been a week of liberal cattle runs, the total being about on a par with the previous week, but larger than a year ago.

At the beginning of the week prices were generally steady and cattle continued selling in the same notches as at the close of the week before until Wednesday. On that day prices, under the influence of large receipts and weaker markets at all selling points began easing off. By the close of the day the decline was very noticeable, and on Thursday there was a very considerable slump in values. Cows and helfers have followed along very much in the same way as steers. That is, the week opened about steady, prices continuing with little change until Wednesday afternoon, and Thursday, when there was a sharp slump amounting to 15570c. In some cases strictly choice helf-ers, or something that buyers just happened to want, may not have shown quite that much loss, but on the other hand some of the inferior and medium grades may have suffered more.

The supply of stockers and feeders has been quite liberal this week, while the country demand has been none too brisk. The lack of buying support from the country, together with the sharp break in heef cattle gave feeders a downward tendency. Some of the best heavy cattle and the best light grades held up fairtly well, but the market on the greater part of the cattle showed a decline for the week of 1950c.

HOGS-Hogs opened about steady, the early sales being largely at $6.15ec.13c, the same as yesterday morning. The market was generally active at prevailing prices and practically everything in sight changed hands in fair season.

Hogs have been steadily working to a lower basis all this week, and at the close are on an average 225c lower than one week ago and 8c lower than two weeks ago. In other words, hogs sold teday practically 70c lower than the first of the month. To make a still further comparison, hogs are now selling at the lowest point touched sheet the lowest in the country world after the lowest point touched sheet the lowest in the country was the first of the touched sheet the lowest in the country touched sheet the lowest in the country touched sheet the lowest in the country touched sheet the lowest to the lowest point touched sheet the lowest point touched the lowest point to the lowest point touched the lowest point to the lowest point to the lowest point to the lowest poin month. To make a still further comparison, hogs are now selling at the lowest point touched sines the last week in December. It is not at all difficult to understand the reasons for the present break in hog prices. Packars have been very bearish all winter claiming that there was no real reason for the prevailing high prices of hogs, but in spite of their opinions receipts at all market points were so light, while the demand for the product was so good that pricas advanced in spite of them. During the institute weeks there has been a very noticeable increase in the receipts and this has given packers the opportunity that they have been waiting for all winter and they have been at all backward about taking advantage of it. As a result they have been able to force prices downward at a rapid rate as noted above.

Still at the close of the week the market is generally 15975c lower, unless it might be on the very best grades, which are perhaps not that much off.

Next week will be the last of Lent, after which there ought to be a better demand and a good, firm market in consequence. The fact is sheepmen are feeling very hopeful as to the future of the market, and small occasional reactions are to be expected as a matter of course, everyone is looking forward to the maintenance of the season.

manifest in corn and oats, severe pressure being brought to bear upon oats, which closed much lower.

Denials and affirmations were received in equal number as to the crop damage from green bugs and hot winds in the southwest and the market was unsettled, but with a bearish feeling predominating. Large Australian wheat shipments were reported and had an unfavorable influence, and prices declined by, but the close was firmer, with a recovery of by. July options closed at the low point.

Corn was weak, as cables came much lower, the export demand being very poor. Receipts were large, but not as heavy as expected, and there was considerable pressure to sell. Options in May corn declined to slike asked, a loss of big for the day, and the general impression seems to be for a lower range of prices.

Scattered selling by commission houses caused a sharp reaction of be in oats and the market met with little support. The cash demand is slow and large receipts was the principal cause for the shump in prices.
