The recent mild weather has been the cause of activity among farmers, which has resulted in an impetus to many trades such as implement and hardware jobbers, although an oppoalte effect is noticed by traders in groceries on account of the farmers being too busy in the fields to go to town for buying supplies. The shortage in cars is again apparent in some faw lines after a brief interval of relief in this respect and complaint is made that receipts and ahipments are both subject to unreasonable delay. Collections have been uniformly good and will probably improve as the season advances. surprising feature of the trade has been in receipts of a large number of second orders for staple Aines, which condition has been caused by the open weather in all sections of the northwest. There is an active demand for seeding machinery and the sales of other machinery, as well as vehicles has been good. Dry goods have ruled strong, but no change in prices is reported, although ad-vances are expected in staple prints. Shoe Collections Better. Shoe jobbers report that collections have improved considerably during the last weck after a period of some depression prior to that time. The total is larger than that of last year for the same period and better conditions in this respect are anticipated after the beginning of the next discount period, April 1. Prices for all styles con-tinue to hold firm and sales have been vary heavy, especially in oxfords and white goods. There has been some difficulty ex-perienced in securing stocks and eastern minufacturers are uniformly behind on orders. Second orders are being received on some oxfords and white goods, but Brices held very firm, although the keen edge of the forward buying is off. Huriaps are higher. Linens are very high and scarce. The demand for sliks from first hands shows an increase. NEW YORK, March 10-MOLASSES-Quiet; New Orleans, good to choice, 270 48c. SUGAR-Holiday. Molasses, quiet; new syrup, 30634c. manufacturers are uniformly behind on orders. Second orders are being received on some oxfords and white goods, but the trade in rubber goods has been slow and little change is looked for in the latter trade unless wet weather prevails. The greater part of the spring business in rub-bers is over. A peculiar condition is re-ported with regard to the attitude toward tag leathers.

ported with regard to the attitude toward tan leathers. Retailers, who have laid in heavy sup-plies of tan shoes, profess that the trade in this line will be abnormal during the coming season, although the wholesale mer-chants in general take the opposite view. The jobbers of Omaha, who deal largely with country trade, report that tans ape in little demand, but it is deemed possible that wholesale merchants may have mis-judged market conditions in respect to tans and may be found later in an em-barrassing position if orders are received to any extent. active, buyers apparently wanting every-thing coming. Biockers and feeders have sold freely all the week at good, firm prices. What little weakness was developed last week has been fully made up and feeders are selling as high as any time. The teeling at the close of the week is that the markets of the country generally are in a position where they cannot very well stand large receipts without a weak-ening of values. Representative sales: BEEF STEERS.

Fresh Fruits Plentiful. Fresh fruits of all kinds are on the mar-ket in large quantities. Strawberries are pientiful, but are being received in poor condition and the choice qualities have been advanced in price. Fancy goods are much higher in price and oranges are be-coming scarce, owing to continued rains and foods in California and much delay in transportation. Lemons have advanced a and io cents per dozen and most vegetables are scarce and are seiling at higher prices, although potatoes are mightify cheaper. — California is pientiful and cheap and quantities of Cuban pineappies have been received. The supply of apples is decreasing, but the demand is unusually strong. The first Fiorida tomatoes were received in time for the Easter trade and the quality is good. Cuban potatoes and the quality is good. Cuban potatoes and the duality is good.
