AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Decision of Supreme Court Interests Saloon Keepers Ten Dollars Worth.

ONE MORE FEE FOR PUBLICATION TO PAY

Report Current that Issue of Fifty Thousand Dollars Worth of Additional Sewer Bonds is to Be Enjoined.

In the case of John M. Tanner, editor of a paper in South Omaha, against Gus Ferguson, regarding the publication of the notice of application for liquor license, appealed from Douglas county, the supreme court reversed the decision of the lower court and held "That in cities of the first class containing more than 25,000 and less than 40,000 inhabitants the notice must be published in the paper provided by section 132, as well as in the paper having the greatest circulation in the county. This gives effect to both acts, and there being no repugnancy between them, we think that both should be enforced."

The building committee will report at a special meeting of the board next Monday evening. It is thought that some definite action will be taken at this meeting that will decide upon the building policy for the association.

The students of the high school took the tri-semester examinations yesterday. Miss Katie Tobler leaves today for Sioux City for a visit of a week with friends.

The city officials expected to be served with another injunction yesterday forbidding the issuance of the $10,000 sewer bonds, but the ordinance for which is now under way before the council. Charles Cummins is authority for the statement that the order was sued out before one of the judges of the district court yesterday morning. He did not say who was the applicant, but it is known that it was. It appears that there is an old charter provision which declares that bonds for sewer purposes may not be issued above $40,000 without submitting the proposition to a vote of the people.

session of the organization. The women of the society were much interested in the work which Mrs. Towl represents and the good coming from the juvenile court, especially in the matter of truancy and the sending of the maintenance of good order in the public schools.

The program for the men's 4 o'clock Sunday meeting will be a varied one, consisting of chorus songs, solo and recitations. The quartet will render several numbers. There will be the usual scripture lesson and quiz. The meeting will be interesting, yet uneventful in its nature. All men are invited.

LETTERS FROM BEE READERS

April of Fifty Years Ago Affirmed One Real Cerberus Snow Storm.

RECOLLECTION OF AN OLD-TIMER IS CLEAR

Jonathan Edwards Tells of His Experience and that of Others in Sary County in April, 1807.

Contributions on timely topics are invited from readers of the Bee. Communications should be written legibly on one side of the paper only and accompanied by the name and address of the writer. The name will not be used if the writer asks that it be withheld. Unused communications will not be returned. Correspondents are advised to limit their letters to 300 words or they will be subject to being cut down at the discretion of the editor. Publication of views of correspondents must not be considered a contract with the Bee to their endorsement.

More Early Day Weather

OMAHA, April 19.—To the Editor of the Bee: An article in the Bee of yesterday about the weather of the old times sets me to thinking. I remember that on April 17 or 18, 1807, a great snowstorm arose and at the little village of Forest City, in the west end of Sary county, a party of men who knew that two women were alone in their little cabins on the Platte bottom, as they had had not yet returned, decided that those women must have assistance. James Forbes, a brother of George W. Forbes, now of this city, volunteered to go to their aid.

He started on horseback and the storm was so violent that man and horse both became bewildered and lost, and were not found until the next day, both badly frozen, and, I remember right, the horse had to be killed, and I know that Forbes was so badly frozen that all of his toes had to be amputated.

The same day Thomas Tumblin was walking from Bellevue to Forest City. The storm came on when he was miles from any house, and knowing that he could not reach cover and that he must keep moving or he would freeze, he began walking in a circle to make a path to walk in, and he managed to strike all night and until the storm broke and escaped anything more serious than great exhaustion.

I do not deny that that is a natural thing to do, but if it is done you destroy the evidence of rabies. Do not forget this fact. You may be bitten a great many times and have no bad results following the healing of the wound, because by no means are all dogs rabid that bite.

To find out whether the animal that has bitten anyone has rabies, capture it and secure it in a safe place under lock and key for forty-eight hours, feeding and watering it, of course. At the end of this enforced confinement if the dog appears rational, there would be absolutely no occasion to send the person bitten to the Pasteur Institute for treatment. On the other hand, should the animal show morose symptoms, bloodshot eyes, snapping and biting at any moving object, go to the institute without delay if that dog's teeth have penetrated any part of your anatomy. Many people are unnecessarily frightened and get excited readily over imaginary ills, while others readily go to the opposite extreme and ignore danger when it is present. The efficacy of the Pasteur treatment is indisputable, as before it use 80 per cent of persons bitten on head and face died, while out of over 7,000 treated only 3 per cent died.

"Interior" and Ship Subsidy. NIOBARA, Neb., April 18.—To the Editor of the Bee: Since President Roosevelt has made Congressman Pollard his spokesman in the "central west" for the ship subsidy measure—an honor, certainly, second only to Secretary Taft—is fitting that the central west—the "interior," if you please—should really have a voice in the matter. President Roosevelt holds up to the "interior" his splendid example in pointing to the great relief he has made to the west by retaining the government domain by means of colossal irrigating plants. The far east did not approve of it, the president says, until he made it plain to them. In other words, he is going to collect from the "interior" its support for a measure that will take the protected goods which New England and Pennsylvania manufacture to South American ports free, or nominally so, at government expense. I do not think the "interior" owes this debt in this way to President Roosevelt. We of the "interior" are agriculturists and stock raisers. The South American are in the same branches, with coffee and other tropical products thrown in.

When President Roosevelt or Congressman Pollard proposes to explain the great benefits that the farmers of the "interior" are to receive with the ship subsidy in full force, let them be fair to acknowledge that the American people are directly paying millions to the manufacturers in the east to enable them to subsidize their own ships as against those of European countries which are practically based on low tariffs in their home manufactures. I am a protectionist, understand, from the bottom up, but I am a protectionist only as we were taught to protect infant industries. It is strange that these infant industries never get beyond swaddling clothes. It is strange that the "interior," which has for years and years supported the great railroads in their unfitness, has been taxed by the implement manufacturers to an extent of robbery, and pays big prices for everything it wants, should now be appealed to to help them give away their products while the "interior" continues to grub on under the burden of a "robber tariff."

informed the police of Newark, N. J., that a conspiracy was on foot among the ministers at Hazelton, Pa., to assassinate President Roosevelt. The officials state that investigation clearly established the fact that the story told by Bartula had no foundation, and that his mind had become unbalanced by the death of his wife several weeks ago.

HARTMANN CONCERT A DELIGHT

Young Violinist Proves All That He Has Been Heralded To Be. Concerto D Minor No. 4.....Vieuxtemps

Hartmann is all that the critics have said of him. Other violinists possess particular points of merit; he seems to combine all the fine qualities; he is a great artist in every sense of the word. His technique is impeccable; his tone strong, rich and resonant. Temperamentally he is magnetic and virile. His playing arouses an audience to a very keen pitch of interest. The first number on the program was the Vieuxtemps Concerto D Minor No. 4, given in its entirety. It only needed a few bars to assure his listeners that Hartmann had not been overpraised, and that a rare evening of delight was in store. The Concerto was played in masterly style. At the end Hartmann was obliged to come back. He played a very beautiful and beautiful "Melodie" by Ole Bull.

Then came the great Bach Chaconne, for violin alone. The wonderful interpretation which Hartmann gives it has won him much of his fame. He manages to put a thrill of sentiment into the Chaconne, takes from it its dryness. The richness of his tone and the ease with which he surmounts all the intricacies of its construction mark him as a master. In parts the effect was almost orchestral, as if several people were playing. All the way through the true values were kept. The whole number was conveyed with a crystal clarity. In response to repeated calls Hartmann gave a charming "Heroicus," with snappy strings.

DOCTORS FOR MEN

The Reliable Specialists CAUSES OF SUCCESS OR FAILURE

The difference between success and failure in life is due in nine out of every ten cases to lack of physical manhood. Four growth, your strength, your ability, your intellectual or business capacity, your skill as a workman, all these depend upon the quality of your physical manhood. It is a power and a blessing that should endure with a man as long as life itself, and whenever it is impaired or suspended through ignorance, neglect or dissipation, nature will assert herself and the other bodily and mental functions suffer.
