This Is Decidedly a Redfern Season

Redfern shapes of last season were so eminently fitted to the development of the Empire fashions that this season, with these modes in the height of their zenith, we find the Redfern Model the foremost shape for these fascinating modes.

Redfern Corsets are boned with reliable Arctic whalebone. The clasps are the reliable rustproof steel, and the hose supporters are the "Security."

We have special fitters who will thoughtfully corset you, concealing the defects of your form as only the eye of an expert can.

All corsets fitted in cosy fitting rooms. Second floor.

World was better yesterday than the day before, better today than it was yesterday, and, with the Lord's blessing, will be better tomorrow.

There is no government that is not influenced by public opinion. If governments are to be made to appreciate thoroughly the advantages of peace then the peoples of the earth must be taught to appreciate its blessings.

Your duty as the citizen who knows the difference between national honor and national lust, between true courage and swinish cunning, is to convince the world that man has a higher, nobler mission than to be forever at his brother's throat, that war should be resorted to only as a last desperate remedy for injustice.

President Roosevelt's letter, read before the congress, was as follows:

My Dear Mr. Carnegie: I much regret my inability to be present with you. Mr. Root will speak to you at length and no man in the country is better qualified to address you on the subject you have so much at heart.

In this letter you can do little more than wish you and your association Godspeed in your efforts. My sympathy with the purpose you have in view is as real and as deep as that of any man who has the honor of the nation's honor shall not be by insisting on the impossibility of doing what when the possible can be accomplished.

Caution About Disarmament. The peoples of the world have advanced unequally along the road toward justice and fair dealing, but the road stretches far ahead even of the most advanced.

Call for Same Action. These warnings that I have uttered do not mean that I believe that we can do nothing to advance the cause of international peace.

Relation With South America. Mr. Root's trip through South America marked the knitting together in the bonds of self-respecting friendship of all the peoples of the Western Hemisphere.

Progress Is Expected. Our representatives will go to the second peace conference at The Hague, instructed to help in every practicable way to bring some steps nearer completion of the work which the first conference began.

One Inspector Testified That He Collected $2,700 and Another $2,000—Money Is Paid to C. H. Roach.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Chicago's police department contributed thousands of dollars to the democratic campaign fund in the recent majority campaign and has contributed in a like manner to whichever party was in power as long as the order of the day was to support the party.

Among the officers who offered this testimony to the commission were Inspectors Revere and Kelly, Captain McWeeny and Lieutenant Jenkins.

Andrew Carnegie, president of the conference, said in his opening address: We believe the psychological moment approaches when a decided step forward can be made.

Let us hope this plan will be submitted to the powers that be and that the world will know that America stands for peace through a league of powers.

Large Amount Collected. After Captain McWeeny's testimony, Inspectors Revere, Kelly and Wheeler were sent for. Revere and Kelly responded at once, but Wheeler could not be found.

On hearing from the commission that Jenkins and McWeeny had told complete stories of the situation, Revere said that in all he collected about $2,700 from the officers and men under him.

Both inspectors had no lists had been made of the names of the officers who contributed to the fund.
