest milk receiving station in the country, but the board of directors have practically put the milk receiving stations out of business in the last couple of years, and the country club at Hemingford decided to sell out and abandon the field.

BEAULIEU—County Attorney Terry is preparing papers to sue the county against W. W. Wright, ex-county treasurer, for the sum of $25,000, claimed to have been paid by him for clerk hire during the term of his office in excess of the amount allowed by law. County Attorney Terry contends that the county treasurer is authorized in allowing the clerks of the county treasurer over 100 per year in salaries and of the opinion that the amount asked for can be recovered from Mr. Wright.

NEBRASKA CITY—There is a very interesting case on trial in county court in which a number of the prominent farmers in the vicinity of Blair and Omaha and W. S. Holden is defendant. A son of Mr. Holden was proprietor of an elevator in that county, and he bought the entire crop of a number of farmers, some of which he stored in the elevator, some he delivered and some he supposed to have been shipped to St. Louis. This son disappeared and a number of unexplained claims, hence the suit. What became of young Holden is not known, as his father alleged had not asked to join in order to aid in the difference in the matter of the organization.

Evidence had been introduced by the coal men to show that soliciting had been done in spite of the provision in the constitution prohibiting personal solicitation. The county attorney pointed out that this soliciting had been done only by the big dealers of class A.

"After getting the little fellows bound hand and foot the big fellows went in together and did what they pleased," declared Mr. English. "The little fellows were fined when they tried to solicit."

Court Denies a Trust.
In giving the instructions, the court gave the jury the definition of a trust, a "combination of capital, skill or acts to fix prices on any article with the intent to prevent others from carrying on the same business."

The contention of the defense that James A. Sunderland was not a member of the exchange except through the firm of Sunderland Bros., of which he is president, was thrown out by the court, the instructions being that if it was found he did or participated in any unlawful acts as an officer of his company he was equally guilty as though he did them as an individual.

The constitution and bylaws of the exchange, if carried out, were in violation of the law, said the court. The requirement upon members to list their prices with the secretary of the exchange on the second and fourth Fridays of each month, the prohibition of personal solicitation for trade, the refusal to sell coal to dealers not members of the exchange, were all in violation of the law.

Three of the instructions asked by the defense were given by the court and on the whole attorneys for the defense were satisfied with the instructions.
