

END NEAR IN THAW CASE

Attorney Jerome Thankful that Close of Trial is in Sight. ALLEGED AFFIDAVIT MAY BE HEARD Expectation is that Jury Will Get Case Friday, Although Time of Argument is Not Determined.

NEW YORK, March 15.—"Thank God, the end is in sight!" This was the fervent whisper of District Attorney Jerome at the Thaw trial yesterday.

Mr. Jerome did his best to get from Mr. Deimas an estimate on the length of time that would be required to complete the rebuttal, but Thaw's lawyer declined to give any suggestion on this line. It is generally believed, however, that Monday and Tuesday will see the close of evidence and Wednesday and Thursday will be used in summing up. There is every reason to believe the Friday will put the fate of Harry K. Thaw in the hands of the jury, unless some unexpected development occurs.

The alleged affidavit which Mr. Jerome fought so hard to get into the evidence will probably be read in court Monday. Lawyer Hummel testified early yesterday as to its entirety and through other witnesses Mr. Jerome established the fact that photographic and carbon copies of the affidavit were in existence. He then asked that the affidavit be read, but Lawyer Deimas for the defense objected, as time for adjournment had come. It is not thought that Mr. Deimas will object to its reading on Monday.

The affidavit purports to give Evelyn Nesbit's story of the wanderings of herself and Thaw on the continent, during which time, according to the paper, Thaw beat her several times in an effort to make her swear to a document charging White with having drugged and attacked her when she was a girl of 15. The affidavit also declares that Evelyn Nesbit submitted to the lashings, declaring that White had never wronged her, a sworn statement in direct contradiction to her story on the stand of what she told Thaw in Paris.

Henry C. McPike of counsel for Thaw made application at the supreme court today for several additional subpoenas in the Thaw case. He declined to make known the names of the witnesses wanted.

Mrs. Evelyn Thaw, Mrs. William Thaw and the countess of Yarmouth visited Harry Thaw in his cell today and remained with him for a long time. On leaving Mrs. Thaw said: "Harry is looking fine and feeling as good as he looks."

It was learned that Thaw was contented of the result of his trial and satisfied with its progress.

REMINISCENCES OF THE BAR

Judge Wakelley Talks Entertainingly of Early Days in Nebraska Courts.

Judge Elmer Wakelley gave an instructing and entertaining talk at the Creighton College of Law last night on the subject, "Reminiscences of the Nebraska Bar." He reviewed the judicial and legislative history of Nebraska's territorial days, and gave many interesting incidents that he encountered during his varied judicial career in the various courts of this territory. "The district contained an area of 5,000 square miles," he said. "We held court in school houses, churches and hotels. Once in the village of DeSoto I was called upon to dissolve an attachment against a dead man. He had landed it on the grounds that the deceased was a non-resident; but I had no jurisdiction.

"The old Third district as then bounded and defined has passed away. Its evolution illustrates in a striking way the marvelous development of the whole trans-missouri region within the half century past. It's belt of counties, organized and unorganized, along the Missouri river, with the fringe of scattered settlements back to the Elkhorn, have expanded into separate districts, with their busy courts, their increased population and their growing agricultural and business interests. This transformation has taken place within the active manhood of those still living—a phenomenon in civic and social progress impossible in the future of this hemisphere."

Opposition to Disarmament.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 16.—Germany and Austria are concentrating their efforts against Great Britain's proposition to include in the program for the approaching peace conference at The Hague, a discussion of the limitation of armaments. Following the audience with Count Berchtold, the Austrian ambassador, von Schoen, the German ambassador received by his majesty today and in a long audience made an energetic protest against the British position.

THIRD LOSS TO MRS. BASSETT

Judge Redick Refuses to Enjoin Husband from Getting Other Children.

THREE SUCCESSIVE DEFEATS FOR WOMAN First Losses Case for Divorce, Then Custody of Eldest Child and Now Motion for This Injunction.

"I refuse to prepare any such decree. They've got everything and they can prepare it." This was the statement hurled at the court by Attorney Irving F. Baxter, when Judge Redick had refused Saturday morning to issue an injunction against Charles C. Bassett, leading figure in the famous divorce case, preventing him from going to Denver and taking possession of his little daughter now in the care of Mrs. Bassett's sister.

The question of this injunction was left over from the main part of the case and the decree was not drawn up pending the settlement of this matter. Attorney John F. Stout appeared Saturday morning for Mrs. Bassett and Attorney Baxter for Mrs. Bassett. Attorney Baxter read other decisions showing that the court has the power to make an order of this nature, which will be binding on the parties even though they are not now in the state. Attorney Stout had no strenuous objections to offer, but insisted that if the injunction issued against Mr. Bassett, it should also pertain to Mrs. Bassett.

The court conceded that he had the power to make the order and that it would be binding on the parties to such an extent that if they disobeyed it they might be tried for contempt if they ever came within the state again. However, as no showing had been made why the parties were here why such an order should be issued, the court refused to issue it.

This is the third hard blow to Mrs. Bassett's cause as tried in this county. First, her petition for a divorce was dismissed on the ground that the decree secured by her husband in Washington was valid. Then she lost her eldest child, who was awarded to Mr. Bassett and now she is denied an order which might prevent Mr. Bassett from getting possession of the child in Denver or the one in Oklahoma.

MRS. CAREY PASSES AWAY Venerable Woman Rounds Out Forty Years Residence in This City.

Mrs. P. H. Carey died at the family residence, 623 South Eighteenth street, at 3 o'clock Saturday morning, aged 93 years, from an attack of pneumonia. She had been ill for a long time last fall, but was greatly improved and almost well when she sickened from pneumonia. Mrs. Carey is well known to the old settlers of Omaha and this part of the state as the wife of the proprietor of the Doran house on lower Farnam street and which was later moved to the present location on Eighteenth street. The old boarding house was very popular and did a large business. After the death of Mr. Doran, from whom the house was named, the widow married Mr. Carey, but the hotel name was retained. Mrs. Carey had lived in Omaha for about forty years. She is survived by her husband and two sons, Frank J. Carey and the Rev. W. T. Doran, S. J., of St. Mary's, Kan. The latter came to Omaha immediately upon learning of the serious illness of his mother.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning, with regular mass at St. Philomena's cathedral by Father Doran, assisted by Father McGovern and Father Stenson. Father McGovern will deliver the sermon. Interment will be at Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.
