Iowa News Notes. ONAWA—Gard and Company's butter and egg packing house at Onawa took 125,000 eggs Tuesday, and on Wednesday packed 100,000. The packing house employs twelve men and is operated by a woman. It is a large and modern building and is situated on a high bluff overlooking the river. The material is largely quartz, heavily mineralized with arsenical pyrite in connection with the gold. Large dykes of quartz, some of them containing gold, are in the vicinity, while porphyry is known to exist a short distance to the north. No other veins of this character have ever been discovered in the district, and this may lead to the examination of ledges of a similar appearance, which have heretofore been considered barren and consequently overlooked, and to the discovery of large and valuable vein bodies. The ore body on the Crown Lode is so situated that at least 50,000 tons can be readily mined by an open cut like a stone quarry, before any shaft or tunnel would be needed. Castle creek, flowing at least 1,000 feet from the Crown Lode, contains gold. The ledge 150 feet deep on the ledge. The fortunate locator of this valuable deposit is James D. McNickle of Rochford, S. D., an old time printer, who is certainly to be congratulated upon the discovery made, which has every indication of proving of inestimable value, not only to the Horneblende district, but to the entire Southern Hills.

ATLANTIC—Ray Cornell, a young man who resides in Atlantic, was arrested by a parent of one of his pupils for assault. It is alleged that the mother of the girl in the mouth while she was climbing out of a window; that he had prohibited her from going to school. The affair has divided the district into factions and is causing much excitement.

ATLANTIC—Batting heroically to save his 6-year-old sister from the flames, Roy Moon, 2 years of age, stood by as his little sister fled to the window and the boy manfully went to the rescue. With his bare hands he beat out the fire, burned and while he will live, his wounds are painful.

ATLANTIC—A singular accident is reported at the home of William Mathas, a few miles east of Sidney. James Mathas, an 8-year-old son, in his play was riding a horse which he had taken from the stable. The frightened animal kicked at the hog and struck the boy, fracturing his skull. Dr. McLaughlin, who was called in, was called in and reports that the boy's chances of recovery are very remote. The little boy has just returned from his mother's funeral.

ATLANTIC—Judging from a petition or from the fact that the boy will forever go to the state school, it is probable that the boy will be committed to the state school. The article sets forth that they are a family of the name of the boy, who is a male sex who uses tobacco in any form, gamble or even play cards for fun, drink intoxicating liquors, create and indulge in any form of questionable amusement. In fact it is getting many signers, and the boys are looking to the movement with anxious eye.

ATLANTIC—Dr. H. B. Crawford has been arrested in Des Moines and taken to the Missouri river. He was charged with the name of C. E. Gill came here early in January and started a drug store, run by the firm of Gill and another man. The firm was later broken up and the store was closed. He has entered a plea of not guilty.

JONES APPEALS TO COURT

Seeks Temporary Restraining Order Against Fire and Police Commission.

HEARING ON THE CASE NEXT SATURDAY

Alleges He is the Legal Chief of Fire Department and Further that Nicholson, Board's Appointee, is Ineligible.

As had been anticipated, the controversy over the appointment by the newly created Fire and Police commission of Charles M. Nicholson as chief of the fire department over the head of R. W. Jones, the present head of the department, has reached the courts.

The hearing on the application for a temporary injunction restraining the members of the Fire and Police commission and Charles M. Nicholson from in any way interfering with the said plaintiff in the discharge of his duties as chief of the fire department, was held in the district court yesterday.

The hearing on the application for a temporary injunction was set for Saturday, April 27, by Judge Wheeler. This order, it is taken, will act as an estoppel to the city council approving, even if it desired to do so, the bond of Nicholson, which has already been filed with the city clerk.

In the petition filed yesterday by counsel for the plaintiff, it is stated that the facts of his election by the city council to the position of chief of the fire department at the regular meeting in April, 1905, "from date or until his successor is elected and qualified," it is alleged that the Fire and Police commission acted without authority in appointing Nicholson as chief of the fire department while the plaintiff was the duly qualified and acting chief of the department.

The petition further recites that at the time of the making of the appointment Charles Nicholson was not a member of the fire department, nor had he been submitted to any examination as required by law, nor had the examination of the said Nicholson been held by the said Board of Fire and Police commissioners, and that at the time of the making of such appointment, Charles Nicholson was not eligible to appointment as chief of the fire department.

The petition also recites that Nicholson has filed a bond in the sum of $2,000, and that the same will be submitted to the city council at its meeting next Monday night, for approval, and that in the event said bond is approved, it is the intention of the Fire and Police commission to demand that the plaintiff surrender to Charles Nicholson all of the property and control of the fire department.

State Senator C. G. Saunders, who has been retained by counsel for Fire Chief Jones and who helped to pass the law under which the Fire and Police commission of this city is supposed to be acting, contends that Jones is not only chief of the fire department, but that the members of the commission have laid themselves liable to prosecution for violation of the law. He said "Every member of the commission is liable to prosecution for violation of the law, and a fine of $100 or thirty days in jail. The law requires that they name the chief of the fire department from the department itself, but they have seen fit to appoint a man from the outside. They have also violated their own rule fixing the age limit for admission to the fire department at 40 years of age."

Mr. Saunders also has serious doubts if the commission was legally appointed as the law provides that two of its members shall be named, "as far as practicable," from the dominant party at the preceding municipal election. The republican party dominated the last city election, but Mayor Maerz deemed it fit to appoint two democrats on the commission, while there were several hundred republicans ready and willing to serve.

Arguments in the long drawn-out suit of Ernest Stegeman against the Council Bluffs Savings and the Crawford County State banks were concluded before Judge Wheeler in district court yesterday.
