PLANS OF SCIENTIST CHURCH

Specifications Are completed by Architect, Clarke for Fine Edifice.

COST WILL BE SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

Structure is to Be of Pressed Brick and Two Stories, According to Tradition of the Faith.

Plans are in preparation by Architect Frederick W. Clarke for a handsome church edifice, to cost about $60,000, for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, to be erected on the lot bought by the congregation last fall at the northeast corner of Twenty-fourth street and St. Mary's avenue. The plans will be exhibited by a stereopticon to members of the church next Wednesday evening at Chambers' academy and will be explained in detail by the architect. The lot on which the new church is to be erected has a frontage of 127 feet on Twenty-fourth street and 100 feet on St. Mary's avenue. Elaborate entrances will be provided on each street. The church will be composed of pressed brick, with trimmings of stone and terra cotta and will be on quiet, classic lines in the form of a Latin cross, with octagon corners at the resultant angles. Features of the building will be a great arched entrance portico and rich stained glass effects in the arched windows of the octagon corners. Surrounding the intersection of the main road will be a low dome and allows for the vaulted ceiling of the large auditorium. A large octagon opening, with a glass skylight, will be placed in the dome for lighting purposes. The general plan of the new church, following established traditions of Scientist churches, will be for two stories. An auditorium, with a seating capacity of over 300, is provided on the first floor, with surrounding foyers for cloak and ante-rooms, to which access is gained by tiled vestibules. Sunday school rooms are also planned on the ground floor, and a small balcony will be built on the second floor. The auditorium will be lighted from the dome and windows on three sides of the church, and the interior decorations will be pushed rapidly by Contractor John H. Hart. The concrete foundations for the east wall of the freight depot have been completed, brick is being delivered and masonry will begin work Tuesday on the brick superstructure. A large grading gang is excavating on the site for the office building and the west side of the freight depot. The construction is being done under the immediate supervision of Architect Frederick W. Clarke, who was appointed as supervisor by the firm of Chicago architects who planned the building.

Reinforced Concrete Mill. As soon as a suitable site with trackage facilities can be secured a new planing mill of two stories is to be built by the Johnson-McLean company, whose plant at Sixth and Jones streets was destroyed by fire last winter. Manager Weir is negotiating for a site, with several under consideration, and it is probable the new plant will be completed during the summer. When the old mill was gutted by fire last winter, in Council Bluffs was leased temporarily, but this will be abandoned as three choruses will be provided with rooms in the base, the three choruses being those of the men's, girls' and the Italians. The announcement of the retrenchment and the carrying out of that plan by the railroad is making itself noticeable in several lines of industrial activity. One of these is in the matter of ties. While the prices on ties have not gone down the tie producers are now sending out men to solicit business, looking for a market for their goods, which is different from two months ago, when they refused to take any orders for delivery. Manufacturing agents also are looking for new business more than two months ago, when everyone was rushed with order.

SONS OF BENJAMIN MEET. NEW YORK, April 14.--The seventh annual convention of the United States Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of the Sons of Benjamin opened today. Grand Opera on the Boom. Seat Sale for Court's at Auditorium Indicates Unprecedented Interest. The demand for seats for the engagement of the Central Metropolitan Opera company Monday morning when the seats were put on sale was unprecedented in the annals of grand opera in Omaha. The mall order business was something phenomenal, 200 seats being bought by Lincoln people alone. The stage is being cleared, the show boxes being removed and as much room will be given to the stage settings and dressing rooms as possible. Seven permanent dressing rooms already are constructed on the stage and ten additional ones of canvas will be built on the stage for the stars and leaders. The
