REPRIMAND FOR THE BOYS

Admit They Broke Open Northwestern Car and Took Fams Corn.

ALL CHILDREN OF REPUTABLE PARENTS

Admitted Another Offense Would Land Them in Reformatory School and Then Discharged by Judge Wheeler.

Judge Wheeler had before him yesterday morning in the juvenile division of the district court fourteen boys whose ages ranged from 10 to 14 years. The youngsters were charged in an information filed by Detectives Weir with breaking into a Northwestern freight car and stealing a quantity of corn. With one or two exceptions the boys were neatly dressed, clean and were shown to be regular attendants at school.
During the hearing, which lasted the entire morning, it developed that the lads had frequently been given permission by the yard men to sweep the floors of cars from which corn had been unloaded, and take home what they thus gathered. Thus they became familiar with the railroad yards and surroundings and it was not long until one of their number suggested an easier way of obtaining corn and in larger quantities. A car was broken into and it is said some of the lads carried the corn away in sacks, while one is alleged to have taken quite a quantity in a wagon.
Duvan Miles, one of the lads arraigned, was mainly enough to admit that he opened the door of the car and several others made no denial of the fact that they had helped themselves to the corn. Judge Wheeler impressed upon the youthful defendants the gravity of their offense and explained to them that had they passed the age of 16 years they could have been sent to the penitentiary for breaking into a freight car. As it was, he said, they were standing on the very threshold of the reformatory school and they could be sent there for what they had done. The Judge, however, taking into account the youth of the lads and their evident respectability, was inclined to be lenient, and after admonishing them as to their future behavior and what would happen if they were brought before him again, discharged them.
The boys brought into court were Edward and Francis Burns, Otto and Adolph Anshutz, Duvan and Eugene Miles, Burt Jacobson, Carl Schickelzang, George Ewan, Leo Roberts, Carl Frickey, Clarence Wright, Charles Ostrom and Vain Burke.

Foolishness

THE shoe manufacturer who sacrifices quality for profit is as shortsighted as the shoe buyer who sacrifices quality for price. The Crossett is an honest shoe. At the price you cannot get better style, fit, workmanship, materials and wear.
