

Women's Neckwear
A Newly Arrived Lot for Easter.
Some of the prettiest creations of the season await the Saturday shoppers.

One More Day and then Easter

A DAY when every one wants to look their best. What a relief to shed the heavy winter garments and don the lighter and brighter things for spring.

The French Say that the short-fitted Jacket is going to be the boulevard favorite this Spring.

Wooltex

guarantee for fabric, fit and finish. We show them in all the new Spring fabrics, proved pure wool by acid test.

Jaunty Short-Fitted Coats

Dainty French Underwear

There is nothing daintier than this underwear—white, beautifully soft linen, muslin and Paris muslin, made into undergarments for women.

Redfern Whalebone Corsets

Be fitted to a Redfern Saturday morning before you buy the new gown. The beautiful fashions we see this season owe much of their effectiveness to the shaping of the corset.

Button Special Saturday

A good quality of fish-eye Pearl Buttons, regular 10c a dozen, special for Saturday, per dozen, 3c.

Ruffs for Easter

To take the place of furs laid aside. To give a dressy, finishing touch to the Easter Toilette.

New, 1907, Parasols

The new parasols are here, not a great quantity, but there is variety to suit every taste.

Great Special Sale of Manufacturers' Sample Shirts

For Men, Saturday Morning at 9 O'Clock.
150 dozen manufacturer's samples of Men's Shirts, consisting of all kinds of Negligee Shirts, mostly without collars, made of madras, printed or woven colors, also some flannel, some silk, some stiff bosom, some all white; in fact, every kind of Men's Shirts; mostly in sizes 15, 15 1/2, 16.

12-button Hosiery. With suede finish, a glove that sold regularly at 75c, colors gray and white only, Saturday, per pair, 25c.

Easter Handkerchiefs

A most complete stock of Easter Handkerchiefs, very suitable for gifts.

appropriately inscribed, and with a silver carrying set. To Mr. Barnard was presented a silver carrying set.

As the time draws near for the closing of this session and our thoughts pass in review upon the last three months we find the bitterness and heat of battle over many measures is fast abating, and a feeling of fellowship and friendship is coming to supplant all lesser emotions.

Moved by these impulses, this entire house, without regard to party affiliation, has sought to express to you, Mr. Speaker, and to you, Mr. Clerk, their personal appreciation of your services to us and to the state, by presenting to you these mementoes, merely as a symbol of their high regard for you as men and for your excellence in the performance of your duties.

To you, Mr. Clerk, no words can express the feeling of respect and personal regard that every man in this and preceding legislatures feels for your painstaking zeal in the careful performance of your onerous duties. Your ability to place each of us under obligations by your courteous and cheerful aid and assistance without in any way neglecting your duty to the state is rare indeed.

When you return to your home and "peaceful pursuits" may you often have cause to use our gift, if only to remind you of our regard, and may that realization cheer and strengthen you on your path through life.

To you, Mr. Speaker, we have brought two tokens of our personal regard. One is to appeal to your practical nature, and the other is a thing of beauty as well as of use. We fully realize that no money can buy or artisan devise anything that can express what this session must bring to the deepest thoughts and emotions of men cannot be expressed. You who have fought for decades for the reform we have accomplished need no suggestion from us as to what it means to you.

It does not need this body to sound its own praises, but when we realize that we have redeemed every pledge of a platform that was ambitious, if not visionary, and passed several more laws that in former days would have been considered worthy of platform prominence, one may at least express the hope that Shakespeare's lines may rightfully be paraphrased to read, "The good men do lives after them, and the evil is left interred with their bones."

We can only catch a faint idea of what you must feel at the close of this remarkable session, and as an expression of our sympathy and regard on this happy occasion we bring you our gifts. May they not only remind you, in years to come, of the record this house has made under your leadership, but more still of the personal esteem in which we hold you and the feeling of affection we will have for you as long as we live.

Both the speaker and the clerk were visibly affected by the presentation which was a complete surprise. With both of them it was a case of "after you." But Mr. Speaker solved the question by presenting Mr. Barnard. The chief clerk, who had read with such a steady voice, for years the numerous bills and measures which came before the house and whose clear voice has been the wonder of the state, talked differently today. His voice was all choked up. He said:

Words can hardly express my feelings. I have given all to you and have tried to do the best I know how, but I have made mistakes, as every man does. I hope you will remember that these mistakes have been of the head and not of the heart. It is fitting here that I should say a few words about legislatures I have known. When I look back over the history of the world is growing better all the time and that our legislatures are getting better. I have served in legislatures when the committee were concurred in. The salaries of stenographers to the supreme court commissioners were raised from $500, the figure named by the house, to $900, the present figure. An attempt was made to cut out the printing part of the state board of printing, but it failed. His salary was reduced from $1,500 to $1,000.

Corrick's Record Cleared. The senate this forenoon expunged from the records a resolution offered by Sibley of Lincoln county early in the session censuring Assistant Secretary F. P. Corrick. The trouble came about through the publication of some letters from some of Sibley's constituents protesting against a stringent anti-pass law. Senator Sibley offered the resolution apparently while angered at the publication of the letters. It was never pushed and has been allowed to lie dormant until today, when, by unanimous vote, a motion by Randall of Madison to expunge it from the records carried. Mr. Corrick has been one of the most efficient and popular members of the senate and it was the opinion of many of the senators that the Sibley resolution was due to a misunderstanding.

Star in a Flurry. The railroad headlight, known as the Lincoln Star, has been limbering the claims committee of the house because a motion was made in that body to cut in two the price charged by country and city newspapers for printing the proposed constitutional amendment notices. As a matter of fact the headlight is wrong, as usual. The claims committee of the house reported back the claims of the newspapers just as they were filed. It was one of Senators H. R. 335—By Clarke of Douglas. Providing for the removal of the hospital for the insane from the county at large.

ROUTINE PROCEEDINGS OF SENATE. Number of House Bills Put Through the Mill. (From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 29.—(Special.)—The senate today passed the following bills: H. R. 335—By Glover. Amending to the H. R. 331—By Sackett. Allowing fire and tornado insurance companies to do business outside the state on a year for six years, and increasing district judges' salaries to $3,000.

Very Important Announcement. We received the following telegram yesterday morning: Thompson, Belden & Co., Omaha, Neb. We hereby confirm our agreement making you sole agents in Omaha for the GENUINE TREFOUSSE Gloves.
